HON. BINGER HERMANN.
Election day, Monday, June 1st.

THE OLD DEBT RAISED.

With characteristic energy the people of Salem have helped raise the balance of the old debt that has hung over Willamette University.

All the subscriptions should now be promptly paid, and all the obligations cancelled.

There will doubtless be a shrinkage in these collections, and more interest has probably accumulated, and there may be a deficit.

There should be a prompt response to meet any such contingency, and let there be no old balance hanging over.

Of course it is assumed that no more debt shall be created, and that the school shall have a sound financial management.

Modern methods of business forbid the old dragging methods of bad farming in churches or schools, and cash in advance is a good rule.

President Coleman is to be congratulated on his great labors. He has proven himself to be the man for the place.

He should meet with the most hearty co-operation now of his church in raising the $100,000 endowment fund.

The business management of the school should push for five hundred students, and then the institution would be placed beyond the need of charity. Let us all work to that end, and we will be blessed in our labors.

SAFE RATE OF SPEED.

Joseph Pennell, a well-known artist and writer, in describing for the London Chronicle the recent automobile races in France, severely condemns the French government for failing to protect the highways from intrusion by curious people while the swift machines were speeding toward Madrid.

Everything depends upon the point of view. To most persons it would seem that a decent regard for human life should operate to keep automobilists from racing on public roads.

Such "sport" should be prohibited everywhere and the users of self-propelling vehicles be restricted to a safe rate of speed.

There's nothing now left of the election, but the "I told you so's."

NOW PUSH FOR SALEM.

The election is over, and now let everybody drop politics and push for Salem.

The Carnival number of The Journal goes out today, and from now on nothing will be left undone by this paper to make that a great success.

A free sample copy of this issue will go to every person receiving mail by the free rural delivery in the three counties centering at the state capital.

With big crops coming in at good prices, this will be a record-breaking year for Salem.

Greater Salem will grow by leaps and bounds before the present year is over.

Building is starting up in all the suburbs, and real estate is becoming active. All business will expand, and all will make money.

Progress is the imperative law of existence. Better conditions for all people, better wages for labor, better profits for business will result.

Let us lay aside all petty and narrow strife, and push singly and solely for the extension and upbuilding of this city.

HANNA VERSUS CLEVELAND. Of course, in all human probability, President Roosevelt will be renominated.

If he is renominated, he will be re-elected. He will get a large vote outside of the Republican party.

In a speech at Junction the editor of this paper made the above statement, and added: "Roosevelt is a dangerous man—to the Democratic party."

The Portland Journal, in its eminent desire to be fair in a political campaign, quoted the above, and left off the last four words.

That left the editor of this Journal in the attitude of making the anarchistic statement that Roosevelt is a dangerous man.

He is a dangerous man, not only to the Democratic party, but to Mark Hanna, and other ambitious men in the Republican party.

We look for secret manipulations henceforward to sidetrack Roosevelt, and pave the way for Mark Hanna's candidacy.

If, by accident or contingency, Roosevelt were disposed of as a candidate, Mark Hanna would seek the nomination at the hands of the Republicans, and Grover Cleveland would probably be the Democratic nominee.

That would be a political battle royal among heavyweights. There would be barrels of money spent on both sides.

A third party man, on the right platform, might beat either of them. But single-handed Mark would beat Grover.

THE CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION. The congressional election will be decided by the time this paper reaches its readers.

The Journal has made a fight from the shoulder for the man it believed should be elected—Hon. Binger Hermann.

The Journal is never half-hearted in any campaign. It is squarely for or against the main proposition.

It did not believe that Mr. Reames' position on the tariff, and as a Democratic nominee, would enable him to serve this district.

An independent candidate for congress The Journal might have supported—a man who could act with the majority in congress.

But with an uncompleted public building and grounds, with a river front closing up for want of government aid, and with an Indian school needing large appropriations, Hermann was indispensable to Salem.

If Salem sees fit, or if Marion county sees fit, under the circumstances, to help defeat the Republican nominee for congress, Salem will pay dearly, both from a business and political standpoint.

