MARK'S HAPPY THOUGHT

Told the Old Man to Watch and He Would

Other Breezy Stories Gathered from Everywhere for Benefit of Journal Family

(New York Tribune.)

Mrs. Samuel Clemens was Miss Olivia Langdon. For some years before she met Mr. Clemens she had been confined to her bed with what was believed to be an incurable disease; but she was at length miraculously restored to health: The cure was the sensation of Elmira, N. Y., and young Clemens, then a newspaper reporter, was sent to interview Miss Langdon on her recovery.

He obtained the interview for his newspaper, and brought back impressions of more value to himself.

Miss Langdon's parents were at first strongly opposed to the young newspaper man, and, for his part, his timidity, so it is solemnly said, stood in the way of the progress of the suit. But finally he screwed up courage to speak to Mr. Langdon, and one morning timidly entered his future father-in-law's private office, where the man was seated at work.

"Mr. Langdon—have—you—noticed anything—between—your—daughter—and—me?"

"No!" shouted the objecting parent, wheeling sharply around so as to get a full view of his visitor.

"Well," said the young man, as he turned to the door, ready for instant flight, "if you—keep—a—sharp—look-out—you—WILL!"

When Sandow poses and the muscles ridge his back and knot his arms, we think we have before us the very secret of strength in those magnificent muscles. But we haven't. Starve Sandow, or, what is practically the same thing, let him be dyspeptic, and his muscle would soon fail. Strength is made from food properly digested and assimilated, and no man is stronger than his stomach, because when the stomach is diseased digestion and assimilation are imperfect.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food so that the body is nourished into perfect health and strength.

"I had what my physician called indigestion. He gave me medicine for the trouble but it did me no good," writes Mr. W. H. Wells, of Willard, N. C. "I wrote to Dr. Pierce and stated my case. He sent me a descriptive list and hygienic rules. I carried out these as best I could, bought six bottles of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and commenced taking it. A few days later I noticed a great change. Felt like a new man. Before I began the use of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I suffered greatly with pain in stomach, my nerves seemed all 'run-down.' I was very thin in flesh, but now can eat heartily and sleep good at night."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send twenty-one one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or thirty-one stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The old-fashioned windmill stood Germany, as well as other European countries, in good stead for a long succession of centuries, and although abandoned for a short time in favor of other applications of power, is coming back again to furnish force to drive dynamos. For this there is demand enough to keep all the winds of the fatherland busy for many a year and generation to come, thus rescuing the ancient and picturesque windmill from the obliteration and forgetfulness which have of late seemed to await it.

The Philadelphia Press tells a story which illustrates well how queer things sometimes get into the mails. An elderly woman was seen the other day waiting patiently for a long time beside a mail box in Philadelphia. Finally a postman appeared and she explained to him the object of her wait. She had hurried to the box to mail a letter, and just as the deposit was about to be made she sneezed violently, dislocating her false teeth, which, catching in the same hand that held the letter, in her agitated absent-mindedness she placed in the post box by mistake. The postman returned her lost molars, and told her it was not unusual to find many odd things deposited in this way, which somewhat relieved the mind of the old woman, who, placing her teeth in position and thanking the carrier, hurried to her nearby home.

The little old steamship Beaver was the first steamer to ply the waters of the Pacific—and a very good case can be made out to prove her the first steamship to cross the Atlantic to America. The Royal William was the first steamship to cross the Atlantic from west to east. She was built at the yard of Campbell & Black in Quebec in the year 1830-31, was launched early in the spring of 1831 and was towed to Montreal to get her machinery. Subsequently she traded between Quebec, Halifax and Boston, and in 1833 crossed from Pictou to London, taking twenty-five days for the voyage. But the little Beaver made her voyage from the east westward. In London Tit-Bits it is stated: "The Steamship Beaver, built by the H. B. company, was the first steamer that dared to attempt to cross the ocean to America. The time occupied in the passage was 163 days. She landed safely at Astoria, in Oregon. Her boilers were made in Birmingham. Her engines cost $4,500 and weighed fifty-two tons."
