

TROUBLE FOR THE HEBREWS

Kishineff Petition will Act as a Boomerang

Russians Will Further Persecute Jews to Show Their Opinion of America's Interference

Liverpool, July 23.—The Post today has a long article predicting trouble ahead for the Jews in Russia, as a result of the Kishineff petition. It says there is grave displeasure among the ruling classes, who desire to show America they are uninfluenced by the recent correspondence. They expect to enact more rigid expulsion laws, sending all Jews from Moscow and St. Petersburg, and to increase their taxes.

Killed a Union Striker

Chicago, July 23.—Robert Kuter, a union striker, was shot and fatally injured this morning by Adolph Ehnman, who was in charge of the body of non-unionists going to work at the Charles Ehnman Company's metal factory. Adolph is a brother of the factory owner. Demonstrations have been made against the non-unionists for several days, and they were particularly active this morning. The police arrived and prevented a lynching. Ehnman was arrested and held without bail.

Celebrate Labor Day Americans

Labor Day promises to be well observed in Salem this year, the committee in charge of the celebration having decided to prepare an excellent program for the occasion. All the various labor unions of the valley will be invited to participate in the celebration, and the unions of the city are asked to assist in making the day a most successful one. A fine program of sports will be arranged, to be held at the C. A. C. baseball park, and a general good time is promised.

Guarding the Witness

Jackson, Ky., July 23.—Under an escort of troops Captain Ewen left here this morning. He will remain out in the country until Sunday, when he will go to Cynthia to testify against Jett and White.

THE OLD YACHT SAUCY

Columbia Jollies the Reliance and Skips Away

Sails Around the Defender and Goes off in the Fog Ahead of Her

Newport, July 23.—The yacht club today races for the Astor cup. Three 90-footers will also be sent over the 48-mile course for a special prize. The weather conditions are not of the best.

The official start was at 11:47 in a boiling sea and an eight-knot breeze blowing steadily. The Constitution failed to get a new mast in time to participate. The start was one of the bitterest ever witnessed. Commodore Morgan had the Columbia's wheel and Barr that of the Reliance. When the warning gun sounded jockeying for position commenced. Barr carried the Reliance upon the Columbia and threw her over on the weather quarter. When they sailed off the Reliance hung onto and followed the Columbia, who came out sharply and stood for the line. The Reliance followed backward and forth repeatedly until the Columbia suddenly shot across the line. Barr was so close to the committee boat that he couldn't tack, and was compelled to take the Columbia's wake 45 seconds later. At 12 o'clock the yachts approached each other on the opposite tack, when the Columbia easily crossed the Reliance's bow. It seemed anybody's race when the two disappeared in the haze off Point Judith.

At 2:45, at the second mark, the Reliance had a big lead over the Columbia, and was constantly pulling away.

Americans Make Showing

Berlin, July 23.—German-Americans in the pan-German contest at Nuremberg, are making a great showing. 22 have won two or more prizes, while at the close all are close contestants.

Employee is Fired

Washington, July 23.—It is believed that Miller won't take advantage of the President's order, and return to work in the book binding department of the government printing office, thus avoiding a strike. President Barrett, of the book binders' union, today submitted a statement to Cortelyou, bearing on the charges which resulted in Miller's expulsion from the union.

SALT LAKE QUAKES

Two Shocks Set the Saints Sorely Shivering

Ogden Followers of the Great Prophet Get Out of the Dormitories in Airy Costume

Salt Lake, July 23.—Reports from different portions throughout the state indicate there were two earthquake shocks this morning, and that they were universally felt. In Ogden some people rushed into the streets in their night clothes, but no serious damage is reported on that account.

Arrest a Bad Negro

Dallas, Tex., July 23.—Julius Robinson, alias "Hubby," said to be the worst negro criminal in America, has been captured here. He is wanted for killing a policeman in Chicago, killing a policeman in Denver and killing a citizen at Fort Worth, Texas. He came here from California, where he is also wanted for minor crimes.

