HOPS AND THE MARKET

Crop Looking Much Better Than a Month Ago

General Conditions Improved Everywhere—New York and Oregon Each Given 70,000 Bales

The local hop market shows a slight revival, and sales made in the last few days show that the inquiry for hops from Eastern buyers is a trifle better than it has been. Growers are anxious to sell, as the harvest of the new crop draws steadily nearer, and the result is that sales are reported from several districts, and some of the heavier holders among the growers are unloading their holdings, while they have an opportunity to do so at good figures. B. O. Schueking has purchased two crops in the last few days, at good figures, and other sales are reported. Mr. Schueking bought the "Breeze" Gibson lot, in Polk county; 83 bales, at 16 1/2 cents, and he also secured the Porter Magnus crop; 54 bales, at 16 1/2 cents, both lots being among the best remaining in the state. Herman Uchtman has also bought several lots in the north end of the county at from 16 to 17 cents, among them 178 bales of Wm. Kay, 127 bales of Hofer & Zorn and the J. Miller crop of 78 bales at Gaston. This is the buyer who made the attempt to secure a pool for the London market, and James Winstanley, local representative of the Oregon Hop-Growers' Association, went to Portland last evening to see further regarding the formation of the pool.

The growing yards are reported to be in excellent condition, and the favorable weather conditions of the past few weeks have brought them out in the best shape. The yards on the lowlands, which some weeks ago were reported as looking anything but satisfactory, have lately surprised all observers, and they now look exceedingly well, and promise a far better yield than the most sanguine had hoped to see, while the yards on the higher levels are also much improved, and promise a bountiful yield. In fact, the Oregon crop, at least the one in this section of the Willamette valley, promises to be a very good one, and many hop men now look for a full crop, some of them predicting as large a yield as that of last year, while the conservatives do not place their figures below 70,000 bales.

In about two weeks, when the hops will be in the burl, a much better estimate can be made of the prospective crop than can be done now, but the splendid growth enjoyed by the vines and arms promises a bountiful yield, and owners of yards are much encouraged with the outlook.

During the spring many reports were made of missing hills, and many yards did show spots that were somewhat thin. These missing hills are still missing—nothing else could be expected—and they will cut down the production of those particular yards to a certain extent, but some of this loss will be made up by the greater production of those hills that had their full growth, and in which case a proper training of the vines from neighboring hills over the vacant spots will cause these healthy vines to produce a heavier yield than usual, thus making up for some of the short-coming, while the remainder of the loss will be largely covered by the yield of new yards that will produce their first crops this year, and there is a generous supply of this class.

Reports from other hop sections regarding this year's crop are encouraging, and the prospects almost everywhere point to a bountiful harvest. The Producer's Price Current, of New York, one of the most reliable publications, in discussing market and crop conditions in its issue of last Saturday, says of hops:

Receipts for week.....	275
Exports to Europe for week.....	79,157
Imports from Europe for week.....	36,639
Imports from week.....	None
Imports from Sept. 1st.....	12,525

Country advices have come a little lower this week. The best of the New York state hops now left in the growers' hands can be bought at 19c; there are probably not more than 2000 of these unsold, but they are moving very slowly. The prospect of nearly twice as many hops as were grown in New York last year makes farmers a little anxious to dispose of remaining stocks. On the Pacific coast the choicest lots can now be bought at 18c, and a prime grade at 17c. The yards in Oregon and Washington look exceedingly fine. In California it is still dry and estimates of the output for the state have been reduced somewhat. The giving way on the part of growers has affected the position here somewhat, and our market is about 1c lower, and a little unsettled. There is not much pressure to sell because stocks are very moderate and well controlled, but trade is very quiet. Brewers are very indifferent buyers, but are watching the crop prospects with much interest. Cable reports from Germany indicate a very bright prospect for the crop. Vermin has appeared in Bohemia, which threatens some damage. Some of the English yards have improved under heavy washing, but there is still more or less vermin, and some apprehension that damage may result.

Prices range for Pacific coast hops from 13 to 22 cents, according to quality. The Waterville (N. Y.) Times and Hop Reporter, in its issue of July 10th, says of the conditions of the hop market and yards in that section:

"We noted last week that two or three of the few holders of hops had let go, and this week there are others, among them being Frank Cody, of Vernon, 100 bales at 18c, and Herbert Sturtevant, 12 at 20c. In the main favorable reports are heard from the yards. There is, however, a spotted condition prevalent even in the same yards, and there is a great difference between yards in the same neighborhood. Some are light and spindling, while others look thrifty and vigorous. Lice have made their appearance in many of the yards, but it is believed that this hot weather will kill them off to a great extent."

A Prejudiced Man Is Not Just to Himself

Plymouth Binder Twine

For the fifth consecutive year this implement house has handled this now well known and popular twine. We have just received a 30,000 lb car of it and are making deliveries and filling back orders. So far as we know this is about the only Eastern brand of twine to be had hereabout and all we ask is that you make an honest comparison of quality, by trying a ball of it in your binder and a ball of any other make on the market, and then be your own judge as to results. If you are too much prejudiced to do this you are not just, even to yourself. Many of the best customers we have today are men who have bought Plymouth only after trying it in comparison with the coast twine.

PLYMOUTH STANDARD—Is a very smooth even twine and the balls have a red tag, marked "Plymouth Cordage Co." over a sheaf of wheat, and "Standard" on the other side.

PLYMOUTH PURE MANILA—Is as different from the ordinary Manila as can be. We have this as well.

There is absolutely no comparison of the ordinary "Standard" or "Manila" with the Plymouth, and this is the only house in Salem that carries the Plymouth.
 Call and see us.

McCormick Binders

If you'll make an honest comparison of points of merit on the McCormick and other machines, forgetting all about any $2.50 difference in price that may prevail, you cannot fail to note the saving in buying a McCormick. If length of life, economy in power, efficiency in the field and saving in time chasing after repairs, count for anything, we can do you good. All sorts of repairs for binders of all ages always on hand. That's worth considering. Our binder orders are ahead of any season for several years. Ask the McCormick users what they think of them.

A Birdsell Clover Huller

Will make more money for the thresherman than any similar investment he could place. He can own and operate one after his threshing run and keep his machine in good use for 60 days instead of 30. Call and see the hullers or drop us a card for catalogs and prices.

Studebaker Wagons

To haul your fall crops. Plenty of all sizes on hand and a car on the way. When you're ready to talk wagon get a tape, do some measuring of spokes, felloes, reaches, bolsters and hubs. It's interesting to note that in many of these vital places a Studebaker 3 inch wagon is as large as some other 3 1/2 sizes.
