CARNEGIE'S FIRST JOB.

James D. Reld, the veteran telegrapher, who had the distinction of giving Andrew Carnegie his first job as a memenger boy, is still living. In Now all is won and Time undone-Success Mr. Reid recalls the incident And we shall float toward the sun which occurred 50 years ago, in the And know that all that we have won Atlantie & Ohio Telegraph office, in Pittsburg, as follows:

"He was so determined that I be came interested in him at once. He seemed to have determination writ ten on his face. His eagerness to different ways-sometimes by cheery able. Before he had been with me a phy. When I consented he spent all his spare time in practice, transmitting and receiving by sound, and not by tape. He was the third operator in the United States to read the Morse

This, in Mr. Carnegie's mind was his best move. After long and suc cessful years, Mr. Carnegle wrote of

"My entrance into the telegraph of fice was a transition from darkness to light, from flying a small engine in a dirty cellar, to a clean office wher there were books and papers. That was paradise to me, and I bless the stars that sent me to be a messenger in a telegraph office."

PASSING AWAY.

The Spirit of Winter.

The Spirit of Winter is with us making its presence known in many sometimes by driving winds and blinding storms. To many people it seems to take a delight in making bad thiffgs worse, for rheumatism twists harder, twinges sharper, catarrh becomes more annoying, and the many symp toms of acrofula are developed and aggrevated. There is not much poetry in this, but there is truth, and it is a these aliments. The medicine that cures them-Hood's Sarsaparilla - in easily obtained and there is abundant proof that its cures are radical and
