Local Events in the Social Realm

In Honor of Miss Giltner.

Miss Elizabeth Holmerson entertained a number of young ladies on Wednesday afternoon, complimentary to Miss George Giltner, who soon leaves to make her home in Portland. The young ladies all brought their sewing, and passed a very delightful afternoon.

PERSONALS.

James Winstanly is in Portland on business.
Miss Pearl Applegate left for Portland this morning.
Hugh Williamson has gone to Newport for an outing.
O. P. Hoff, of Portland, was a business visitor in Salem yesterday.
James McCourt and wife are spending a few days in Portland.
Charles Weller returned yesterday from his trip to the Sound country.
Geo. Irwin returned yesterday from several days spent at his mines near Albany.
Miss Gladys Farrar has returned from Portland, where she has attended school the past year.
Thad Young arrived from Walla

Walla, and, with his wife, is visiting at the home of H. S. Belle.

Governor Chamberlain went to Portland today to address the graduating class of St. Vincent's hospital.

A. R. Morgan, local manager of the Van Alstine Gordon Company, of this city is doing business in Portland.

Rex Turner entertained about 30 of his young friends on Friday evening at his home on Capital street. Chinese lanterns were hung in the trees on the lawn, making a very pretty scene. Various games were played by the young people, and they all voted Master Turner a capital host.

Hon. Tillman Ford is home from Eugene.

Watt Shipp returned yesterday from Toledo, where he spent a few days on his timber claim.

Mrs. Thomas Fennell, of Independence, spent yesterday visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. A. Jessup.

Mrs. A. A. Jessup returned yesterday morning from Monmouth, where she attended the commencement exercises of the State Normal School, of which she is an alumnus.

Dr. Charles T. Chamberlain came up from Portland yesterday morning for a brief visit to his father, Governor Geo. E. Chamberlain, and returned with him to Portland yesterday afternoon.

The Union ball team, composed of small boys, in charge of Capt. George Flagg, went to the reform school to play a match game with one of the reform school teams today.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson, who have been residents of Silverton, have rented Mrs. T. H. Hubbard's residence on Commercial street, and will occupy it in the near future. Mr. Nelson will open a stock of ladies' and gents' clothing and furnishing goods in the building recently occupied by the post-office.

John Albert and Fred Wiggins are at Newport for a few days.

Mrs. John McDonald is spending a few days at Newport.

Prof. Kerr returned today from Seaside.

Mrs. W. T. Williamson went to Newport today.

Miss Shelton's Recitals.

Miss Shelton's first recital, at the M. E. church, next Monday evening, promises to be a grand success. The assistants upon that occasion will be Mrs. Hallie Parrish-Hinges, Miss Bertha Hubbard, Miss Lillian Stege, the Ladies' Trio, composed of Mrs. J. Purvaine, Miss Church and Mrs. Wiggins. The program will be one of unusual quality, and will be of a pleasing character.

On Tuesday evening the second recital will take place, and will be assisted by Miss Bertha Kay, reader; Miss Dagmar, violinist, of Portland. The program will, if anything, excel that of Monday evening. All are invited. No admission.

SACRED HEART PUPILS

Give a Grand Entertainment at the Opera House

Three Act Drama With Some Very Difficult Parts Was Excellently Rendered

Preceded by fine music by the Chemawa band, a beautiful song and drill, "My Own United States," by 20 girls of the Academy, and a piano sextette, the musical and literary program was introduced Friday evening at the Grand Opera House.

The vocal trio by nine girls, accompanied by tiny Miss Evelyn Wood, was very fine, and created great enthusiasm for the performers. Another drill by a regiment of little girls and middle-sized girls and larger girls—all kinds of girls—was entitled "Souvenir of 1903," and then followed the principal number of the evening, "Rebecca's Triumph," a drama in three acts. The important parts were taken by Miss Adelaide Looney, as "Rebecca," a founding—a star part and very well carried out. Mrs. Rokeman, a lady of wealth and fine manners, by Miss Matilda Eckerlen; Goldie Goulet, as the spinster, furnished the fun of the evening, and the young lady seemed born to the stage; Crazy Meg, by Miss Ruby Goulet, was also very fine.

Miss E. Powell, as Katie Conner, the Irish maid of Mrs. Rokeman, was unable to get along at all harmoniously with Mrs. Delaine's colored servant, taken in an inimitable manner by Miss Olive McGee. The part of the old lady—Mrs. Delaine—was excellently carried out by Miss Lebold. Of the ladies' club Misses Sutherland and Mary Eckerlen took the leading parts, the others being taken by Misses Calbreath, Allen, Brinkley, Miles, Anderson, Beach and Pettyjohn. The instrumental program was closed by the gallop "Brilliant," a piano four-in-hand, and a beautiful sacred tableau concluded the most successful school talent production ever given in this city.

The program was one of the best of the many recitals given during the commencement season, and a large audience left the theater well pleased with the evening entertainment.

The music, both instrumental and vocal was good, and the vocal trio received hearty applause.

The cooking club was as natural a lot of girlish girls as one cares to see. Miss Olive McGee was a typical colored girl, and she never forgot the dialect during the action of the play.

The managers of this girl's school are certainly very thorough in their training, for there was not a hitch in all this difficult and varied entertainment. With the exception of the little defect in time kept by the piano sextette, there was not a flaw in the performance. All the girls knew their parts to perfection, and had an easy stage presence.

You can buy your fruit jars cheaper at The Fair Store than any place else in the city.
