

ACCESSORIES OF DRESS.

Sashes and Flower Ornaments—Fancy Sleeves of Net and Tulle.
 Net skirts are extensively flounced at the edge, but three godet frills forming an entire skirt are fashionable and are of the three tier type, each frill bordered with wide lace or with medallions or vandykes. Lace flounces are extremely fashionable, but the majority are straight at the top, and the godet flouncing of lace is shown in imitation of handsome lace.
 The sash is again with us and is usually of six to eight inch ribbon either of chime or broche design and delicate colorings. The ends fall quite to the ground, and the loops are carelessly knotted over the back. Some sashes have windmill bows, one-half standing up and kept quite flat over the gown. The bouquet de corsage is in the form of a big chou or the market bunch style is affected for small compact blossoms. The trail over the shoulder appears to have quite disappeared.

 The fur boa shown is of baum marten and is shaped according to the latest models. JUDIC CHOLLET.

TAILOR STYLE.

Russian Blouse Costumes Are Very Popular For Young People.
 The Russian blouse costume is decidedly popular with the young and slender, and there are many charming novelties in make and finish. The newest Russian blouses have hoodlike collars with trimmings around the shoulders or are collarless and trimmed flat, and this fashion admits of charming little chemisettes which have a very smart effect when the fur boa or stole is removed. The furs set much better over the flat plain blouse.

 The tightly draped collars are often made to turn up at the edge, a method which accentuates the effect of a hood. Now that light colored gowns are worn during the winter, borderings of dark fur are in request, and brown skunk is a very handsome fur and smart on mastic and anti-go coats, while it is also used on opera coats of light satin cloth.
 Dotted white point d'esprit is the material of this simple but effective evening gown, which is trimmed with bows of black velvet. JUDIC CHOLLET.

CHANGES IN FASHION.

Ways in Which a Last Year's Gown Can Be Altered.
 There is a marked change in the fashion of skirts as well as in that of bodices. It has been threatened for some time past, but the authorities are keeping to graceful, becoming lines, and only occasionally do we see the very wide skirt, and a little fullness to the skirt is a decided improvement; but women, particularly the stout ones, should beware of many folds and shirings around the hips. Some of the prettiest models of the hour, however, though more trimmed, have the skirts fairly long and rather plain to the knees.
 Of course it is difficult to alter a last year's skirt, though it is quite possible to make a success of it. The excessive plainness can be taken off by a shaped basque of velvet. Whenever it is possible lift the skirt up at the back so as to gain more fullness and insert a little stiffening. In evening dress this can be obviated by the addition of two long soft sash ends, always an effective mode.

 The dinner gown shown is of crepe de chine and alencon lace. The bretelle sash is of pink satin edged with sable. JUDIC CHOLLET.

CLOTH AND FUR STYLES.

Cloth Coats Trimmed With Strappings—Fur Models.
 Cloth much trimmed with flat braidings, grouped stitchings or strapplings of the material is quite the fashion for coats, and some models have an addition of fur. Furriers are showing less of the bushy type of furs, and ermine is again modish, but is used chiefly as a garniture for dark furs.

in chinchilla and moleskin are more artistic when combined with cloth of similar tones and relieved by slight touches of color.
 The fur coat is mostly becoming in sack form to wear over a tightly fitted skirt, but the petite woman is better suited by a bolero with a well fitted back and shaped belt.
 The taffeta stole shown in the cut is composed of a double frill over the shoulders trimmed with lines of open fagoting done between bandings of narrow ribbon. The hat is of moire with a band of silk around the brim to match the stole, which band is ornamented with ovals of silk braid. JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHAT WOMEN WEAR.

Three Cornered Hats—Picture Millinery.
 The three cornered hat is again in vogue. It comes well down on the hair at the back of the head and is elevated by a bandeau in front, taking a peculiarly beautiful line when the hat is equally well understood by both the designer and the wearer. Some very smart examples of this are in green and in black beaver.
 Fashion decrees that the tailor made hat shall match the gown with which it is worn, but there is still a great liking for black and with best gowns particularly picture hats can be very pretty and smart when all black.

 The fashion of wearing headgear is also undergoing a change, and the trend seems to be to wear the hat much more on the face, so that it shows a great deal of the hair. The desired effect is gained by means of a high headband; other wise the hats are flat, and the most chic are those with very little trimming. These hats with little in the way of decoration must be perfect in curve, with bold outlines. In fact, many of them are copies of the hats seen in Romney and Gainsborough paintings.
 The cut shows a smart hat of black panne, with a lining of tuckered chiffon. It is trimmed with a ruche of satin ribbon and a long, drooping ostrich plume. JUDIC CHOLLET.

