Flax Fiber Shipped

Salem product ready for market. It is necessary to ship the straw to another mill because of the lack of facilities in the Salem mill to properly treat the product. F. R. Drury, manager of the Solo mill, is in the city superintending the shipping of the straw.

Eugene Bosse, the promoter of the flax industry in this locality, has hopes of eventually securing for this city the location of a linen mill. He says the capitalists, with whom he is identified, will install such a mill in Salem when it has been demonstrated beyond reasonable doubt that the crop can be successfully grown here. The crop last year was something of a failure, because of the fact that he was unable to get the necessary help at the proper time to harvest the crop. Not over one-half of the acreage grown to flax in this vicinity was properly harvested on this account.

This year Mr. Bosse will undertake to raise only 150 acres, as against 200 acres last year, and, with the reduced acreage, he thinks no difficulty will be experienced in getting the crop harvested at the proper season without loss and discouragement. The planting of the crop will begin the latter part of this month, and it will all be cultivated under the personal supervision and management of Mr. Bosse. Mr. Drury, of Solo, says the cultivation of flax in Lin county is developing into quite an important industry. Annually the acreage in that county increased until this year he reports his company will harvest the product of between 325 and 350 acres. The Solo company has a finely equipped plant that is capable of handling a large acreage. It has all the latest and best improved machinery.

WOODBURN WENT DRY

Anti-License Faction Carry Election

Arrest for Illegal Selling of Liquor

The city election at Woodburn Monday was closely contested—the ticket headed by Grant Corby and opposed to granting saloon licenses carrying the day by about 50 majority over E. Nendell.

Immediately upon the heels of the anti-saloon victory August Calmels was arrested for selling liquor without a license and his trial set for Thursday. He came up to Salem today and engaged counsel for his defense.

The arrest is believed to be the outcome of the city election and for political effect although the prosecution will be conducted by the mayor-elect, who is now city attorney, and who is noted for fearless discharge of his duty. Two casks of liquor, of about 12 gallons each, were seized, and held by the authorities. Amos Beach was elected city marshal; Henry W. Kelsey and E. W. Finzer councilmen; Charles F. Whitman, recorder; S. C. Berry, treasurer.

Will Not Abandon the Fill in Salt Lake at Ogden

San Francisco, April 7.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Southern Pacific today the old board was re-elected, with the exception of F. J. Keisel, of Ogden, who is substituted for Charles H. Tweed, of New York. All but 83 shares were represented. Regarding the stories of abandoning the cut-off across Great Salt Lake, at Ogden, on account of the quicksands, a director said: "It is all bosh, we are filling in 1000 tons of rock daily, and will continue if all the fill goes through to China. We will have the lake bridged over by October 1st, and trains running by the first of the year." Engineer Hood, of the Southern Pacific, is now on the scene superintending the work.

Islands and the Army

die increases of the armed brigandage to which the islands have been habituated from time immemorial, and here and there for their own purposes the bandits may choose to style themselves patriots or insurrectionists; but these local difficulties will be of little consequence save as they give occasion to a few men here at home again to try to mislead our people. Not only has the military problem in the Philippines been worked out quicker and better than we had dared to expect, but the progress socially and in civil government has likewise exceeded our fondest hopes.

The best thing that can be done in handling the Philippines is to put the best man in charge, giving him the heartiest support and freest possible hand. This has been done with Taft. There is not in this nation a higher, or finer type of public servant than Governor Taft, who has rendered inestimable service to the Philippines as well as to the United States. He has been able to do this because of the absolute support of the war department. The army of the Philippines is now only one of the instruments, through which Taft is doing much admirable work, for the civil government is now supreme.

Rizal the Patriot.

Remember always that in the Philippines the American government has tried and is trying to carry out exactly what the greatest genius and most revered patriot ever known in the Philippine Islands—Jose Rizal—steadfastly advocated. This man, shortly before his death, in a message to his countrymen, under date of December 16, 1896 condemned unsparingly the insurrection of Aguinaldo, terminated just before our navy appeared upon the scene, and pointed out the path his people should follow to liberty and enlightenment. Speaking of the insurrection and of the pretense that Filipino independence of a wholesome character could thereby be obtained, he wrote: "When, in spite of my advice, a movement was begun, I offered of my own accord, not only my service, but my life and even my good name to be used in any way they might believe effective in stifling the rebellion. I thought of the disaster which would follow the success of the revolution, and I deemed myself fortunate if by any sacrifice I could block the progress of such a calamity.

Deplored Revolution.

"My countrymen, I have given proof that I was one who sought liberty for our country and I still seek it. But as a first step I insisted upon the development of the people in order that, by means of education and of labor, they might acquire the proper individual character and force which would make them worthy of it. In my writing I have commended to you study and civic virtue, without which our redemption does not exist. I cannot do less than condemn, and I do condemn, this absurd and savage insurrection planned behind my back, which dishonors us before the Filipinos and discredits us with those who otherwise would argue in our behalf. I abominate its cruelties and disavow any kind of connection with it, regretting with all the sorrow of my soul that these reckless men have allowed themselves to be deceived. Let them return, then, to their homes, and may God pardon those who have acted in bad faith."

This message embodied precisely and exactly the avowed policy upon which the American Government has acted in the Philippines. What the patriot Rizal said with such force in speaking of the insurrection before we came to the islands applies with tenfold greater force to those who foolishly or wickedly opposed the mild and beneficent government we were instituting in the islands. The judgment of the martyred public servant, Rizal, whose birthday the Philippine people celebrate, and whom they worship as their hero and ideal, sets forth the duty of American sovereignty; a duty from which the American people will never flinch.

In conclusion the President spoke of the Volunteer soldier and of the recent laws passed concerning the state militia.
