Woodburn Wedding.

Miss Harriet I. Ramage was united in marriage with J. M. Jones near Woodburn Sunday, in the presence of a large circle of friends. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Jones, of Brooks, and the bride is a well known teacher of the county. The wedding march was played by Miss Laura Hayes, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. Kantner, of this city, Mrs. Kantner being also present. Besides immediate relatives of the contracting party, there were present Mr. and Mrs. Nendell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter, Charles Seeley, Mr. and Mrs. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Colgan and family, David Ramage and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Fletcher, Mrs. W. C. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. H. Jones, J. R. Colgan and family, John Colgan and Mr. Hayes.

PERSONALS.

Hon. Jefferson Myers arrived in this city last night on business.

U. S. District Attorney Hall, of Portland, is in the city today.

Mrs. North Cherrington, of Dallas, is visiting relatives in Salem.

Mrs. J. M. Paterson, of The Dalles, is a guest of Mrs. G. W. Gray.

W. T. Gray, of Portland, was a business visitor in Salem yesterday.

Mrs. W. G. Wood, of Albany, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. R. Whitney.

George Rhodes, insane, was received at the asylum today from Lake county.

Miss Edith Hoffman, of Eugene, is the guest of Mrs. Dr. Berry, at the Wilamette.

Miss Fay Rosenstein, of Portland, is spending Carnival week with Mrs. Ray Gilbert.

Dr. Geo. Russell left this morning for Silverton for a few days' visit with his parents.

J. C. Burgraf, of Albany, was a Salem visitor yesterday, returning to Albany this morning.

Miss Cecelia Haines and her guest, Miss Gumbert, of Portland, went to Chemawa for the day.

Miss Faye Rosenstein and Mrs. John McCracken, of Portland, are the guests of Queen Agnes I.

Miss Edna Irvine, of Corvallis, who has just returned from a winter spent in Boston, is a guest of Miss Mable Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Thad Young and daughter, Thelma, of Walla Walla, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs.

H. S. Belle, left yesterday for their new home in Tacoma.

A. C. Woodcock attended the opening of the Carnival, and was delighted with the demonstration of local enthusiasm. He said, on leaving, that a new spirit had certainly got hold of Salem, when all the people would turn out and meet the public from other towns in a whole-hearted and hospitable fashion. "Salem has struck a gait that will make it Greater Salem sure enough, and I am glad to see it. It is something you have needed for a long time, to get your people out of their shells of conservatism."

A Horse With Toes

A new freak has arrived today to be with the Mid-Summer Carnival Company for the remainder of the week. This wonderful animal has toes on his front feet measuring from 12 to 14 inches in length. He is also double jointed in every joint, and is no doubt the greatest curiosity in the equine world. This animal was greatly admired by Mrs. Stanford, who made a standing offer of $5000 for him. Another wonderful animal that arrived today is the smallest ox in the world. It is a sacred ox from India, and is the smallest known, weighing only 160 pounds. This animal is 30 years old, and has brands on his sides, having been placed there by the various tribes where he was worshiped in past years. They believe that to touch the hump on this animal's back meant three years of good luck, and it is believed many millions have placed their hands on that hump. Everybody should see these wonderful animals, and scores of other natural phenomena.

Famous Band Leader Dead

London, June 30.—Dan Godfrey the famous leader of the Grenadier band, which repeatedly toured America, is dead, aged 72 years.

Roosevelt to See the Race

Oyster Bay, June 30.—President Roosevelt has decided to witness the first cup race, and leaves with his family aboard the Sylph the evening of July 19th. Governor Hunt, of Porto Rico, General Long and Bissell were his guests at luncheon today. The parishoners of St. Dominick's Catholic church are making great preparations for an open-air celebration, to be had by the Holy Name Society, of Long Island, at Oyster Bay July 26th. Father Power, who is in charge, has invited Roosevelt to make an address at the meeting, which he has practically accepted.

Pittsburg, June 30.—Physicians this morning say the two victims of yesterday's elevator accident at the Reins plant will probably die within a few hours. Nine other victims are still in the hospital.

A suit was begun in Justice Horgan's court today, in which A. D. Palmer is plaintiff and the Salem Canning Co. defendant. The plaintiff alleges in the complaint that he delivered the defendant cherries to the total value of $15.39, and that the defendants have not paid for the same.

The defendant has until July 8th in which to appear.

DIED.

WHITE.—At the family home in West Salem, July 30, 1903, Leon L. White, aged 20 years.

The deceased was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Sim H. White. He was taken sick at Kent, Washington, some weeks ago.

Funeral Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the family residence, Rev. Olfie officiating.

Thinks of Others

The happiest visitor in all the throng at the Carnival opening last night was Mrs. Fay Rowley, of Portland. She had come here the latter part of last week to take the Magic Liquor Cure treatment for morphine, she having become a perfect morphine fiend through using the drug years ago while sick. In two days she was completely cured, and, although her treatment had been absolutely confidential, as all treatments are, most of them being given at the homes of the patients, she was so gratified at having been freed from the health and mind-wrecking power of the drug that she gave permission for the use of her name before leaving for her home, so that others might know that there was hope even for a morphine fiend.
