

Tiny Bits Of Jewelry Tinkering

The Barr Store operates a little jewelry factory of its own that has special facilities for all sorts of odd jobs of jewelry tinkering. Making over old gold into rings is one of the things we do there; and, if we do say it, we do it excellently well. As for any sort of jewelry repairing imaginable, it is seldom, indeed, that we cannot remedy the mishap. By the way, we have a new Electric Polishing Machine and will be pleased to clean and polish our customer's jewelry free of charge. 'Tis our aim to make this, in every possible way, "a helpful handy store."

Good Chicken Pie.

The ladies of the First Congregational church gave one of their very successful chicken pie suppers in the church parlors Wednesday evening. The ladies have found the art of cooking chicken pie, and these suppers, given occasionally, are looked forward to by the people of Salem, and are always a success, both from an epicurean and financial standpoint.

The prominent young society ladies of Salem who have already made the dancing parties given by the "44" club this winter so successful, are planning to give the members of the club a return party on next Saturday evening, May 9th. It will be a shirtwaist and negligee affair, and, as usual, will be the jolliest party of the season.

A Delightful Program.

The ladies auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. met in regular session Tuesday afternoon, and, after an interesting devotional and business meeting, enjoyed the social hour under the direction of Mrs. C. P. Bishop. A short program consisting of two piano duets by Miss Hallie Watson and Miss Lela Tarpley, and a vocal solo by Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, was enjoyed by all present, after which light refreshments were served. The president, Miss Nina McNary, will be responsible for the program for June.

Chestnuts.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, of the Presbyterian church, gave a chestnut social last night in the church parlors. All the old-fashioned games, as bean-bags, were played. The program consisted of the chestnuts, in the shape of "After the Ball," "I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard," and a few others. Light refreshments were also served, in the shape of striped stick candy and popcorn. A large crowd of young folks enjoyed the evening.

Friday, 15th.

Ontario Society will give the "Feast of Adonis" and "The Redemption," at the M. E. church, Friday, 15th. Portland Symphony Orchestra, Prof. Boyer, Mr. Dom Zan, Prof. Glenn and Miss Blinson will assist. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity to attend a first-class entertainment. It.

RIDERS OF THE BIKES

Women and Small Children
Take to the Streets

Writer Thinks They Should Have Walks Occasionally

Ed. Journal: If you will allow me a little space, I would like to ask the city council of Salem, along with the bicyclists, a few questions.

First to the city council: Is there another city in the state the size of Salem that permits the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks? Second, do you all ride wheels yourselves? I thought so, or you would never allow the bicyclists to chase the women and children into the middle of the streets the way they do, as you know a woman with a lot of little children is in danger on the sidewalks of Salem, unless they have a big, burly man with them to put up an interference for them, and keep next to the scorchers. Is not a bicycle a vehicle? Do you not have to give a bicycle half the road by law? I am sure you would kick if a buggy got on the sidewalk. I am speaking of the present, not the past. You know nice weather is here, and the streets are good, so why not keep the scorchers off the walks until winter comes again?

To the cyclists: What makes you speed up when you go to pass any one? or does the cheap hop you smoke make you think you are in a football game with everyone you pass? Do you think you are the only one in town? If you want to ride on the walk you should have a bell on your wheel, as you know that there is not one-half of the scorchers that have bells on their wheels. When you see women and children ahead, why don't you slow up or dismount until you have passed them? The city dads have given you permission to ride on the walks; that is their fault, but you should not abuse the right they have given you, and show a little consideration to people that have the misfortune to be old, a cripple, or are too poor to own a wheel. I have ridden a bicycle over seven years, but I cannot get any satisfaction in riding on the sidewalks where there is barely room for two people to walk side by side comfortably. A CITIZEN.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

CULINARY CONCEITS.

Try dipping sliced onions in milk before frying.

Raisins should not be washed for use in cake or puddings. Rub them clean between dry cloths.

When making cakes, try greasing the tins with olive oil instead of with butter. You will find that the cakes turn out better.

To improve sweetbreads and give a fine flavor soak them in a mild lemon juice water one hour; then boil in beef stock twenty minutes.

A smooth, thick chocolate icing is one of the best to put upon a fruit cake. Curiously enough, the various flavors combine deliciously.

If when cooking you find you have put too much salt into any dish, stir in a little brown sugar. Don't add too much sugar you will spoil it this way.

Lard or dripping can be used for frying instead of butter in almost all cases if the lard is allowed to become very hot before using; otherwise it will surely taste in the articles fried in it.

Baked beet root is considered very delicious by many persons. It should be washed, then baked from two and a half to three hours, according to size. Remove the skin when hot; then cut into slices.

About Table Service.

It is no longer fashionable to load your table with knives and forks. Even at the most formal dinners the silver for the first courses only appears on the table when the guests are seated. During the first courses the oyster fork, the soup spoon, the silver knife and fork for the fish and the steel knife and silver fork for the meat alone appear, and if one of these courses is omitted the silver that belongs to it is, of course, omitted also. The knife and fork for the game, the fork for the salad and the fork and spoon for the dessert are passed when the courses are served. There is a growing laxity in table manners. Even the best bred people think nothing of leaning one elbow on the table when speaking and of being quite hensible and easy in manner. It is within the memory of most people when we were taught to sit at the table as straight as ramrods and were fined for leaning an elbow on the cloth. What does it mean? Nothing more than that it is only another step toward breaking down stiffness and formality. While it may not be elegant, yet it gives an easy attitude, and what is more beautiful than an easy manner?

House to House Millinery.

A woman will never throw an old hat aside or even give it away as long as she believes there is a chance of making it over. She is ashamed to send it to a millinery store—in fact, a number of milliners discourage such a custom by charging prices quite out of proportion with the work done. In some of the uptown residence districts in Brooklyn young women go from house to house restoring brilliancy to faded headgear at nominal prices. Some of them, with taste for millinery, have built up a regular custom trade and have all the work they want to do. In a few hours they will transform an old hat or bonnet into one that looks "as good as new." Girls will help along the family income in this way, where they can choose their customers and their time, when nothing would persuade them to work in a millinery store or go behind a counter.—New York Times.

Biting the Nails.

Watch that baby does not get this habit. The annoying habit of nail biting, common among children, is curable in its earlier stages without resorting to the trick of rubbing the finger tips with bitter stuffs. Manoeuvre the child's nails carefully, and see that there are no hangnails. Cut rather deeply into the corners, and file the nails short. Children often bite their nails because they are not quite comfortable. A rugged edge on one nail is bitten to make it smooth, and the foundation of the habit is laid. If the little fingers were cared for regularly from babyhood, few children would adopt the disagreeable practice.