The Journal believes that Salem and Marion county will do the square thing in this election, as they have nothing to lose, and a great deal to gain by the election of Hermann.

The East is on the verge of a financial stringency, that good harvests may tide over.

The congress is already Republican, and will not seriously disturb business or industrial conditions at the short session in December.

The election of a Democratic congressman at this time would be a bad mistake for Western Oregon. The election of Hermann by a handsome majority is, in our opinion, the inevitable outcome of the campaign just closed.

If you have not yet voted when you read this, on the evening of election day, go and vote for Hermann. Polls open until 7 p. m.

JOURNAL X-RAYS.

Its dollars to doughnuts that Binger has the bun.

An exchange kicks because American tourists spend $100,000,000 annually in Europe. It forgets that the people on that side have to get money somewhere to buy our goods with.

It is claimed that a number of American officers have contracted temporary marriages with Filipino women. "Temporary marriages," as a descriptive term, deserves a place in the top notch of literary art.

Some of our exchanges are kicking because society women of the effete East take their dogs out riding, and prefer them to babies. They should remember that the babies have done nothing mean, and the kind of motherly love possessed by that kind of feminine is the variety that needs first to be tried on a dog.

The editor of the Seattle Times, speaking of H. W. Scott's visit to Seattle, on the occasion of the President's visit, says: "Col. Harvey W. Scott is one of the three ablest editorial writers of the day." It is plainly to be read between the lines that the editor of the Times is of the opinion, that the editor of the Seattle Times is—the other two.

The Astoria News, quoting Henry Hahn for authority, says there was enough names on the portage road referendum, but they were not filed at Salem, because the railroads feared the initiative on a maximum freight rate law, threatened by the Portland Chamber of Commerce. This is humor. Everyone knows the Portland Chamber of Commerce has not energy enough to file a hand saw.

GRANGERS SUPPORT HARRIS BILL

And in State Convention Declare for Direct Primary Law

Wednesday, the State Grange, in session at Oregon City, adopted a resolution declaring for the enactment of the Harris corporation tax law and also a direct primary law.

A resolution covering these objects was returned by the legislative committee in connection with its annual report.

State Master B. G. Leedy, Jacob Voraces and W. M. Hillberry, constituting the committee on legislation, submitted a report. They found more people at the state capital during the last session of the legislature than were interested in the equalization of the burdens of taxation than ever before.

The interests of the Grange, reported the committee, are greatly aided by the tax reform clubs throughout the state. Among the bills passed by the last legislature for which the Grange was working were the Eddy corporation tax law and Malarkey's inheritance tax measure.

"We failed in our effort to secure the passage of a bill to create the office of precinct or district assessor," says the committee, and provide for his election by the people. The principles of electing officers by direct vote is not popular with the legislators. After noting the defeat of Croilan's direct primary bill, the Harris, Malarkey and Davey corporation tax measures, the report concludes by stating that the Grange and property owners should not be discouraged because they had not accomplished all they had asked for in the way of legislation.

The committee held that the passage of all the measures mentioned above would have been secured "if the Grange had stood solidly by the principle that large and extravagant appropriations would be opposed unless increased sources of revenue should be created and thus relieve and not increase the burdens already heavy upon land and its improvements."

The report of the committee together with the appended resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the Oregon State Grange favors the enactment into law of House Bill No. 196, known as the Harris bill, and providing for an equal rate of assessment for the taxation of express, telegraph, telephone, railroads, Pullman or sleeping cars, refrigerator cars and oil companies, and to create a state board of appraisers and assessors for such purposes and prescribe their duties therefor.

Resolved, That the State Grange of Oregon is in favor of a primary law providing for direct nomination of candidates for public office."

Must Record Births, Deaths. It is necessary now to make official record of every birth and death. A new law that is already in effect requires every physician and midwife or head of the family to give notice by the end of the month to the county health officer of any birth that occurs under his or her charge. Every physician, midwife or head of the family must give notice to such health officers within forty-eight hours of every death. No burial can take place until a proper burial certificate has been made out and transmitted to the county health officer.

