AUSTIN CRAIG ARRESTED

Charged With Embezzling a Registered Package

Was Postmaster at Whitney, once Lived at Salem

Austin Craig, newspaper man, town promoter, banker and former postmaster at Whitney, Grant county, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy United States Marshal Hall on a charge of stealing a registered letter containing $72 on July 21, 1902. The United States Grand Jury returned an indictment against Craig, containing two counts, one of larceny and the other of embezzlement.

A statement of the case is that Craig in his capacity as postmaster received a registered pouch from Baker City containing six packages. He checked them and wrote six on the registered card which accompanied the mail.

A day or two later the card came to the Baker City office with the figure 6 changed to 5, and a line drawn through the description of a registered package from Spokane, containing $72, addressed to James Rupp, Greenhorn. The package never reached Rupp, and Craig, when called to account for it, answered that he did not know anything about it. His explanation was that instead of checking off the register card at once as he ought to have done, he copied the card into his register book to facilitate matters, and afterward in checking off the Greenhorn mail discovered that the Rupp letter entered on the card was not there.

Two clerks at the Baker City post-office testified that the package was put in the registered pouch; that the pouch was locked, and went out in regular order, and must have reached the Whitney Postoffice. In the October following Craig came to Portland and tendered his resignation as postmaster. It was not accepted, but he was removed by the department, the removal to take place January last.

Besides his duties as Postmaster, Craig conducted a branch of the Sumpter bank, for A. P. Goss, and soon after the time of the postoffice trouble Goss caused the arrest of Craig on a charge of embezzlement of $1100, but the grand jury failed to return an indictment in the case. Craig also ran a townsite scheme, and altogether appeared to be a very energetic person.

He was found by the deputy marshal at his room at 247 Madison street, and anticipated his arrest, because he visited the marshal's office Wednesday, and was aware that the grand jury was investigating the matter. His bonds were fixed at $2000, and in default he was committed to the county jail.

Craig is a young man, about 30 years of age, and has lived in Oregon for ten years. He formerly published the Washington County Hatchet, a weekly newspaper, at Forest Grove.

When interviewed by a reporter, Craig said he was not prepared to make a full statement at this time. He stated that he did not receive the registered package addressed to Rupp, and for that reason marked it off the register card and refused to receipt for it. He said he could have compromised the matter by paying the money, but such an act would have been an admission of his having purloined the letter, which he could not afford to make. He acknowledged his arrest on the embezzlement charge, but explained that the grand jury returned a not true bill, and that he sued his accuser, Goss, for damages. Goss then left Grant county, and did not return for some time.

Craig has engaged Marion Butler as attorney to defend him, and feels certain that he will establish his innocence.

OUT OF POLITICS TO STAY

Brownell Declares He will not Ask Office Again

Says What he Wants is Law Business and Lots of it

"I am out of politics, and I intend to stay out," said State Senator Brownell, this morning. "I have been kindly treated by the people of Clackamas county, at whose hands I have been honored repeatedly. While I have made some mistakes, I have always endeavored, to the best of my ability, to do what I considered was the proper thing to do. There are younger men coming up in the party, and others who are entitled to recognition. I feel that the time has come for me to let go, and let the others step to the front and assume the general leadership and management of party politics.

"To make it plain, I have made up my mind to let politics go and go to work in my profession and make a living, and try to make some provision for those who are dependent upon me."

"Do you really mean to say that you are entirely out of politics, and for good?" repeated the reporter, who had heard the statement before, but not from so direct a source.

"Most emphatically my answer to that is yes," was the senator's reply. "Of course, I shall be pleased to help my friends, if they need my help, and at all times do what I can to bring about the election of the Republican ticket. I am through asking for office, and have done with taking any general or active part in party politics. I make this statement, as I think it is due my many friends in Clackamas county. What I want now is law business," and with the last declaration, Mr. Brownell gave his attention to a client, who had been waiting for the interview to terminate.

