The number of Republican farmers who are writing to this paper about the legislature is very creditable to their intelligence. They want to get into a paper that the people read.

The commissioner of horticulture of the state of Washington has ordered the destruction of 50,000 apple trees by being burned root and branch. The trees had been shipped from a New York nursery, and were infected with blight and diseased with root gall and tent caterpillar.

The best sign of progress in public intelligence is that labor unions are objecting to mistreatment of horses, mules and other working animals. It is but natural that having exerted themselves for fair treatment for human beings, they should object to cruelty to animals. Here is an incident from Washington, Indiana:

"The mule strike ended today at the Montgomery mines, the strikers having won their point. They quit work yesterday, demanding that the company give better treatment to the mules employed by it for draught purposes. These animals were neither fed nor cared for properly, and the men declared they would not resume work until these conditions had been bettered. This morning members of the corporation entered a written agreement that they would feed and water the mules regularly, and give them the best of care. After witnessing the signatures to the document the strikers went back to work. The mules have won their strike, which was carried

The new dynamo was recently purchased in Seattle by Superintendent Flannagan, who made a trip to that city for the purpose.

AN EASY WAY

To Keep Well.
It is easy to keep well if we would only observe each day a few simple rules of health.

The all important thing is to keep the stomach right, and so do this it is not necessary to diet or to follow a set bill of fare. Such pampering simply makes a ravenous appetite, and a feeling that certain favorite articles of food must be avoided.

Prof. Wischold gives pretty good advice on this subject. He says: "I am 64 years old, and have never had a serious illness, and at the same time my life has been largely an indoor one, but I early discovered that the way to keep healthy was to keep a healthy stomach, not by eating bread crackers or dieting of any sort on the contrary I have always eat what my appetite craves, but daily for the past eight years I have made a practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal, and I attribute my robust health for a man of my age to the regular daily use of Stuart's Tablets."

My physician first advised me to use them because he said they were perfectly harmless and were not a secret patent medicine, but contained only the natural digestives, pepsin and diastase, and after using them a few weeks I have never ceased to thank him for his advice.
I honestly believe the habit of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals is the real health habit, because their use brings health to the sick and cures, and preserves health to the well and strong.

Men and women past 50 years of age need a safe digestive after meals to insure a perfect digestion and to ward off disease, and the safest, best known and most widely used is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are found in every well regulated household from Maine to California and in Great Britain and Australia are rapidly pushing their way into popular favor.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages at 50 cents, and for a weak stomach a 50-cent package will often do $50 worth of good. 11-17-19-21

PROPOSED GRAFT OF $500,000

The Way a Republican Farmer Talks

Thinks $200,000 Would Have Been Sufficient

Ed. Journal: Until lately the people of the country looked upon the demand for an appropriation of $500,000 for the Lewis and Clark exposition as a gigantic joke. They didn't for a moment believe that the directors of that concern had the unshakable gall to make such a request of this state, with its sparse population, and already high rate of taxation. But the time goes on, it becomes plain that the promoters of the exposition are not only in earnest, but are determined to have it by fair means or foul. No one for a moment ever thought that more than $200,000 would be asked for this very questionable enterprise. But, as the Portland papers are unanimous in demanding a half million dollars, and one little country sheet after another, which at first ridiculed the idea, seems to be falling into line, the people begin to realize the subtle influences that are at work to secure this gigantic graft. Just why the papers are falling into line so rapidly is a matter of easy conjecture. The argument which impels them to do so is a most powerful one, but it is one that Portland always relies upon to carry out her pet schemes and questionable projects. It does not require very much bait to catch small suckers.

Now, the question begins to assume a serious aspect, and farmers and taxpayers generally are commencing to ask themselves if they are going to allow the state treasury to be robbed to gratify a few Portland sharks. They have already laid the taxation they can stand, and they are coming to the conclusion that they will not allow themselves to be fleeced of a half million dollars for an enterprise which can do the state but little good, and possibly may do it great harm. The directors of the intended exposition may as well understand from the first that the taxpayers of the country will not for a moment tolerate such a huge imposition. Mr. Corbett says that the whole matter may as well be dropped unless the legislature appropriate $500,000 towards the fair. If that be the case, he had better drop the business at once for the people when they get the chance will bury the proposition a thousand feet deep. They will bury it as the old lady would bury the devil, face downward, so that when the old fellow began to scratch, the more he scratched the deeper he got.

It is high time that the people were beginning to move in this matter. Public meetings should be called and our representatives instructed as to our wishes. There is little time to be lost. It is better that this proposition be defeated than that it pass and afterwards be submitted to a referendum vote. A special election will cost a great deal of money and this can be saved by defeating the bill when it comes up for consideration.

I also fear that when this subject comes before the legislature it will result in much log-rolling by which the state will be the sufferer. Mr. Fulton will demand support from Portland for his votes in favor of the appropriation. It is said that Union county will demand an agricultural college with a big appropriation for its support of the fair bill. Our normal schools and colleges, and other public institutions will be demanding large appropriations for their support of the half-million dollar graft, and so it will be. The state will be plucked in every direction and for every cause, and the poor taxpayer will have to foot the bill in every instance. And the chances are that even if the appropriation is made and the fair goes on, it will come out in debt, as the Buffalo exposition did, and the state will be called on again to make good the deficiency. If our representatives are only true to the interests of their constituents they will vote this extravagant proposition down the moment it shows its head.

There are many other phases of this question I have not touched up, but they will form subjects for discussion in future letters. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the stand you have taken on this proposition!