All these requirements are the result of the act creating the state board of health, which passed the last legislature. It contained an emergency clause and took effect upon its approval by the governor. It creates a county as well as a state health board. The county board is the county judge and the county physician.

To this officer must be reported all infectious diseases, deaths and causes thereof, place of burial of every person that dies in the county, and in the case of the birth of any child give names of parents, residence and occupation.

Fame's Eternal Camping Ground. The campaigns and battles of the civil war were on a scale of surpassing magnitude. There were more times extending over several days, in each of which the losses in killed and wounded on the federal side were greater than the aggregate of all our losses in all our other wars combined.

How paltry seem the 5000 killed and wounded in the war of 1812, or the war in Mexico, or the war with Spain, compared with the 14,000 at Shiloh, 15,000 at Chickamauga, 33,000 at Antietam, the same at Fredericksburg, 16,000 at Chancellorsville, 23,000 at Gettysburg, 16,000 at Chickamauga, 37,000 in the Wilderness and 25,000 at Spottsylvania. The grand aggregate of destruction fairly staggers the imagination accustomed as we have been for more than a generation to the figures: 93,000 killed by bullets, 184,000 killed by disease, 25,000 dead from other causes—a grand total of 304,000, about one in nine of every man who wore the uniform.

In no other war in all time has such respect been paid to the dead. Immediately after its close the secretary of war was directed by congress "to secure suitable burial places, and to have these grounds enclosed, so that the resting places of the honored dead may be kept sacred forever." In seventy-nine separate and distinct national cemeteries the bodies of nearly 300,000 soldiers who died during the civil war are interred, and the decoration of their graves with flowers on a fixed day has become a national custom.

Some of the cemeteries contain each a silent army of over 10,000 soldiers, in serried ranks marked by the white headstones, on nearly half of which is inscribed "unknown." The world may be searched in vain for anything similar or kindred; there is no other such impressive sight.

On fame's eternal camping-ground Their silent tents are spread; And glory guards, with solemn round, The bivouac of the dead.

"He Won't Die" Of consumption "is a remark often made of a fleshy man. The remark expresses the popular recognition of the fact that the sign of consumption is emaciation, loss of flesh. On the other hand, a gain in flesh is a sure sign that wasting diseases are being cured.

Emaciated people with obstinate coughs, bleeding lungs, night-sweats and weakness, have been perfectly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The several steps of the cure were recorded in ounces and pounds of increasing weight. When there is gain in flesh the wasting disease is being surely cured.

Mr. Will H. Whitmore, of Astoria, Rocking-ham Co., Va., writes: "Our son contracted a deep cold about the first of July, 1896, and had a terrible cough. We called a doctor and he pronounced it irritation of the bronchial tubes, with asthmatic trouble, and he informed me that my son was liable to die at any time. He told me that if we could keep the bronchial tubes open, he might cure him, but after treating him several weeks and my son growing worse all the time, I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets. I had seen several almost miraculous cures brought about by the use of these medicines, and of course had wonderful faith in them. He used three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' at home, and one of the 'Pellets,' and was then well enough to go to West Virginia, taking a supply with him. I am just in receipt of a letter from him from which I quote: 'I am well and hardly and getting very happy.'"

DR. J. F. COOK

Has come to the conclusion that all profession of the healing side of the vegetable kingdom is a failure. When your system is without pure blood. You will only find vitality in the vegetable kingdom. Poisonous drugs nor doctors' knives nor lightning will not remove the cause, but lay the foundation for disease. Those poisons go into your bones, and kill the life and create all kinds of diseases, cancerous tumors, consumption, bone diseases, etc. You must bear in mind that his medicine is a poisonous tonic, nor a stimulant, nor temporary relief which you blame the medicine, when it takes an effect and stirs up the disease in the system. You must not expect to be cured in a few days. Your sickness or disease has been a long time coming on, and it will take months to build a new body from the bones up. This is what the people understand. They are used to being humbugged. His medicine is composed of Nature's Herbs—what the human system requires. When you get sick they will help themselves to those herbs, for they have been a life study with Dr. Cook. Do not get weary; this life is too sweet to worry out of this world.