JOHN W. BAKER WARDEN

State Game Keeper from Lane County

Governor Chamberlain last evening appointed John W. Baker, of Cottage Grove, Lane county, state game warden, to succeed L. W. P. Quimby, the present incumbent.

Mr. Baker is a man of good ability and living in a section of the country where there are many violations of the law, while herds of deer sometimes being slaughtered in winter in violation of the law.

The appointment was much sought after and not less than a hundred applicants had to be turned down to name Mr. Baker. But they have the satisfaction of knowing that a worthy and deserving man got the place, and a Democrat of the bedrock variety.

Mr. Baker is a brother of Prof. Baker, of the Lincoln public school, and of Mrs. Frank Morrison of South Salem.

A Princess A Prisoner

New York, April 24.—Friends here of Princess Czaykowski, daughter of Clarence Collins, and formerly ward of Chauncey Depew, were shocked today to learn that she, with her husband, is a prisoner in Constantinople. It is impossible to get details, but it is believed the matter is political. How that can be is a mystery, as the Prince has always been in high favor with the Sultan, and his family is one of the most powerful in the Orient.

Late this afternoon Collins received advice from his daughter to the effect that she and the prince are safe in his summer place in Syria.

Robbed the Train.

Lincoln, April 24.—A passenger train on the Burlington, No. 41, was held up and robbed this morning, as the train was leaving the Burlington station. The job was done while the passengers were asleep, or just getting up. The robbers herded the train crew into the emigrant sleeper, and went through the passengers.

MILL MEN AND THE UNIONS

Mill Owners Refuse to Sell Lumber in Portland

Will Result in Arbitration by Saturday Night

G. Y. Harry, president of the State Federation of Labor, says that no general strike of the Federated Trades threatens Portland. Should the building trades unions strike or be locked out by the action of the millowners in refusing to sell lumber, the other unions of the city will keep on with their work and financially aid those out of employment. This sentiment is echoed by the agents of the Building Trades Council.

The union men regard the ultimatum of the millowners, published in yesterday's paper as a declaration of war against the building trades unions. "We know just where they stand now, and will be prepared to meet them," says President Charles Warde, of the Painters' union, who has conducted the strike of the painters from the start.

The union men and the associations of employers now realize that the labor troubles have gone far beyond the strike of the union painters. The contractors and millmen have little to say. "Our sentiments were thoroughly set forth in the published communication signed by us," is as far as the millmen will commit themselves.

For the first time since the threatened general strike of last year, groups of men can be seen on almost every street corner engaged in a discussion of the labor situation. Some are union men, while many are not, but the topic of the day in all quarters is the declaration of the millowners. "Organized labor is Portland is at stake," is the expression heard on every hand.

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor was in session yesterday in Toronto, Canada. A telegram explaining the situation in Portland, from the union standpoint, was sent to the council. No answer has yet been received which has been made public.

No lumber is being sold through the City Retail Lumber Company. As the supply which the contractors have on hand diminishes, an increasing number of carpenters are laid off. Both the members of the Master Builders' Association and the independent contractors are haunting the offices of the agency of the mills. W. C. Francis, the manager of the City Retail Lumber Company, has had difficulty in persuading them that the mill owners meant exactly what they said in the published ultimatum, and that no lumber will be sold to the retail trade.

"We are sending out lumber only to those buildings which absolutely require additional timber for their safety," said Mr. Francis yesterday.

He Killed Them Both

Nevada City, April 24.—Jerry Goodwin this morning shot Thos. P. Blue and his son, William, at You Bet. Thomas is dead, and William is dying. Goodwin is now en route to this city to surrender. The shooting was the result of an attack this morning by Blue and his sons on Goodwin. Blue met Goodwin in the rear of the latter's house, and attacked him with a cane, knocking him down. Goodwin drew a revolver and shot. Goodwin is one of the most prominent residents of You Bet.
