It Looks That Way

Frank Buchanan who is to lead the bridge and iron workers in their struggle with the United States Steel corporation in discussing the strike proposition a few days ago, said he believed there would be a general labor war throughout the country.

"I hope and expect that the labor organizations of the country will soon concentrate an open war against the rapidly growing combinations of capital," he said. "The American bridge company is trying to break up our national union. From press reports builders of iron and steel work have formed an organization to rectify certain evils. What these evils are I do not know, unless they consist of demands for higher pay and better working conditions.

The struggle we are waging against the bridge company is likely to spread. It is possible we will call out all our men on construction work, and if we are forced to do so then we will tie up the industry and force an enormous number of men out of work."

Mr. Buchanan is in Chicago to look after the western end of the strike and will return to New York within a few days, for the general strike will be managed from that city.

Colorado's Launching Next Week. Washington, April 9.—The launching of the big armored cruiser Colorado, originally scheduled to take place at Cramp's today, has been deferred until this day next week to suit the convenience of some of those who are to take a prominent part in the ceremonies. The big vessel will be christened by Miss Cora Penbody, daughter of the governor of Colorado, who will come east for the occasion accompanied by a party of distinguished citizens of the state.

The Fund to Inter a Deceased Equine the Limit

Ed. Journal: Salem business men are probably the most patient set of people on earth, and if anyone doesn't believe this statement he ought to be at one of the stores or offices when the solicitors for charities come around for funds. At one of these places the other day five called in the forenoon, and before the proprietor knew it he had paid out from 50 cents to $2 to each. Then he began to realize what he had done, and the more he thought about it the madder he got. He counted up how he had paid his store bills, his church subscription, his lodge dues, his water bill, his gas bill, his electric light bill, his street sprinkling bill, his league bill, his church society subscription, his son's subscription to a college yell association and his daughter's pledge to some society, and all these "legitimate" things. Now on this day he had contributed to a special fund for the improvement of a road in a neighborhood where he had little or no trade, to a fund for a church bell in a suburban neighborhood and to a fund for a steeple on a church for a bell for the purchase of which he had contributed the month before. Next came along a demand for help to assist a home missionary to her people in the East and last of the five a request for a fund to bury a certain dead horse which was becoming offensive to the unfortunate neighborhood where the equine had been forlorn enough to die. As our storekeeper contemplated what he had actually done and as he tried to figure from what motive he had done it, he was actually ashamed of himself, and then and there vowed that he was through with all such folly.

The truth is, the already over-taxed business men are too easy, and they should assert their right not to be imposed upon, not to be bilked, not to be held up by persons and organizations that have no legitimate claims upon them. This is not easy to do, yet the business people in a sense have no right to do these things for in the end they must of necessity charge higher prices for their goods to cover these extraordinary expenses. Let us give the business men a rest on this line.

Northwestern Stock Growers. Belle Fourche S. D., April 9.—Stock growers from far and near are attending the first annual meeting of the association, which began here today and will continue tomorrow. Reports of the officers show that the association since its organization last year has enrolled nearly 400 members and this number it is expected to double before the end of the next six months.

Father and Son Suffered Chronic Headache.

Almost Constant Pain For Thirty Years.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Has Cured Me.

There is nothing so good in cases of chronic headache as Dr. Miles' Nervine. It restores the disordered nerves to their normal condition and banishes headache forever.

"My trouble was headache, chronic so as to be almost continual. I had been in this condition ever since I could remember and I am now forty-seven years old. My father was a great sufferer from the same complaint and my son has shown signs of similar affection. When the attacks would appear, my stomach would often become affected and I would grow dizzy and faint and often had to quit my work and lie down. I am a stationary engineer and found it hard to hold a place with such a heavy handicap. About six years ago I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and since that time I have used in all, fourteen bottles. The number of bottles taken was not really required as I think the cure was completely effected after taking the second bottle. Having scarcely seen the time in thirty years I was free from headache, I could not believe the permanent cure to be made so soon, so I continued its use until I was thoroughly convinced. Six persons to whom I have recommended the remedy have experienced equally gratifying results, the only difference between their case and mine lying in the severity of the trouble cured."—EDGAR W. WILSON, Alcott, Colorado.

