

MRS. HELENA BLAV,

Young Milwaukee Society Woman.

Mrs. Helena Blav.

THIRTY thousand cured women have written to tell how Wine of Cardui bestows the blessing of health on every woman who takes it, rich and poor alike. Mrs. Helena Blav, No. 123 Seventh Street, Milwaukee, Wis., is one of the young women whom Wine of Cardui has rescued from a life of suffering. She writes:

The woman who has suffered from female weakness should do anything within reason to secure health. Wine of Cardui is the medicine that appeals to reasonable women—women who hold operations and cutting in horror—women who know that Nature is the best physician. Wine of Cardui gives women back their health by giving Nature a chance to build up the wasted and diseased tissue. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow and Nature, when relieved of the drains or the poisons in the system, makes the functional organs strong and healthy again.

Any woman who is silently suffering untold pains because she is too sensitive to undergo a physician's examination and treatment can find no excuse for not securing relief when Wine of Cardui is offered to her. There is no publicity to deter her. She can take Wine of Cardui in the privacy of her home, with as much assurance of a final cure as though a dozen doctors recommended it. Many physicians do recommend Wine of Cardui to their patients.

Why not get a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

A TEST CASE AT EUGENE

The Case was Tried out on Its Merits and Ball One

Sunday Games Declared to be Not Against the Law

The court room held a large crowd of spectators this morning at 10 o'clock when the case of the State of Oregon vs. Al. Hampton, et al., where the defendants were charged with the crime of keeping open a place of amusement on Sunday last.

There were several women in the room, among whom were prominent church workers.

The ministers of the city present were Revs. B. F. Rowland, M. E. J. S. McCallum, Christian; H. A. Green, Baptist; and Chas. Woodward, Presbyterian.

Deputy District Attorney L. T. Harris, who prosecuted the case, was accompanied by Dr. J. S. Hale, elder in the Christian church, as private prosecutor of the defendants.

The jury was chosen, after being carefully questioned by the attorneys, Henry Hoffman, J. D. Matlock, and J. I. Phillips were excused for cause, and Mike Schneider, John Blanton, R. M. Day, Chris Marx, S. Y. Abbott and U. Simon were accepted as jurymen. Thompson & Hardy were counsel for the defendants.

It was evident that there was a bias on hand. The first witness was Dr. J. S. Hale, private prosecutor, who attended the Sunday game, and testified as to what he saw, etc.

Technical points of law were frequently raised, one of the most important of which was the disassociation of the individual defendants with the corporation they represented.

A recess was taken at noon. At this juncture it looked as if the defendants were in a good way to be freed.

At the convention of court, however, it was soon shown that the witness could not prove that there had been a crime committed by the individuals of the corporation.

Verdict for the Defendants.

At 2 o'clock the case was given to the jury, and they returned a verdict in seven minutes in favor of the defendants. The grounds for the verdict were in the fact that the evidence brought in that the defendants were acting as officials for a corporation was not allowed, because the complaint did not specify that they committed crime as officials of a corporation.

The test case is over. It means that Sunday baseball will be allowed on the Eleventh and Lawrence street grounds in the future.

First League Game.

The first league game will be played with Roseburg next Saturday afternoon. The second will be between the same teams Sunday afternoon.

For liver troubles and constipation there is nothing better in creation than Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. They always effect a cure and save doctor bills.

Little Early Risers are different from all other pills. They do not weaken the system, but act as a tonic to the tissues by rousing the secretions and restoring the liver to the full performance of its functions naturally. For sale by F. G. Haas, 90 State street.

This Is the Limit.

The doctors of Astoria are now talking of forming a trust or a union. It is all the swim. The National Medical Association is in session today at New Orleans, and the surprising fact is developed that Astoria has no membership, because her doctors are not organized. Last year a committee on by-laws was appointed, but there the move ended. Today the talking stage has begun. It would be a curiosity, that is if they could agree long enough to organize.

Kentucky Endeavorers.

Mayfield, Ky., May 8.—The convention of the Kentucky Christian Endeavorers to be held here during the three days beginning today promises to be one of the best as well as the most largely attended gatherings ever held by the state society. The movement has made gratifying progress during the last year and the delegates here represent nearly every part of the state. The program for the meeting is an interesting one and calls for addresses by a number of persons of prominence. The presiding officer is the Rev. F. M. Tindler, of Carlisle, and the secretary, Miss Alice Burgin, of Burgin.

A Postoffice Expert.

Mrs. Patti Lyle Collins, a southern woman, is said to be the best chirographical expert in the world. She is employed by the postoffice department in Washington, where she decipher some of the addresses of letters that would otherwise not reach their destination. Out of over 400,000 letters "dead," received every year, the system of delivery by her has been so perfected that the majority of them reach their destination in an astonishingly short while, and this without breaking the seals.

The Rocking Chair.

The amount of vitality that some women put into the rocking of a chair would surprise them if they were told of the wasted force. A woman will sit and make a backward and forward movement hour after hour and then wonder at the feeling of exhaustion that comes over her. There are some women who cannot occupy a rocking chair without keeping it constantly in motion. Every time that it is swayed to or fro it is a useless, a wasted giving out of strength.

Stained White Goods.

For removing stains from cuffs, aprons, dresses and other white goods a weak solution of chloride of lime is excellent. Dissolve a large tablespoonful of the lime in eight quarts of water and place the stained article to soak in the fluid. An occasional squeeze will facilitate the cleaning process, which will be found to have been accomplished in ordinary cases in twenty-four hours.

RING WORM AND DANDRUFF.

They are Each Caused by a Pestiferous Germ.

