

Clocks That Are Out At The Elbow

If you have a clock that is out at elbow, so to speak—that is rather threadbare and seedy and sadly in need of a patching—we would like to have you bring it to the BARR STORE for repair. We have men here who have spent a lifetime in taking clocks and watches to pieces and then putting them together again. They understand the internal mechanism of pieces and their work is thorough and clever. Watch or clock repaired in a delicate task, requiring really skilled handwork. We employ, therefore, the very best workmen available and can promise you thoroughly satisfactory results. Our charges are as low as is compatible with first-class work.

Local Events In the Social Realm

In Honor of Mr. Welch. On Saturday evening Mrs. E. Cooke Patton and Miss Eva Coshov entertained a small company of young people in honor of Mr. Ernest M. Welch, of Medford. In the game of Hearts, Miss Edna Thompson and Mr. James Welch, both of Pendleton, were awarded the honors. During the evening Mr. Patton entertained the guests with a number of clever feats of log-edermain. The gathering did not finally break up until a late hour and after the serving of delicious refreshments by the hostesses. Those present were: Misses Ruth Gabrielson, Ilda Jones, Lois Coshov, Hollister, Marie Steiwer, Eva Coshov, Edna Thompson, of Pendleton; Florence Hallock, of Pendleton; E. Mae Jones, of Jefferson, and Mrs. E. Cooke Patton; Messrs Edward Thielsen, Winnifred Poorman, Ernest M. Welch, of Medford; James Welch, Pendleton; Fred Thielsen, Ralph Glover, E. Cooke Patton.

Music and Drama. The Kitties band was a very enjoyable musical event. Lovers of Scotch music were out in goodly numbers, although the general public seemed not fully aware of the excellence of this orchestra, that in many respects is equal to the famous Thomas concert aggregation of Chicago, indeed surpassing them in its specialties of Scotch compositions. The renditions from classics made remarkable contrasts of the richness and sensuous qualities of Italian music with the martial and soul-stirring airs of the northland. The Scotch folk-songs and ballad airs were rendered with great sweetness, and one could have listened for hours. The dancing and the pipes were dear to the hearts of all tintured with Scotch blood, or who love the land of cakes and kilts for its own dear sake. Enthusiasm went to the highest pitch at times, and at the conclusion the entire audience arose.

THE TURKISH WOMAN. Her Friday Excursions on the Sweet Waters of Asia. Friday is the only day on which Turkish women enjoy a little liberty and release from the dreadful seclusion in which they are always kept, and they are not slow to avail themselves of the chance. On Fridays every one goes to the Sweet Waters of Asia, which consist of a small river running about two miles inland, with trees and meadows on each side. Hundreds of boats assemble and glide up and down the river. Every boat or calque has two or more Turkish ladies on board. The sight is a very fine one, as each private calque is most carefully got up, and the boatmen wear brilliant liveries to match the cushions and the long embroidered cloth which hangs over the stern and trails in the water. The khedivah of Egypt is one of the finest, in crimson and gold, embroidered with crowns and fishes. Besides the liveries the parasols make a wonderful show, and here may be seen all the latest Parisian creations. The ladies must not speak to men, but the careful observer can frequently catch sight of veils lowered or other signal given when a particular boat is passing, and habitual frequenters can point out boats which are sometimes close to each other. It is a very innocent diversion and would not satisfy western ladies. An hour before sunset the police boats appear and force all women to leave.—London Telegraph.

Scotland's Round Towers. Scotland boasts of two round towers, said to be stragglers from the great typical group found in Ireland. The one is attached to the handsome cathedral of Brechin and the other stands in the center of Abernethy, near the entrance gate to the churchyard. The Brechin tower, built in six irregular courses and rising over 100 feet, is the more perfect of the two. It dates from Kenneth's reign, 971-95, and has a most graceful appearance. Pennant in his history speaks of having, in 1772, found handsome bells within its walls. These were afterward removed and now hang in a neighboring steeple. The origin of these towers is flow somewhat doubtful, but archaeologists are generally agreed that they were built in connection with churches "for defense and faithfulness of watch" during the Norseman raids. They were afterward used as bellries, the Brechin tower having done duty as such for generations. The tower is now one of the sights of the ancient town and is regarded as a memorial of its early connection with Ireland.—Scottish-American.

The Changed Grizzly. There are numerous reliable statements of grizzly bears having attacked men, but nowadays the grizzly does not seek out his human victims, as there are credible statements that his forefathers used to do. Neither does he lie in wait and pounce upon a hunter, tear him into bloody shreds in delighted fondness, as the old time stories used to tell. The change in the grizzly's disposition is likened by veteran hunters to the change in the character of the white cousin of the grizzly, the polar bear of the arctic. When the stations for the Hudson Bay company were established, the diaries of the men there often referred to the fright of attacks by polar bears. Many a navigator in the arctic seas has been clawed and chewed to death by polar bears. But for nearly a century the polar bear has not been regarded as so very fierce, and nowadays it is looked upon as a cowardly beast. Association with armed men has modified the polar bear's disposition.—Outing.

The Law Makes Feb. 22nd a Legal Holiday

County Clerk Roland had considerable amusement this morning at the expense of several prominent lawyers of the city, who gathered at the court house, expecting to attend court as usual. They all knew better, but had not taken the time to think about it, and, besides, the members of the legal profession in this city are an exceedingly industrious company of professional men.

Under the construction of the law, no judicial business can be transacted until Tuesday, when the circuit court will be convened at 9 a. m. The law governing judicial holidays is set out in section 946, Bellinger & Cotton's code, and reads as follows: "The courts of justice may be held and judicial business transacted on any day, except as provided in this section. No court can be opened, nor can any judicial business be transacted on a Sunday, nor on the first day of January, nor the 22d day of February, nor on the 30th day of May, nor on the 4th day of July, nor on the 1st Monday in September, nor on the 25th day of December, nor on a day on which an election is held throughout the state, nor on a day appointed by the President of the United States or by the governor of this state as a day of fasting, thanksgiving or holiday, except for the following purposes: "1 To give instructions to a jury then deliberating on their verdict. "2 To receive the verdict of a jury.

His Question. Sister—You've seen Mrs. Newpop's baby, haven't you? Brother—Yes, but I'm afraid Mrs. Newpop must think I don't take any interest in babies. Sister—Of course, if you don't ask questions about it she— Brother—But I did ask a question; asked if it could sit up on its hind legs and beg yet, and she wouldn't answer. —Philadelphia Press.

The Wise Deacon. "Deacon," began the old colored parson, "do you ebek say, 'Git behind me, Satan?'" "No, bruddah, Ah do not," said Deacon Green. "Ef Ah told Satan to git behind me, he might stick me when Ah wa'n't lookin'. Ah keeps him right in front whah Ah kin see him." —Chicago News.

An Oldhand Answer. "Who can tell me the meaning of leisure?" asked the teacher. "It's a place where married people repent," replied the boy at the foot of the class. —Philadelphia Record.

Salem School Board. The Salem school board has failed in a number of efforts to hold meetings lately, but has decided to convene this evening. While there is no particular business awaiting the consideration of the board, still there will likely be made arrangements for the payment of interest on the popular loan notes, and there will also be called in several of the popular notes, as there is some money in the district treasury that is applicable to the payment of the same. A large number of bills against the district will also be audited at the meeting.