MARION COUNTY

The Journal is willing to print letters setting forth the views of persons who do not agree with it. The Journal has not advocated a $500,000 appropriation for the fair, and has not advocated any appropriation at all. It seems to a man up a tree, observing the procession as it passes by, that two male lobbyists and one young woman lobbyist will cap the Legislature into almost any kind of an appropriation, so whatever is carried on by the push, and backed by the lobby, will go through, whether farmer likes it or not.

It is a general way there are two sides to these things. For twenty years Oregon has been obscured by some great influences. The Northern Pacific railroad, with its terminus on the Sound, has filled Washington with people, until that state has 50 per cent more people and twice the wealth of Oregon. The Pacific railroads on the south have done the same for California.

The third black eye for Oregon has been its one-city, one-newspaper handicap, and an Associated Press service that has literally obliterated Oregon from the newspapers of the East. In no large city can you pick up a daily paper and read anything from Portland, sent out by the Associated Press. This is because the newspaper monopoly at Portland and the Associated Press are in the hands of a mountebank telegraph operator who is not a newspaper man at all. The Washington cities have columns sent every day about that state to all the Eastern papers. Now, with a new tide of immigration coming West, with the newspaper monopoly broken at Portland, and the opportunity to hold a world's fair, Oregon had a chance to get before the eyes of the whole world.

But there is little danger of any great things being done for Oregon now. The people of Portland who ought to be interested are not fully alive to their opportunity. Instead of launching their fair three months ago, making the plans and sending their committees to labor in other states to get their cooperation, the time has been allowed to pass, and it will be simply impossible to get effective cooperation in other states in time to get their legislatures to make an appropriation. After a legislature is in session is no time to go and try to interest them in a fair for another state. They have troubles of their own. If the Governor would call a special session the 10th of December, and provide for the fair, and the managers had their picked committees ready to go to the other Northwestern states, the thing might still be put in practical form. It is an historical opportunity to do something for Oregon. Let this opportunity pass, and we have no doubt the money will be appropriated. The motions will be gone through with. The money will be absorbed by the push. Old Oregon will again hold the sack, and the snipe-chasing politicians will fill the newspapers with their chatter, $200,000 or $500,000 wisely expended on the Lewis and Clark Exposition would be a good investment for Oregon, and the people will feel like President Mellen, of the O. R. & N., that the way things have gone, the fair will be like a Fourth of July, with the fireworks left out.

And Psychic Palmist.

Has arrived in the city and can be consulted on all affairs of life. The Hindoo Wonder is too well known in this country to need much introduction, but the benefit of the few who may not have heard of him he will say that he is a graduate of the occult colleges of India and France, and has been a great success in the past 15 years, the past year in Spokane, Wash., he has given the very best satisfaction to all.

Professor Delmar guarantees to tell you what you came for or charge nothing. This is fair, is it not? He will tell you what you came for with asking a single question; no matter what your troubles are, he will guide you out of them with success on your side; he will give you names, dates, facts and localities in a way that will astonish the most skeptical. It may be of vital interest to you to know the outcome of your present distress. The happiness of your future life may depend upon the right solution, and professional advice. The Hindoo Wonder makes no mistakes. All his predictions are true, and may be relied upon. You may wish to know if it is advisable to make a change in business, in love or in marriage. Shall I succeed in a new undertaking? Can I trust my friends? Have I enemies? When shall I marry? How often shall I marry? Shall I ever be divorced? Does another share the love that rightfully belongs to me? If so, who? Am I loved in return? Have I a rival in my love? Whom shall I marry? How many children will I have? When will my domestic troubles end? How can I make my life and home happy? When will my absent friend return? Why do I not receive a letter? Should I invest my money? In what should I invest? My disease curable? Shall I win my law suit? Delmar tells you all the things and a great many more. He settles lovers' quarrels, reunites those parted, and shows how to overcome all difficulties.

He is ever ready to assist those with small capital to find a quick sure paying investment. If you wish to make a sure paying investment in Delmar. Hundreds have been made independent for life through his advice and counsel. He can do the same for you.

No matter what your past experience with clairvoyants has been, and see this wonderfully gifted medium, it will cost you nothing unless you are perfectly satisfied with what he tells you. Delmar should not be charged with the many so-called mediums and cheap pretenses; he is far superior anyone you have ever seen, and a call at his office will convince the most skeptical that Prof. Delmar is far above the average medium in every way. "Your booklet came to my home like a message of health when I had suffered with headache, backache and bearing-down pains. I was weak, nervous and hysterical and had not consulted any doctor, thinking it would pass away in time, but instead I found that the pains increased and were more frequent. I decided to try Wine of Cardui and in a short time was much improved. It seemed to act like a charm. I kept up the treatment and the result was most satisfactory. Words fail to express my gratitude for the suffering that is now saved me. I am in fine health, physically and mentally. I can only say 'thank you', but there is much more in my heart for you."

nervous tension. The nerves soon begin to give way under the strain. You perhaps jump at any unusual disturbance, or laugh or weep, hysterically, at no apparent cause. That is what Miss Fay Lee, 608 1/2 North Seventh Street, Kansas City, Kansas, was coming to when she rescued herself by taking Wine of Cardui. The Wine made her a strong, healthy woman again, as it has made a million women strong and healthy. By inducing regular menstruation the entire system is relieved of the terrible wasting draine. The ligaments which hold the womb in place are strengthened by a healthy flow and that organ is returned to its normal position. Returning health is the result. This is what Wine of Cardui has done for thousands of the best women in America.

If you need advice write The Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn., describing all your symptoms freely, and a letter of advice will be sent you. Secure a 41.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist to-day.
