

"Saved My Life."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me when all else had failed. I suffered a long time with female troubles."

"Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine saved me from a surgical operation. Doctors said an operation was necessary."

Thousands upon thousands of women throughout this country are not only expressing such sentiments as the above to their friends, but are writing letters of gratitude containing just such expressions to Mrs. Pinkham until she has more than a million from women in all classes of society who have been restored to health by her advice and medicine after all other means had failed.

Women should remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is performing such remarkable cures, assisted by Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

If you are asked by a druggist to take something else, demand the medicine which you know is best—the medicine which has made the greatest number of cures—the medicine whose record is unequalled by any other medicine, exclusively for women, in the world.

Miss Sims Entertains

On Friday evening, at her home, on East State street, Miss Mercedes Sims very creditably acted the part of hostess in the entertainment of a score of her young friends. A number of games were introduced and a real good time resulted. Refreshments were served. Miss Sims was assisted in the entertainment of her guests by Misses Mary Eakin, Mildred Perkins and her sister, Bernice Sims.

Those forming the party were: Misses Olive Mitchell, Katherine Perrine, Mary Eakin, Mildred Perkins, Bernice Sims, Edyth Ragan, Gertrude Jones, Grace Rineman, Bessie Eakin, Bessie Schultz and Zoe Stockton; Messrs. Eldon Damon, Hermann Baker, Ormond Bean, Victor Allen, James Mott, Lloyd Mott, Robert McCarl and Harry Fisher.

An Enjoyable Play. "Reaping the Harvest," which was the attraction at the Grand Opera House Friday night, drew only a light house. It is safe to say that had it showed again standing room would have been at a premium, for those who saw were one and all enthusiastic in their praise. The play is clean, has a pretty though not deep plot, which is cleverly worked out, and the acting is artistic, in that the situations are natural, the dialogue rational and the characters costumed in keeping with the parts. The stage settings were really beautiful, especially in the second act, where a genuine lovers' lane leads back apparently for half a mile. While Salem has had some good plays during the winter, none have excelled that of last night.

SQUARE WILL BE BEAUTIFIED

Canvass for Funds Insures This Improvement

Salem Will Have Creditable Public Park

Gratifying success is attending the efforts of the ladies residing in the vicinity of Marion square to secure the necessary funds with which to permanently improve that property and convert the same into a public park, that will be a credit to the Capital City.

The committee, appointed to canvass for funds, has been very successful in its labors. Subscribers to the Fourth of July Fund, of which there remains a balance, that it is appropriate to the Marion square improvement fund, are found to be practically unanimous in favor of thus diverting the unexpended balance of the celebration fund to the substantial and permanent public improvement that it is proposed to be made through the efforts of these progressive women. The canvassing committee of ladies has been particularly successful in this part of its work. With but few exceptions all of the subscribers to the celebration fund have agreed to the transfer of their part of the fund to that now being raised by the ladies. Public sentiment is for the improvement and beautifying of Marion square that the city may have one place suited to outdoor recreation and public convenience. This sentiment accounts for the unanimity of feeling with respect to the disposition of the balance of the Fourth of July fund.

The ladies will begin their work of improving the square as soon as the canvass for funds has been completed and the money made available for the task. One day's work by each member of the carpenter's union has been tendered the ladies, and the same has been thankfully received. With the substantial encouragement these progressive women are receiving, a public park of beauty is assured the residents of this city, and that at not a very far distant date.