Ring worm and dandruff are somewhat similar in their origin; each is caused by a parasite. The germ that causes dandruff digs to the root of the hair, and saps its vitality, causing falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff there would never be baldness, and to cure dandruff it is necessary to kill the germ. There has been no hair preparation that would do this until the discovery of Newbro's Herpicide, which positively kills the dandruff germ, allays itching instantly and makes hair glossy and soft as silk. At all druggists. Take no substitute. There is nothing "just as good."

There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. Clark of White Plains, Ky., writes: "I have been a dyspeptic for years—throbbed with pain, indigestion, and was unable to eat. By the use of Kodol I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength, and can eat whatever I like. Kodol digests what you eat, and makes the stomach sweet. For sale by F. G. Haas, 90 State street."

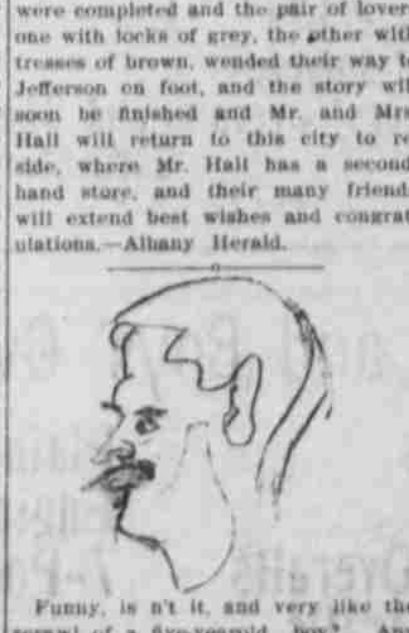

COURTSHIP ROMANCE WEDDING

Second Chapter of an Albany Love Story

Seek the License of the High Sea in Order to Wed

Yesterday morning we mentioned that Miss Charlotte Maxfield, a demure little miss of seventeen years was missing and it was suspected that she had eloped with an elderly gentleman. Yesterday it was learned that she and Otho Hall, the man in the case, had left town and went to Jefferson. From that place they were driven to Aumaville, where they took the train for Portland. Hall told a friend that they were going to Astoria and would be married on the high seas, outside of the jurisdiction of the state of Oregon. This was necessary as the girl was under age and her mother would not give her consent to the wedding. Now Dame Rumor has set afloat a pretty story concerning the courtship of mother and daughter. Hall is a widower, perhaps 55 years old, with a family of eleven children. His wife died some time ago, and he yearned and pined for a helpmate to share his woes and joys.

Mrs. Maxfield is a sprightly widow, perhaps well along towards the 40 mark, with all the necessary qualifications of a good and dutiful spouse. Otho, it can be surmised, smiled sweetly at Widow Maxfield and said nice things. He remembered his boyhood days, and with age and experience, wooed her with a zeal and vim unknown to the unsophisticated. He said nice things to the neighbors about her and they thought his love was reciprocated. But through that old weather-beaten course, where true love was never known to glide along without a ripple, came a sudden change. Mrs. Maxfield's daughter, Charlotte, either deliberately planned to win the affections of the widower, or else he dwelt long and deep on the beauties and brightness of May, as compared with the more mature and faded qualities of December, at any rate he had a fond longing in his heart for Charlotte and lost no time to unbosom himself to her. Just think of the dapper little crimson flush that must have painted her bashful cheeks when Otho, he of almost three-score years and with eleven strong, healthy offspring cuddled around his family, told his tale of adoration and bowed low to submit his pleadings and supplications! The mother objected but Otho vowed he would have her, even if they had to elope. Tuesday afternoon all plans were completed and the pair of lovers one with locks of grey, the other with tresses of brown, wended their way to Jefferson on foot, and the story will soon be finished and Mr. and Mrs. Hall will return to this city to reside, where Mr. Hall has a second-hand store, and their many friends will extend best wishes and congratulations.—Albany Herald.

Funny, is n't it, and very like the scrawl of a five-year-old boy? Any American schoolboy of ten would be ashamed to own such work; but the artist is no less a notable than his Royal Highness the Sultan of Morocco. In November of 1900 Arthur Schneider went to Morocco to act as the Sultan's instructor in drawing, and found his new pupil an impatient, wilful, grown-up child, who regarded the American artist as something of a magician, able to impart the power to paint without any long course of drudgery if only he would. The drawing here shown, reproduced from the May Century, was a sketch portrait of the artist-teacher made during one of the lessons; and, it is to be inferred, does not flatter an American citizen. Mr. Schneider remained in Morocco until March of 1902, and his royal pupil, all adverse conditions considered, really made surprising progress.

In the May Century Mr. Schneider gives an account of his long intimacy with the Sultan, an experience filled with interesting, if often trying, incidents. Mr. Schneider is now on his way back to Tangier. Whether he ever meets his royal pupil again will depend upon what conditions prevail when the journey's end is reached.

Mrs. Adair's Great Ball.

London, May 5.—This is the date set for the great fancy ball which Mrs. Adair, formerly of New York, is to give to inaugurate the London season, and "smart" society is on the qui vive in anticipation of the function. The affair promises to be one of the most notable of its kind seen in recent years and can be compared only to the famous fancy dress balls of the Duchess of Devonshire. The feature of the ball will be the quadrilles, each to represent a different nation. Of these one of the most interesting will be the Irish quadrille, in which the women dancers are to wear costumes copied from the gowns worn by the Irish Queens of Tara and the Princesses of Tyrconnel. Lady Harrymore has arranged this quadrille, and will, with her debutante daughter, be among those who will take part in it.
