AN ECONOMICAL LUXURY.

Is a good, wholesome, delicious beverage, like Salem beer. It's a luxury to taste—not to the pocketbook, for its price is extremely moderate, its excellence considered. The care as to quality of ingredients, care in making of this beer warrant a much higher price than others per case of a dozen bottles; yet that's the price of our beer.

CAPITAL CITY BREWERY AND ICE WORKS, Mrs. M. Beck, Proprietor

A Big Kick

A man makes when his laundry is sent home with porcupine quills and spread eagle button holes. He would bring his linen to an up-to-date laundry where perfect methods obtain at all times, such as the Salem Steam Laundry, he would receive his shirts, collars and cuffs sent to new every time that we send home.

Shingles and Shakes

The roof is shingled best if you use the kind of shingles and shakes we sell, and we ask you to note the good wear and economy of the roof for which we furnish the shingles or shakes. We carry a large stock of shingles and shakes of good quality, carefully selected to make a sound, tight, durable roof, and we are always ready to give estimates.

CARELESS MOTHERS

They Are Responsible For Much Suffering

Many a Woman Can Trace the Cause of Her Trouble to Neglected Girlhood. One of the Exceptions

Three-fourths of the women who are suffering could truthfully say that their mothers are to blame for their trouble. Perhaps the proportion is even greater. How grateful then must be the woman whose prudent mother brought her safely through the critical period of her girlhood, guarded her health and fitted her for perfect womanhood. Such was the case of Mrs. A. L. Luckie, of 419 Lindenwood avenue, St. Charles, Mo. She says:

"When I was fourteen years old, I was afflicted like many girls upon arriving at about that age and the credit is due my mother and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People that I came through it safely. In addition to the trouble mentioned I was so pale that it seemed my veins were empty of blood. I was delicate and without strength or ambition. But my mother gave me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and a few boxes restored me to health and brought good color to my cheeks.

"Later on in life I used this remedy again with just as good results and now we always keep them in the house. I am now regular and I am in excellent health, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

No discovery of modern times has proved such a blessing to women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions, they restore the strength and health in the exhausted patient when every effort of the physician proves unavailing. These pills are sold in boxes at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had at all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Lincoln County Tax List.

The officials of Lincoln county gave the taxpayers the last moment possible to pay up before ordering the lands sold for the delinquent taxes. But that had to be done, and the composition was done on The Journal office linotype, and a supplement printed for the Lincoln County Leader this week. As many Marion county people own property in that county, a copy of the tax list is posted at The Journal office for their inspection.

The Latest Yarn.

A Pittsburg drummer tells this new yarn: I always carry a bottle of Kemp's Balsam in my grip. I take cold easily, and a few doses of the Balsam always makes me a well man. Everywhere I go I speak a good word for Kemp. I take hold of my customers—I take old men and young men, and tell them confidentially what I do, when I take cold. At druggists, 25 and 50 cents.

Legislators and Lawyers

Ought to hear Carol Norton lecture on Christian Science Sunday afternoon, at the opera house, as it is a subject which is being considered by law makers with much interest these days. Every session of the various legislatures has the subject up for discussion, as to whether its practice should be prohibited or not, and it behooves everybody in public position to be posted. The lecture is at 2:30 o'clock.

CARROLL AND JOHN HANCOCK

Are Done in Abiding Bronze

Honored by the State They Honored

Busts Placed in Statuary Hall at Capital

Washington, Jan. 31.—Statuary hall of the National capitol was the scene of interesting exercises today incident to the acceptance from the state of Maryland of the statues of Charles Carroll and John Hancock. Congress adjourned for the occasion and the members, with others interested, listened to addresses by Congressman Dalzell of Pennsylvania, Congressman George A. Pearre of Maryland and several other speakers, who eulogized the lives and public services of the two distinguished Marylanders, whose memory is to be perpetuated in bronze in the national "hall of fame."

The two statues form notable additions to the many marvellous works in Statuary Hall. The statues are the work of Richard E. Brooks, the distinguished Massachusetts sculptor.

Charles Carroll is represented as reclining to the remark that there was more than one Charles Carroll, in the familiar words "but there is only one Charles Carroll of Carrollton." He stands solidly on his right foot, his left foot being advanced, and he holds in his right hand a pen. In his left hand is the copy of the Declaration of Independence which he is about to sign. His face bears a resolute expression, such, no doubt, as he wore when he signed his name "Charles Carroll of Carrollton."

New Land Commissioner.

NOT DUE TO CLIMATE

Catarrh is Found Everywhere

Catarrh is at home anywhere and everywhere. While more common in cold, changeable climates, it is by no means confined to them, but is prevalent in every state and territory in the union.

The common definition of catarrh is a chronic cold in the head, which if long neglected often destroys the sense of smell and hearing; but there are many other forms of the disease, even more obstinate and dangerous.

Catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes as well as catarrh of the stomach and liver are almost as common as nasal catarrh and generally more difficult to cure. Catarrh is undoubtedly a blood disease and can only be successfully eradicated by an internal treatment. Sprays, washes and powders are useless as far as reaching the real seat of the disease is concerned.

Dr. McVerney advises catarrh sufferers to use a new preparation, sold by druggists, called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because actual analysis has shown these tablets to contain antiseptic qualities of the highest value and being an internal remedy, pleasant to the taste, convenient and harmless can be used as freely as required, as well for children as for adults.

An attorney and public speaker who has been a catarrh sufferer for years says:

"Every fall I would catch a cold which would settle in my head and throat and hang on all winter long and every winter it seemed to get a little worse. I was continually clearing my throat and my voice became affected to such an extent as to interfere with my public speaking.

"I tried troches and cheap cough cures and sometimes got relief, but only for a short time, until this winter when I learned of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, through a newspaper advertisement. Two fifty-cent boxes which I bought at my druggist's, cleared my head and throat in fine shape and to guard against a return of my old trouble I kept a box of the tablets on hand and whenever I catch a little cold I take a tablet or two and ward off any serious developments."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets deserve to head the list as a household remedy, to check and break up coughs and colds, because unlike many other catarrh and cough cures these tablets contain no opiate, cocaine or any injurious drug. 1-27-29-31
