

The "Quick Fix" Factory

The Barr Store maintains a small jewelry factory, one of whose main characteristics is promptness in filling orders. Making over old gold into rings is the specialty of this factory and it also repairs anything and everything in jewelry. If you have any jewelry that needs attention, we'll "fix it quick" and at prices that will not displease you. By the way, the setting in your ring may not be safe. Come in and let us see about it. We re-set many rings in the course of a year.

PICTURE MAKING WONDER

How the Panoramic Camera Surprises All

Some Rare Views of Salem Being Taken

In this age of pictures there are few surprises in store for those interested, but when something new does come to the front, it is received with greater interest than ever. For instance, when the work of the panoramic camera was first brought to public attention it interested everybody, and the fact that a broad sweep of picture could be taken at one exposure—securing the breadth of landscape by a revolving lens—caused even greater wonder. One of these cameras has been brought to Salem by Mr. Leo Stanwood, watchmaker at Barr's jewelry store, and the interest in its capabilities has been greatly enhanced by seeing its work, as shown by local views. Mr. Stanwood makes a picture 5x16 inches, which is a marvel, when compared with the work of the older limited cameras. He has taken several views about town for some of his friends, and has been induced to offer for sale some of the public institutions. These can be seen in the window of the Barr store, and are attracting great attention. Mr. Stanwood takes a deep interest in this work, and affords his friends great pleasure by showing them how his wonderful camera does its work.

To Give the snes.

Two noblemen in the reign of Maximilian II.—1504-1550—one a German, the other a Spaniard, who had each rendered a great service to the emperor, asked the hand of his daughter in marriage. Maximilian said that as he esteemed them both alike it was impossible to choose between them, and therefore their own prowess must decide it; but, being unwilling to risk the loss of either by engaging them in deadly combat, he ordered a large sack to be brought and declared that he who should put his rival into it should have his fair Helena. And this whimsical combat was actually performed in the presence of the imperial court and lasted an hour. The unhappy Spanish nobleman was first overcome, and the German succeeded in enveloping him in the sack, took him upon his back and laid him at the emperor's feet. This comical combat is said to be the origin of the phrase "give him the sack," so common in the literature of courting.

One Phase of the Nile.

In the Shab Luka pass we have one of the many instances in which the Nile has hurled itself at an opposing mountain barrier and cut its way through. In fact, it often seems to select these unpropitious places for its course when on each side a few miles away there is a tolerably level, unbroken expanse of desert. For ten miles the river twists in and out before escaping to the open once more. Its current is very rapid, making it well impassable at low water because of the numerous rocks, but at the time of my descent the summer flood was well along, and all but a few of these barriers were hidden below the surface, their presence being marked only by occasional eddies.—Century.

A Comfort Anyway.

"Speaking of grousing remarks," said the ruddy old Scotch gentleman on his way from the far west to revisit Scotland for the first time in half a century, "there was an old lady friend of mine in San Francisco who persisted in looking upon this journey of mine as a madly adventurous tempting of Providence. 'Yet there is one thing comforts me, Robert, my man,' she said, 'when one dies in voyaging nowadays, they've such excellent facilities for transporting the remains!'"—New York Telegram.

And That Ended Nora.

Mrs. Auitaf—Now, Nora, be very careful of this cut glass punch bowl. It cost a mint of money.
Nora—Indeed, mum? Well, it's rare tough. Sure an' I drapped it three times a'ready an' niver fazed it.—Life.

His Query.

She—Do I really love you, Cholly? Why, I'd sooner be miserable with you than happy with some other fellow.
He—But are you sure you won't find some other chap that you'd sooner be miserable with?—Puck.

TYNER FIRED BODILY

Tyner's Wife Robbed Office Safe

Took all Papers, Books, and Records of all Kinds

Whole Affair has Been Turned Over to Atty. General

Washington, April 23.—Postmaster-General Payne, late this afternoon, made public a letter sent yesterday to James Tyner, assistant attorney-general for the postoffice department, notifying him of his immediate removal from the office of attorney-general of the department. Tyner's resignation was requested in March, following the charges that Tyner had failed to regulate the abuses in his office. The letter says Tyner's wife, accompanied by Mrs. Barrett, her sister, and whose son's conduct, while assistant in this office, is now under investigation, and a safe expert entered the office of the assistant attorney-general last night, opened the safe in the room and took therefrom all papers, record and articles of every kind, and carried them away.

Immediately upon learning of the affair, the inspectors sent to Tyner's house a demand for everything taken. Mrs. Tyner not only refused the request, but said the act was done with Tyner's knowledge. Payne says that further comment on his part is unnecessary, and adds that he will submit the facts to the attorney-general for such action as he may deem proper. Tyner and Barrett, it will be remembered, have been under fire on account of alleged protection given the "get-rich" quick concerns.

BRICK VERY SCARCE

All Building Checked in Oregon

Contractors Mourer and Welch have returned from Eugene, where they went to take up their contract for the construction of a dormitory for the State University, unable to proceed on account of the impossibility of getting brick. Many building operations at Salem and other places are suspended for the same cause. All house holders are using cement for foundations.

The Salem unions are standing firm for the nine-hour day, and that may be considered established as an essential and permanent feature. Carpenters' wages are held at $3.00 a day, and common labor at $2.00. There is some disagreement as to what is a carpenter, and much building is suspended until that can be determined. The unions contend that any man who uses a saw and square is a carpenter, even at putting down a rough plank sidewalk.

SOME BEAUTY DON'TS.

Don't bathe the face while it is very warm or very cold.

Don't be afraid of sunshine and fresh air. They offer you bloom and color.

Don't bathe in hard water. Soften it with a little powdered borax or a handful of oatmeal.

Don't wash the face when traveling unless it is with a little alcohol and water or a little cold cream.

Don't rub the face with too coarse a towel. Treat it as you would the finest porcelain, tenderly and delicately.

Don't forget that hearty laughter is a source of relaxation. So are all high thoughts, as those of hope, beauty, trust and love.

Don't attempt to remove dust with cold water. Give the face a hot bath with soap and then rinse thoroughly with clear tepid or cold water.

Don't neglect to sleep. You can sleep yourself into good looks. A long nap and a hot bath will make any woman more attractive and lift years from her shoulders.

Don't forget that beauty is power. There is nothing more potent. It is to a woman what capital is to a merchant. Its absence is a misfortune, its culture wise and proper.

Choice of Color.

As the choice of colors is a stumbling block to so many, a few words on this subject may be useful. A girl with a pale complexion can wear indigo blue and the russet shades, dark red and medium green. With brown hair, gray eyes and a poor complexion one may wear black relieved with cream, blue with cream, dark green, a very light shade of pink and a coppery red. A girl with red hair and a clear complexion may wear white, black, pale blue, green, but not deep pink, orange, deep purple or bright red. A blond may wear a bluish purple, while a brunette with a good color may wear reddish purple. Sallow skins need rich, warm tones. A woman of this type may wear dark, rich red, russet shades, most of the dark brown shades, cherry pink, rose and cream color. The good rule that bids a woman for street wear choose the color of her hair, for home wear the color of her eyes and for evening wear the color of her skin may be borne in mind. When a girl has two or three different colors in her eyes, as often happens, if she matches any of them it will suit her.—American Queen.

Stove wood, cord wood, any kind of ligneous fibre, is a scarce article at Salem. Second growth fir readily commands $4.00 per cord, and the wood dealers are out of supplies, and cannot furnish a wagon load of sawed wood for love or lucre. First grade fir sells at $4.50 per cord.
