

CARNIVAL AGREED UPON

Push Club Enthusiastically Approves of It

Work to Begin Forthwith on the Enterprise

The meeting of the Greater Salem Commercial Club last evening for the purpose of considering the report of its committee recently appointed to investigate the matter of a street carnival was well attended. There was apparent a keen desire on the part of all present to encourage this kind of an enterprise. The committee was composed of Messrs. H. D. Patton, N. J. Judah, M. O. Buren, J. G. Graham and C. H. Hinges. They visited Portland recently, where they made a thorough investigation of the Jubour and the Arnold carnivals, and, after sizing up the different propositions, the committee reported unanimously in favor of entering into a contract with the Oregon, Pacific & Oriental Street Carnival Co., of which E. J. Arnold is proprietor.

The plan is to have a mammoth tented show, carnival, midway and outdoor entertainments, all of which are to be given on Wilson avenue during the week ending with July 4th. It was thoroughly discussed, and, upon motion, it was agreed that the club would enter into a contract to have the Arnold show. This was greeted with warm applause, and all seemed jubilant over the bright prospect for a Mid-Summer Carnival.

Upon motion Judge Judah was selected as manager of the carnival, with power to appoint all committees necessary, the same to be ratified by the club one week hence.

J. H. McNary said he would like to make a few remarks before the club entered upon the regular business for which it was called together. He thought that, inasmuch as the club had taken hold of the matter of printing and sending out 100,000 pamphlets the sooner the matter was attended to the better. He said the advertising committee had worked faithfully in an endeavor to raise the $1000 necessary to pay for printing the pamphlets, but had not yet succeeded in raising the full amount, and, as there are now cheap transportation rates on from the middle states to the Pacific coast, it was his opinion that if any benefit was to be derived from sending out the descriptive circulars, they must be sent at once. He closed his remarks by making a motion that the committee on literature be instructed to take the matter up and order printed for immediate distribution as many of the descriptive pamphlets as the amount already subscribed will pay for. The motion was unanimously adopted.

Nine of those present not members of the club announced their desire to place their names upon the rolls. They were: John Moir, E. F. Douglas, C. E. Fuller, M. C. Pottys, A. C. Hopf, E. Ellis, Rudolph Hopf, L. S. Lyons, D. B. Irvin.

J. H. McNary said he wished to call attention to the fact that many companies and corporations are doing business in Salem, and profiting by the work of the club whose representatives never contribute anything to promote its interests, either financially, or otherwise, and made a motion that the secretary of the club be instructed to address a letter to the representatives of the telegraph, telephone, express and other companies doing business in Salem, requesting contributions for the benefit of the club. Motion adopted.

I therefore veto the Act referred to. It is probable an attempt will be made to pass this bill over the governor's veto.

KAY SAVES $5000

On the Salmon Hatching Bill

The appropriation for the salmon industry of the state was diminished from $20,000 to $15,000 upon motion of Mr. Kay. He stated that the former appropriations made for this purpose have amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars, and only a small portion of the tax-paying public are benefited thereby. Mr. Hahn, the author of the bill, explained in detail the salmon industry along the Columbia river, and declared the need of a large appropriation.

INDIAN WAR VETERANS

House Passes Bill for $100,000

Will Pass Senate if Time is Not Too Short

The Indian War Veterans have at last received some consideration from the legislature.

The lower house last night passed the bill appropriating $100,000 for their benefit, but the bill may not pass the senate.

Had not another bill been introduced, at the instigation of Grand Commandant T. A. Wood, for an appropriation of $200,000 for the veterans, and thus taken up the time of the committee, the present bill would have had a much better chance of passing the upper house.

This one was introduced by Mr. Bilyeu, of Lane, and provides only for the living war veterans, and not for their families, as did the other. With this provision each veteran will receive an average of about $300.

The successful passage of this bill in the house, means a victory for the veterans, who have waited 50 years for the pay agreed upon for them by the territorial government.

Bills have come up in their interest nearly every session for about 20 years, and they think they are being paid merely a just debt.

Miss Alice Bailey, of Atlanta, Ga., tells how she was permanently cured of inflammation of the ovaries, escaped surgeon's knife, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation.

"I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure that I could not survive the ordeal. The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such an emergency, and so I decided to try it. Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles, and in the end I was cured by it. I had gained eighteen pounds and was in excellent health."

The symptoms of inflammation and disease of the ovaries are a dull throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with occasional shooting pains. The region of pain sometimes shows some swelling.

SEVEN AND HALF WELLS

Would Have Been Sunk But For Gault

An irrigation bill was abruptly killed last night in the house.

It was the one introduced by the irrigation committee to encourage the sinking of artesian wells.

It provided that each of the county courts of the Eastern Oregon counties, 15 in number, shall each year set aside from the general fund of the county the sum of $1000, to be known as the "artesian well fund." When this amount was set aside the state treasurer was to set aside an equal amount, and with this sum one artesian well was to be drilled in each county.

While being considered as a committee of the whole house, the bill was adopted without comment, until the section providing for the payment of $15,000 per year by the state, when Gault moved that this clause be stricken out. The motion was carried, and virtually killed the bill, as the committee estimated that the cost of drilling a single well would be $2000, and the bill would have sunk seven and one-half wells.

SENATOR BROWNELL DEFENDED

He Championed Eight Hour Laws

Before a Committee That Refused to Endorse Them

Immediately after the senate was called to order Wednesday afternoon, McGinn took the floor, and called the attention of President Brownell to an item in the Oregonian, under date of Oregon City, wherein it stated that the Federated Labor Union of that city would hold a special meeting on Monday evening, when it was expected Senator Brownell would be condemned for the failure of certain bills entrusted to him, to pass the senate. The purpose of the bills in question was to make eight hours constitute a day's work throughout the state.

Senator McGinn, after reading the item in the Oregonian, stated that the publication of the same did a great injustice to President Brownell; that the judiciary committee had reported the bills in question unfavorably, for the reason that the members had not sufficient light on the matters involved to recommend the passage of the proposed measures. Senator McGinn, in glowing terms, exonerated President Brownell of neglect in pushing the bills, stating that the senator from Clackamas had repeatedly urged favorable action on the measures, and that he had exhausted every means to secure such action. The senator from Multnomah explained that he made this statement to place President Brownell right before the people of the state, as a matter of justice to that gentleman, in view of the fact that the Clackamas county senator was so situated that he could not make much explanation himself.

Senator McGinn was followed by Senator F. P. Mays and other members of the judiciary committee, who made similar statements, all of them fully exonerating President Brownell from the charge made by the labor unions of Oregon City, that he was responsible for the failure of the passage of the eight-hour bills.
