A Ring Upon Her Finger and Joy Within Her Heart

Have you no loved one—mother, wife, sweetheart or little daughter—who would be happier over a handsome ring than any other Christmas gift you could buy her. Ponder it well. A ring is a perpetual remembrance of the giver—a perpetual joy to the recipient. Nothing in all the realm of good gifts would be more loved and cherished. We have multitudes for you to choose from: Plain gold rings; rich engraved rings; rings of delicate settings with diamonds as the centerpiece; or amethysts, rubies, emeralds, pearls, moonstones, almandines topaz or whatever her taste fancies. In all this town there is no ring collection from which a lady could pick so pleasant a choice. And even at Christmas tide, it is no harm to remind you that on rings, as on all else, Barr's jewelry store is still "the leader in low prices."

THANKS GIVING PARTIES

And Big Dinners Were the Rule

Salem Indian Training School Had a Program

Thanksgiving day at Salem was generally observed in a quiet and respectful manner. Union services were held in the First Presbyterian church in the morning, when Rev. C. A. Rabing delivered an especially appropriate sermon. The Christian Scientists and the congregation of St. Paul's Episcopal church also conducted services in harmony with the season. The banks, business houses and public institutions generally were closed.

On Wednesday evening the members of Protection lodge, No. 2, A. O. U. W., gave a delightful dancing party in Tioga hall. There was a good attendance. The dancing floor was in its usual splendid form, and, with the excellent music by Ristine's orchestra, an evening of much pleasure was the result.

On Thanksgiving night the Modern Woodmen of America entertained their friends at a dancing party given in the Holman building. A jolly crowd was in attendance, and through the efforts of the committee, coupled with the good music of Ristine's orchestra, an enjoyable evening was provided. The success of the party should be placed to the credit of the general committee, which consisted of J. W. Willson, F. F. Toews, F. A. Baker and S. L. Howard.

Colonel J. Olmstead, owner of the Salem Steam Laundry, was the host at a pleasant function on Thanksgiving day, when the entire force of operatives in the laundry assembled at the Elite Cafe for a sumptuous repast with their employer. The occasion was a most enjoyable one.

Salem Indian School Program

The Thanksgiving program at Chemawa opened with a band concert at 8:30, followed by appropriate exercises in the chapel and the discussion of 500 pounds of turkey in the beautifully decorated dining room, where an elaborate Thanksgiving menu was served. There was a football game between the Indians and the reform school, winning by a score of 25 to 5. In the evening there was a basketball

HOLIDAY GOODS

There are all sorts of things in holiday goods offered on this market—some of them good, some worthless, and some simply indifferent. We carry the good sort only—rather a broad statement you will say, but the proof of the pudding is in the eating. The best things from the various markets of the world are gathered under our roof, and properly displayed for your inspection, and will be shown you by our capable salespeople. An invitation is extended to you to visit contest at the school gym, and concluded with a social and dance. The exercises were in charge of Asst. Supt. Campbell and Chief Clerk Woodin. Supt. Potter is still in the East, and will return in about two weeks.

High School Social.
The High School will give their first social at the East school on Saturday evening. An excellent program, games and refreshments will be the order of the evening. The governor, state superintendent and school director will be present. The proceeds are to be used in the interest of athletics.

Football.
Corvallis High School vs. Salem High School. The Corvallis team is coming to play a game with our High School tomorrow. The teams are evenly matched, and will put up the most interesting game of the season. The score at Corvallis last Saturday stood 6 to 6, so both teams will play to win. An interesting game is promised.

Special Dance Tonight.
Invitations are out for the regular special social dance by the attendants at the asylum tonight. The usual good time is expected.
