USE OF FALSE TEETH.

Two Millions Manufactured Annually in the United States. Probably not less than 2,000,000 artificial teeth are manufactured in this country each year, and still the output goes on increasing. Never before was such great care manifested for teeth as has been exhibited during the past five years. In this respect Americans lead the world, not even the fastidious French, exceeding the people of the United States in their solicitude for the preservation of natural teeth and in their application of the arts of dental science when substitutes have to be provided for nature's molars. Englishmen are notoriously careless about their teeth, although in late years great progress has been made in this matter. A prominent dentist of New York declares that nearly every patient with a mouthful of decayed teeth is a foreigner. "They let things drift," he says, "and come only when pain drives them here. Americans, and especially southerners, hasten to their dentist immediately they detect even the slightest signs of coming trouble, and the result is that there are by far more 'saved' teeth in this country than in any other. Englishmen and Irishmen are remarkably apathetic about their molars and will go about for years with hopelessly decayed teeth."—New York Times.

Gluck in a Frenzy. When Gluck composed his immortal works, a bottle of champagne was always placed on either side of the piano, and its effervescence helped to inspire the great artist of "Iphigenia," "Armida" and "Alceste." When the final rehearsals were held of the "Iphigenia," Gluck had not yet written the melody to the "Dance of the Scythians." Navarre, the ballet master, becoming uneasy over the delay, went to him one morning to urge him to hurry it up. As he entered the composer's anteroom he heard unusual and terrible noises emanating from Gluck's library. He approached stealthily and through a crack in the door saw Gluck in shirt sleeves, his face as red as fire and distorted by horrible grimaces, singing gesticulating and jumping about like a madman. Navarre, frightened by the extraordinary spectacle, pushed the door open. "Ah, there you are," exclaimed Gluck. "I am just finishing your dance and will let you have it right away." It was then that Gluck had composed that grand orgy of the savages which created such a profound sensation on the stage.

Blind Men as Shampooers. "I do pity these blind men so," said a stranger in the city who had been approached by so many "blind" men in walking down the avenue that he wondered how these beggars picked him out so readily. "And yet," said his host, "there are many lines of work which they could do instead of begging. For example, most of the shampooers in Japan are blind men. Some are so well to do that they own their own houses, and their patrons go to them for treatment. Others who have not succeeded so well go from house to house, and the rest of the people from sympathy guide them from place to place. Some of them walk alone, blowing on bamboo whistles. There was a time when some of them were doctors as well as shampooers."—New York Tribune.

SHORT STORIES. The average longevity in the United States was 35.2 in 1900. The corsets used in the United States every year cost about $50,000,000. Ohio courts have sustained the right of the city of Columbus to charge its citizens for water by the meter system. The total length of brick paved streets in this country in February, 1902, was estimated at about 1,300 miles. A natural soap mine has recently been opened up at Ashcroft, B. C. The material, in which the active principle is borax, is being taken out by the ton. The average hay crop of the year is placed by the department of agriculture at 145 tons per acre. Oregon shows up with the largest crop and Pennsylvania with the smallest. The loftiest steamboat route in the world is doubtless that just opened between Puno and Chilaya, Peru, on Lake Titicaca, 13,000 feet high, or twice the altitude of Mount Washington.

OREGON DETECTIVES SUIT