Great Writer Passes Over

London, July 23.—R. L. Farjeon, the novelist, died suddenly at his residence on his homestead this morning, from a ruptured blood vessel. His wife was the daughter of Joseph Jefferson, the actor.

For Jett and White

Cynthia, Ky., July 23.—Jett and White were brought here from Lexington this morning. Their arrival was entirely unexpected, hence there was no demonstration. Their second trial for the murder of Marcum begins Monday.

Robbed the Church

Mount Angel, Or., July 23.—Last night thieves entered the beautiful St. Mary's church here, pried open and badly damaged the tabernacle. The ciborium and the golden lunula were stolen; of the hosts, some were taken and some were scattered around.

The Regiment That Lost Most

(Eastern Argus.) Major Charles J. House, clerk in the office of the labor commissioner, and Captain Horace H. Shaw of Portland have about completed the history of the First Maine heavy artillery, which was mustered into service in Bangor August 21, 1862.

The history of the First Maine heavy artillery is of special interest from the fact that it lost more men than any other of the 4000 regiments of the civil war, a total of 441, as against the second heaviest loser, the Eighth New York heavy artillery, with a record of 361.

The loss of this Maine regiment at Petersburg was the heaviest of any regiment in a single action, the number killed and subsequent deaths from wounds being 242, against 207 in the Eighth New York at Cold Harbor. The Maine loss of 155 at Spottsylvania was the third heaviest of any regiment in a single action. There were 2300 men originally enlisted in this Maine regiment, 219 hailing from Bangor.

The loss to the regiment during the 36 days from May 19 to June 18, 1864, inclusive, was 404 killed, 789 wounded and 15 taken prisoners, making a total loss in this short period of 1208.

During the three day's battle of Petersburg the Second army corps, composed of 84 regiments and four batteries, lost 59 commissioned officers, 14 of whom, or almost 24 per cent, were officers of the First Maine heavy artillery. In the two battles of Spottsylvania and Petersburg a total of 746 members of the regiment were wounded. At the four engagements of Cold Harbor, Boynton Road, siege of Petersburg and Deatonville, there was a total of 317 wounded. The greatest number taken prisoner at any time was at Jerusalem Plank Road, June 22, 1864, when 22 went off with the enemy.

There are 537 survivors scattered over various sections of Maine and Massachusetts, a few having drifted to the West and South. The only field officers now living above the rank of captain are Major C. V. Crossman of Bangor and Brevet Brigadier General Charles Hamlin, reporter of decisions.

THIRD RUNS SECOND

Old Shamrock Out-sails the Challenger

Some Doubt as to Challenger's Ability to Beat Shamrock First

Highlands, July 23.—Lack of wind delayed the start of the Shamrocks in today's spin. The Third crossed at 12:50, and the old boat three minutes later. The course was 31 miles. The challenger will be taken to Eric basin Saturday afternoon. Sir Thomas Lipton will be General Corbin's guest at West Point Sunday.

At 2 o'clock Shamrock I blanketed the challenger, then the challenger caught a fluky wind and passed the First. At 2:50 the old boat caught the wind, passed around the challenger and went around the outer mark and crossed the challenger's bow.

The King Popular

Dublin, July 23.—Of the many persons who attended the brilliant court held today by the king and queen probably not one recalled the interesting fact that it was exactly one hundred years ago, on the evening of July 23, 1803, that Robert Emmet sallied forth with his armed band to attack Dublin castle, in which today's fugitive was held. The insurgents on the way met in Thomas street the carriage of Lord Kilwarden, the Lord Chief Justice of Ireland, who was dragged out of his carriage and received wounds which proved fatal.

Dublin, July 23.—The king reviewed 16,000 troops today. There were great crowds and a brilliant sun. Two officers were unhorsed and kicked by their mounts, neither of them seriously hurt.

Board Meets Once Again

Pottsville, Pa., July 23.—The miners' conciliation board again met today to consider 32 grievances in the Schuylkill district.

Ted and Teddy in the Rain

Oyster Bay, July 23.—President Roosevelt and Teddy started across the island at 2 o'clock this afternoon on horseback in an exceptionally heavy rain.