DAINTY TOUCHES.

Little Things Which Transform a Gown.
 There is a pretty notion in Paris just now to take away the slight appearance of the collar by little clusters of velvet ribbon on each side toward the front.
 It is easier to remodel an old costume this season than ever before. For instance, an old sleeve may be made quite modish by cutting it at the elbow and putting in a puff of silk or lace.
 The wide collars so universally becoming are a little out of date, but practically the same effect can be gained by strapplings of velvet across the shoulders and a wide effect in trimming. High collars are the regulation thing, and only a few collarless models are seen, principally for evening wear.

FRENCH HOUSE GOWN.

 The dainty house gown is of yellow net tucked and banded with ecru insertion. The fichu is edged with a wide ruffle of meehlin lace. The sleeves may be elbow length or have the two puffs shown with the ruffle at the wrist. JUDIC CHOLLET.

AT FIRST GLANCE

It Would Appear That Local Remedies Would Be Best for Cure of Catarrh.

It would seem at first glance that catarrh being a disease of the mucous membrane, that saives, sprays, etc., being applied directly to the membranes of the nose and throat, would be the most rational treatment but this has been proven not to be true.
 The mucous membrane is made and repaired from the blood and catarrh is a blood disease and any remedy to make a permanent cure must act on the blood, and when the blood is purified from catarrhal poison, the secretions from the mucous membrane will be come natural and healthy.
 In this climate, thousands of people seem scarcely ever free from some form of catarrh; it gets better at times but each winter becomes gradually deeper seated and after a time the sufferer resigns himself to it as a necessary evil.
 Catarrh cures are almost as numerous as catarrh sufferers, but are nearly all so inconvenient and ineffective as to render their use a nuisance nearly as annoying as catarrh itself; any one who has used douches, sprays and powders will bear witness to their inconvenience and failure to really cure.
 There are a number of excellent internal remedies for catarrh, but probably the best and certainly the safest is a new remedy, composed of Red Gum, Blood Root and similar anti-catarrh specifics.
 This remedy is in tablet form, pleasant to the taste and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and anyone suffering from catarrh may use these tablets with absolute assurance that they contain no cocaine, opiate nor any poisonous mineral whatever.
 A leading druggist in Albany speaking of catarrh cures says: "I have sold various catarrh cures for years, but have never sold any which gave such general satisfaction as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. They contain in a pleasant concentrated form all the best and latest catarrh remedies, and catarrh sufferers, who have used douches, sprays and saives, have been astonished at the quick relief and permanent results obtained after a weeks use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets." All druggists sell full sized packages for fifty cents. 11-25-27-29

 Mrs. Madeleine Lucette Ryley has signed a contract to write a play each year for J. E. Dodson and Miss Annie Irish.
 Louis F. Nethersole writes from Marienbad, Austria, that he is touring the continent with his wife, Sadie Martinot.
 Frank Worthing, Julia Marlowe's leading man, is from Edinburgh, a graduate from the celebrated university there.
 Miss Beatrice Simpson, known on the stage as Beatrice Irwin, is engaged to marry the Earl of Roslyn, who is known on the boards as James Erskine.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

Don't crowd fruit trees. Give room for air and sunshine.
 A dead limb is a source of disease. It also shows lack of vitality in the tree.
 As an orchard cannot be kept constantly under the plow, it is best to grow clover in it.
 Onions will not stand dampness, but will endure slight freezing if not handled when frozen.
 Stimulating the grape by animal manures makes it grow until late in the fall, and the wood does not ripen well.
 In taking up trees from the nursery see that the roots are taken up a foot long to hold them firmly without staking.
 If the pear trees bear spotted or cracked fruit, a liberal dressing of wood ashes is a good remedy. Scatter them around the trunk as far out as the branches extend and wash the trunk with soap-suds.

CYNICISMS.

The love beyond the grave that you read about seldom survives the second year's crop of weeds.
 About the only time some men regard their wives of any use in the world is when they can put property in their names.
 On the way back from the cemetery after a woman's funeral some one in every carriage says, "I wonder if he will ever marry again," and all the rest look shocked, though the same thought had been in their minds.—Atchison Globe.
