

It feeds
the hair

Ayer's Hair Vigor is a hair food. It feeds, nourishes, invigorates the hair. That's why it makes the hair grow, stops falling hair, and keeps the scalp free from dandruff. It always restores color to gray hair, all the deep, rich color of early life. And it is an elegant dressing. $1.00 a bottle. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

"Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped my hair from falling when it was so bad you could see my scalp, and it made new hair come in, thick and heavy." — Mrs. W. G. HACON, Canton, Ohio.

THE DAILY JOURNAL

Members Northwest Afternoon Paper League.

BY HOFER BROTHERS.

Daily One Year, $4.00 in Advance.
Daily Three Months, $1.00 in Advance.
Daily by Carrier, 50 Cents Per Month.
Weekly One Year, $1.00 in Advance.

THE SENATORIAL SITUATION.

A Republican at Woodburn writes February 18th:

"Your today's editorial, 'Republicans Should Elect,' is the best article written on the senatorial proposition during this session."

The Journal has tried to deal fairly and impartially with the senatorial situation before the legislature and the people of Oregon.

This state has come to a great crisis in its public and political affairs, and The Journal earnestly hopes that a majority of the Republican representatives will come to the broader and more intelligent view.

Oregon sorely needs to abandon party politics and personalities, and her public men should strive to get onto broader lines of statesmanship if our commonwealth is to have the influence it deserves.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

AT THE TOP.

It is a creditable ambition to reach the top of the ladder of success. But many a man who reaches the topmost rung finds his position a torment instead of a triumph. He has sacrificed his health to success.

A man can succeed and be strong if he needs Nature's scurings. When there is indigestion, loss of appetite, ringing in the ears, dizziness, spots before the eyes or palpitation of the heart, any or all of these symptoms point to weakness and loss of nutrition. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition by perfect and abundant nourishment distributed to each vital organ. It enables the co-operation of all the organs to preserve the perfect health of the body.

* For about two years I suffered from a very distressing case of dyspepsia," writes R. E. Nichols, 112 Madison Ave., Toronto, Ontario. "I was a member of a company without success. I finally got a doctor and I was so sick for so long time, felt very weak and depressed. Could not sleep nor digest nor concentrate. Some good medicine says a friend recommended, some good medicine says another. After a week's treatment I am now much better than those tactics and am convinced it has been a complete and permanent cure. I can now eat and accomplish a permanent cure. I can now eat and accomplish a permanent cure.

The "Common Sense Medical Adviser," most large pages in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

than any other candidate. This is said without reflecting on the supporters of Mr. Geer, or any other aspirant. The friends of those gentlemen have put up the best fight of which they are capable. They have presented the full strength of their favorite sons, and having done so have done their full duty.

The Journal has advocated from the opening of the session the holding of a Republican caucus, in which the 73 Republicans shall go together and by viva voce ballots determine who is the stronger man. That advice, if followed in good faith, would produce a harmonious and satisfactory result.

The compromise candidate who is now most favorably considered is Hon. W. D. Fenton, of Portland. He is a clean and popular gentleman, a man of great ability and considerable political acumen. He would make Oregon a most creditable senator.

If he could get the entire support of the Multnomah delegation and all the Geer men would stand for him, it is believed that he could be elected. But the matter has not been canvassed in all its details, and it is not likely that there is time to reach conclusions.

It is a well-known and popular theory that it costs a United States senator from $50,000 to $100,000 per year to live at Washington. It is a sad commentary that no senator is supposed to be able to live on $6000 a year salary, which the constitution provides.

Under these well-known conditions any senator Oregon can send, unless it be some wealthy man, like Mr. Corbett, must become dependent upon the trusts and corporations for his existence.

Will this operate to defeat Mr. Fulton to elect him? What weight will this have with the country members? Will they turn down poor men like Fulton and Geer, and go to men who have wealth and command corporate influences?

If The Journal could have its own wishes control in this situation, it hero and now declares flatly and unequivocally that it would regard the expressed wish of a majority vote that was cast for T. T. Geer for senator. But the Republican members of this legislature do not take that view of the matter. The press of the state, with a few rare exceptions, does not take that view. The Republican leaders all over the state do not consider the popular vote as cast for senator more than a preference expressed between a Republican and a Democrat. They do not consider that it was an expressed choice as between Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.

The opposition to Mr. Fulton have been divided into three groups of voters, the Geer men, the Multnomah delegation and the Bourne forces.

This opposition will naturally seek to unite upon a candidate if that be finally possible, and if an unobjectionable man can be found.

If that is not done, and there seems to be no concerted action to that end, Mr. Fulton will easily be elected by Republicans who will naturally prefer a man who is already the choice of a larger number of Republicans.