CUNARD LINER UMBRIA

Escapes Destruction by Means of an Anonymous Letter

Dynamite Would Have Exploded in 36 Hours and Would Have Wrecked Her!

New York, May 9.—An anonymous letter, signed "Maña," was received at the police office today, declaring an infernal machine had been placed aboard the Cunard liner Umbria, which was to sail at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Detectives were sent to the pier, the vessel searched and a trunk found bearing evidence of containing the machine, which was thrown back on the pier. The bureau of combustibles sent a man to examine it, after which the steamer sailed. A box was found containing dynamite, which would have exploded in 36 hours. The box was left at the pier by an unknown expressman, whom the police are now trying to find.

Horse Stepped on Her Head. Madrid, May 9.—The Infanta Isabella, the King's aunt, while out horseback riding today, was thrown to the ground, and the horse trod on her head. She is badly injured.

Steamer Edith Inspected. Astoria, Or., May 9.—Government Inspectors Edwards and Fuller were in the city today, and inspected the steamer Edith, owned by J. G. Mogler, the Brookfield salmon packer.

Victoria Coal Strike. Victoria, B. C., May 9.—The engineers of the Cumberland mines have struck. Robin, the son of James Damsuir, and other officers, have gone to the scene, and will work as engineers.

Czoigos in the City. Los Angeles, May 9.—John Czoigos, brother of Leon, who killed President McKinley, was released from the city jail this morning. He was locked up before Roosevelt's arrival. He says he will bring suit against the city for false imprisonment.

The Omaha Situation. Omaha, May 9.—The strike situation is quiet, the strikers permitting many teams to run this morning. Both sides are preparing for an extended fight. The strikers are drawing a plan for a strike benefit. The business men are arranging for a big co-operative hotel to be occupied by non-unionists.

Strikes Are Increasing. St. Louis, May 9.—Five hundred conductors, brakemen, baggage men and gardeners on the Mobile & Ohio were ordered out at 10 o'clock this morning on a strike for increased wages. Wilkins, the head of the Order of Railway Conductors, and Leo, of

The Small of the Back

That is where some people feel weak all the time.

They are likely to be despondent and it is no unusual to find them borrowing trouble as if they hadn't enough already.

The fact is their kidneys are weak, either naturally or because of sickness, exposure, worry or other influences.

"I am thankful to say," writes J. L. Campbell, of Sycamore, Ill., "that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me. For many years I was troubled with backache. At times I was so bad I had to be helped from the bed or chair. I am now well and strong and free from pain." What this great medicine did for him it has done for others.

Saved Others, Drowned Himself.

New York, May 9.—Patrolman Jas. Howard, the winner of a score of medals for rescues and expert swimming, was drowned in six feet of water yesterday, near Randall's island. He took his two sons for a row, when a Sound steamer threw a swell, overturning the boat. He rescued one boy and dived for the other. He was entangled in weeds when the body was found. The youngest boy was also drowned.

An Immense Wheat Crop.

Portland, May 9.—Within less than 90 days wheat of the 1903 crop will be coming into Portland, although there is considerable activity in floating the remainder of the 1902 crop. The wheat business of Oregon, Washington and Idaho has grown into such proportions that it is no longer possible to move the entire crop in a few months in the fall and winter, as was the case a few years ago, and one season drifts into another almost without interruption. For this reason exporters have already begun figuring on the amount which they will be called on to handle when the new crop begins coming to market. There is a large element of chance in the business of exporting wheat, and to reduce this chance to the minimum, the men engaged in the trade, are now devoting their energies to securing the most accurate data possible regarding the condition of the crop, with a view to estimating as closely as possible on the probable out-turn.

There is plenty of time yet for rapid changes in conditions which may make these estimates all wrong, but it is one of the uncertainties with which the trade must contend. The operators are aware that a certain acreage and certain conditions one year ago at this time resulted in a crop of approximately 40,000,000 bushels of wheat, and the comparison of present conditions and the acreage now in with those of a year ago, are about the only things on which they can base their estimates. It might be said that, with so many chances against an accurate estimate, it would hardly seem worth while making the attempt, but with the exporters so much depends on advance knowledge or good guessing that they have all been receiving reports from their numerous agents in all parts of the three states. Long before the seed wheat from which will be grown some of the exportable surplus of the 1903 crop was in the ground, exporters had commenced chartering ships for handling it. Not because they had much faith in the freight market or in a big crop, but simply because it is almost a necessity that some ships should be and are headed in this direction in time to reach here for early loading.

A Narrow Escape.

W. D. Claggett's little daughter, Harriett, had a narrow escape from a horrible death by fire yesterday. The little girl found some matches, and, with another child, was playing with them in the front yard. Suddenly Lloyd Mott, who was standing in front of his home, across the street, was attracted by the screams of the child. He ran across the street to the little one, whose clothing was on fire, and, throwing his coat around her, succeeded in smothering the flames. His presence of mind not only saved the child's life, but the act was so quickly done that she was not burned in the least, and escaped with nothing worse than the scare of her life.

London, May 9.—Dispatches from Tokio say there is great disquiet throughout Japan over Russia's action. The dispatch adds that Japan has nothing but peaceful aims in the Manchurian matter, hence the Czar's action comes as a shock.

Pekin, May 9.—The officials at New Chwang, who sent yesterday's news of Russia's alleged action at New Chwang and elsewhere in Manchuria, today telegraphs that the occupation of the forts at the mouth of the Liao river was only temporary, the Russians having now withdrawn. Official circles here are much mystified, and say they have had but slight news of the affair.