Officers Got Diplomas

Fort Leavenworth, July 23.—The annual graduating exercises of the United States general service and staff college took place today. Seventy of 85 officers received diplomas.

Stocks are Ragged

New York, July 23.—The stock market closed ragged and weak.

COUNTY COURT NOTES

Judge Scott Gets Busy and Makes Many Orders

County Judge Scott this afternoon appointed Frank Parrish, husband of the late Addie A. Parrish, as administrator of the estate of deceased. The estate consists of a legacy of $200, and the heirs are the husband, Lawrie, a daughter, aged 17 years, and Jesse and Jack, two sons, aged 16 and 13, respectively. Mrs. Parrish died July 13, 1899, and the family reside at Jefferson. Mr. Parrish filed his bond for $400.

A. F. Hofer, Jr., administrator of the estate of Julius Rief, deceased, presented his final account, and the court fixed the time for hearing the same for Friday, August 21st, at 10 a. m. Annie Stute, administrator of the estate of John Stute, filed her final account this morning, and the time for hearing the same was fixed for September 1st, at 10 a. m.

LOOK AT THE POPE

Crowds of Curious Take a Farewell View

Italian Government Sends Troops as Guard of Honor to the Greatest of the Pope

Rome, July 23.—At 6 o'clock this morning the doors of St. Peter's were thrown open. From that time until 3 o'clock this afternoon a constant crowd took the last look at the remains of Leo. At 3 o'clock the doors were again closed, only those especially invited being admitted between 4 and 5 o'clock this evening. The same program will be carried out tomorrow and Saturday as well. No one remained in the square over night, but at daybreak they began to assemble, and 1800 were crowding against the barriers when 6 o'clock struck. Three companies of Italian grenadiers debouched from the Vatican portico, where they had been waiting. One entered the portico, while the other two formed lines of barrier from the gates to the cathedral door. Inside the cathedral 50 carabinieri of crack patrols, aided by the gendarmes, kept the crowd moving. It was a typical Roman crowd, chattering gaily, and few showed signs of mourning. When the gates opened crowds of boys and men raced up the steps at the top of their speed, but all was decorous inside, however. The catafalque was so placed that the pontiff's feet were inside the railing. Some were disappointed because they could not pay the usual homage by kissing them. The pontiff was fully robed. Noble guardsmen are at each corner of the catafalque, with the Palestine guards on each side. The Swiss guards are in the rear, only a railing dividing them from the blue-coated Italian troops. All antagonism between the church and state is temporarily forgotten in the mutual honor to the dead. Five more companies of troops and an ambulance corps are added to the outside guards, but the latter are not needed. The crowd is ten times greater than at the Easter jubilee. The crowd, however, is far below that expected. At 12:30 the heat became so great that the crowd began to dwindle. Restrictions at the entrance were not longer necessary, and all passed in and out as they pleased. Some comment was caused because the crowd was so much smaller than that which attended the funeral of Pius IX. The difference is accounted for by the authorities by the fact that political feeling has died out, the intense heat and the absence of tourists.

Manchester, July 23.—The Guardian's Rome correspondent learns privately that the Pope's nephews have been quickly made to feel the difference in their position now that their illustrious relative is dead. One nephew gave a card to some country friends to view the remains, but the officials informed the bearer that he must bring a more influential introduction. The officials at the Vatican show a marked desire to make the nephews conscious that they are of no importance.

Not so Bad as Was Claimed

Patterson, N. J., July 23.—Two thousand men are cleaning the streets from the effects of yesterday's tornado. The results were grossly exaggerated. Three were killed and possibly 100 injured, but all the latter will recover. The first reports stated the property loss was a million. Today it is estimated it won't exceed a quarter of a million.

Same Old Train Wreck

Fort Worth, Tex., July 23.—Report comes that two San Luis & Potomac freights met in a head-end collision near there today on the Mexican Central. Three trainmen and three tramps were killed.

Russia Can Borrow Coin

St. Petersburg, July 23.—Russia has arranged with French capitalists for a twenty-six million dollar loan.
