How Northern Indians Secure Venison For Their Larders.

A New Yorker who lives a small fraction of the time in the city, being usually long distances away in pursuit of game, tells of the method pursued by the Indians of British Columbia in taking deer. They have evolved a system, this huntsman says, that shows practical skill and sympathy and knowledge of natural conditions. He says:

"The Indians, to begin with, do not hunt deer for the pleasure of hunting. They go for deer as a housekeeper goes to market for beef, and, what's more—in British Columbia, at any rate—they don't go often. Salmon is plentiful in the rivers and is easily caught, so why chase animals when they can secure fish? It is something as it is in Newfoundland, where I went a couple of seasons ago. There the prevailing fish, as you might say, is cod, and, though there is no end to the variety of edible fish that can be taken, the natives never think of eating anything else. Cod is plentiful, and they form the habit, I suppose. This is so ingrained that they call codfish 'fish' simply. The genus is divided into cod and the rest of fish."

"Well, when the British Columbia Indian makes up his mind for venison, he goes at it systematically and without sentiment. A group of half a dozen or ten men split and take either end of a valley. Then they proceed along the mountain slope from the two ends to the center. They choose the sheltered side of the valley on which the deer seek to escape the wind. Each party covers the mountain side, some near the foot and some at the top and others between the lines, keeping abreast by an imitated owl hoot. The deer, on 'winding' pursuit, have the trick of leaping away down the slope, unlike the goats, which go up, and thus between the two approaching parties they are swept together at the middle of the valley. A good sized herd will thus be killed off and the Indians supplied for many weeks by two or three days' exertion." —New York Tribune.

HE WOULDN'T BE SNUBBED

Colonel Ochiltree Bided His Time and Carried Off the Honors.

General Grant was a great admirer of Colonel Thomas Ochiltree and made many of the men of Galveston a bit jealous. As a result they once planned an incident whereby they would humiliate Ochiltree. Grant was to stop at Galveston after his trip to South America, and the committee did not put Ochiltree's name on the list of distinguished men to meet him.

Ochiltree bided his time, as he was never known to complain, and did not go to the ship to welcome General Grant. He took a vantage point in the crowd that filled the streets in front of the Tremont House. He was behind two rows of celebrities who were doing guard duty along the edges of a crimson carpet which ran from the hotel steps to the curb. The reception committee, or part of it, was standing in the hotel door, waiting to give the general the glad-welcome hand.

Ochiltree watched until the general and Mrs. Grant had stepped from the carriage, and then he rushed through the line, shook heartily the hand of his old friend and, offering his arm to Mrs. Grant, marched proudly through the rank and file of the leading citizens into the hotel. The mob outside demanded a speech from the general, and, constituting himself a committee of one, Colonel Ochiltree appeared with him in the hotel balcony and introduced Grant as one of his best, truest and bravest friends. This was the last time the men in Galveston tried to snub him at a social function.

It Made History.

Such a slight circumstance as a glass of wine changed the history of France for nearly twenty years. Louis Philippe, king of the French, had a son, the Duke of Orleans, and heir to the throne, who always drank only a certain number of glasses of wine, because even one more made him tipsy. On a memorable morning he forgot to count the number of his glasses and took one more than usual. When entering his carriage, he stumbled, frightening the horses and causing them to run. In attempting to leap from the carriage his head struck the pavement, and he soon died. That glass of wine overthrew the Orleans rule, confiscated their property of $20,000,000 and sent the whole family into exile.

Adam and the Tallos.

"This," said the guide, "is the grave of Adam."
 Historic spot! With reverential awe—nay, with a feeling of deep thankfulness—the wealthy merchant tailor on his first trip to the orient drew near and cast a flower on the tomb. "Erring ancestor," he murmured, "I should be the last man on earth to revile your memory. To your sin I owe my prosperity." —Chicago Tribune.

Medicine For Him.

"His wife has treasured all the letters he wrote her when he was courting her; keeps them by her all the time."
 "Gracious! She doesn't read them over, does she?"
 "No, but she threatens to read them to him whenever he gets obstreperous." —Philadelphia Press.

Foretold.

May—What's the matter, dear?
 Clara—My engagement with Charley is broken.
 May—But I thought you intended to break it?
 Clara—So I did, but the wretch went and broke it himself.

It doesn't cost a cent to be a gentleman, but it may cost your life to be a fool. —Atchison Globe.

A Cooking Hint.
 The eggs for dipping oysters, croquettes, veal cutlets, etc., may be diluted with a little water or oyster juice and thus made to go further. If water is used, the egg may be set away and used again, but not so with the oyster juice, as it decomposes.

"Pop" Anson in Politics.
 Captain Adrian Constantine Anson of baseball fame is a candidate for the nomination for city treasurer of Chicago. "I've got a chance," he says. "The office has more attractions for me than the pennant used to have in my baseball days. I know the others who are after it are old and wise in the political game. But watch me. I'll throw 'em out at first. A hard fight is ahead of me. But that's all right. I'm used to hard fights. I have talked to Mayor Harrison, and he has given me encouragement."

Big Indoor Meet.
 To secure a representative gathering for the ten mile running championship of the A. A. U. at Madison Square Garden, New York, March 14, the Greater New York Irish-American Athletic association will offer seven prizes for the event. Bowen, the two mile and cross country intercollegiate champion; Carr, the St. Xavier phenom, and Ballie, who won the hearts of the Englishmen by his splendid running abroad last summer, are expected to face the starter at the Garden.

DROPSY

Do Your Ankles or Limbs Swell? Are Your Eyes Puffy? We are the Sole Agents for the Only Thing Known That Cures the Kidney Diseases That Cause Dropsy, viz.: Fulton Compounds.

It is now well known that dropsy is not itself a disease, but is merely always a symptom of kidney disease that accompanies the chronic stages heretofore incurable. Hence, up to the discovery of the Fulton Compounds, Dropsy was incurable. It is now, however, curable in nearly nine-tenths of all cases. Here is an interesting recovery, so which we refer by permission.
 Mrs. Peter Gopbenk of 908 Fillmore street, San Francisco, became alarmingly dropsical. Her physician had finally to tap her every few days. She was tapped nearly forty times and grew worse from day to day. The physician finally told her husband that she had Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, that it was in an advanced chronic state and beyond medical aid. Her heart also gave her the usual trouble and she was in such a serious condition the relatives were sent for. They put her on Fulton's Compound. It stayed on the stomach, the first thing that had done so for a week. The second week the dropsy declined a little and the improvement was then gradual till her recovery was complete. This case was examined into by representatives of the San Francisco Star and the Overland Monthly, and the genuineness of the case and the recovery were fully attested in their columns.
 Mrs. Thomas Christel of 428 Twenty-seventh street, San Francisco, was also swollen with dropsy, as the result of chronic kidney disease to more than seventy-five pounds beyond her normal weight, and had to be moved in sheets and was close to death's door although she had four physicians. She was put on the Fulton Compound. Three weeks showed improvement and in six months she was well, and permits this reference.

If you have dropsy don't temporize. There is only one thing known that will cure the chronic kidney disease that is behind it and that is Fulton's Compound. The Renal Compound for Bright's and Kidney Diseases, $1; for Diabetics, $1.50. John J. Fulton Co., 429 Washington street, San Francisco, sole compounders. Send for pamphlet. We are the sole agents for this city.