Wants to Use Sidewalks

Editor Daily Journal:

Dear Sir: In your paper of April 7th is an article urging the expulsion of the wheel from the walks of Salem. For one, I am willing to see any change that would be for the greatest good of the greatest number, but am quite unable to see that the change recommended would meet that condition. It is well understood that, in proportion to its population, Salem is a very large city, covering areas that would accommodate 50,000 to 100,000 people, instead of 10,000 to 12,000. The streets of the city, for the greater part of the year, are in such condition that it would be impossible to use a bicycle upon them. A large proportion of the people are of moderate means, and hence unable to enjoy the luxury of a horse and carriage. Our street cars run at such long intervals, and on so few of the streets, as to afford but very limited accommodation; people are seen waiting for one-half hour for a car. Besides the wheels occasion very little inconvenience to pedestrians; it is seldom that an accident occurs. To those who use the wheel, and the number in Salem is very large, the use of the walk, at least one side of the street, is a convenience that is of great value, and, considering all the circumstances, would be a corresponding hardship if such prohibition were enforced. Our city council has shown wisdom and consideration, which is highly appreciated by all who ride the wheel in allowing the use of the walk, and we sincerely hope that they will not enact such laws as shall render the use of the bicycle impracticable in our city. One who highly appreciates the bicycle.

A BLAZE HAS BEEN KINDLED

Holland Strike Still Growing

Labor is Making a Fight for Liberty

May Yet Result in Overthrow of the Government

The strike in Holland has assumed proportions far beyond the dreams of those who began it. It started not to get an increase of pay or a demand for hours, but instead as a means of protecting the rights of the wage worker. It is in reality a battle for freedom, the government proposed to pass a law making it an offense to strike, and punishable by imprisonment and fine. Labor was at once aroused, and struck before the obnoxious law could be passed. Yesterday the president of the workmen's committee of defense in an interview said the strike proclamation involved the entire railroad system and other land transportation of Holland and the water transport of the ports of Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Dordrecht and Zaandam.

The strike, he added, was intended as a protest against the anti-strike laws as well as to support the demand of the railroad men for an increase of wages before the passage of the laws made an improvement in the position impossible.

The president also said the strike would extend to other branches of labor.

The staffs of the shipping companies trading with London and Hull have stopped work in sympathy with the strikers.

Later dispatches show that the situation has become so serious that the very existence of the government is threatened.

Like the Klondike

Fau Bernardino, Cal., April 9.—There is great excitement at Needles over the prospect of a rich gold strike on the desert west of that place. News received from there tonight indicates that nearly 1000 persons have arrived during the day, and many more are awaiting the trains to take them. Deputy Marshal Lane, who got in from there this morning, describes the place as one wild scramble among hundreds of excited men to secure locations in the regions where the gold-bearing sands have been discovered. The principal field is confined to the limits of Sacramento wash, a narrow, dry creek bed extending from a point eight and a half miles from Needles due west. While prospecting for water in this wash last year W. H. Orr found gold. The news of the find was concealed, and Orr and others quietly staked out claims covering all the country known to contain gold. A company was formed to develop the placer, and operations have begun on a large scale. A report that a rich strike had been made was brought to Needles Friday by an Indian. He said that coarse gold nuggets had been found in large quantities. Several miners started for the place at once, arriving that night. One of these was formerly master mechanic of the Santa Fe. These men found the story true, and sent word for others to hasten to the place.

Orr and his partners are said to have taken thousands in gold from their property, and a mechanic named Hubbard cleaned up over $1000 one day. Another man named Wilson, who has fared as well, sold out his first locations to a group of Santa Fe employes for $5000 and relocated near Ibox, ten miles distant, where he is said to have found placer gold in abundance. All the promising territory now between Needles and Ibox is located and men are guarding their claims with rifles. In anticipation of trouble, already several affrays have occurred, and report is that the Indian who divulged the secret has been killed by men anxious to secure a claim he had located.

While the truth of the stories from Needles are not exactly questioned here, there is a disposition to await further developments.
