KEENE FALLS DOWN

Meets Bad Defeat in a Wall Street Battle

Has Seen Many of the Ups and Downs in the Fights Between the Bulls and Bears

New York, July 25.—The stock market opened feverishly, and fell away from last night's closing prices. The principal losses in stocks are directly connected with yesterday's failures. For the first time in his long, checked career, Keene today showed the effects of his defeat. The market again became wild at the close, and there were many violent changes. The disorder continued until the end. At closing it was nervous and irregular. Standard Oil stock fell from six to five eighty on the curb just before the close, making a net loss of 100 points in two days.

CONTROL COAST LUMBER

Harriman and Others Join Forces With Hill

Own Immense Tracts of Timber in Oregon, Washington and in California

San Francisco, July 25.—Frederick Weyerhaeuser, E. H. Harriman, T. B. Walker and Jacob Bidgett have joined forces with Jas. Hill, and through this combination will practically control the production on this coast of all lumber. E. W. Eberlin, their agent, took the government figures for timber now standing, and bought through their agents until now these five, with minor associates, have the Western lumber market in their hands. Weyerhaeuser was the means of getting Harriman and Hill together on the deal. Harriman's lands go into the combine with the provision they are to protect the company's credit, which is pledged to S. P. creditors.

STOLE POPE'S RING

Famous Fisherman's Circlet Just Disappears

Lost the Night of the Pope's Death and no One Admits Touching it

New York, July 25.—The Herald's Rome correspondent cables the following: The ring of the fisherman, which should have been found on the hand of the Pope, has disappeared. It is not so much a question of its material as of its intrinsic value, for the ring of the fisherman is used to seal the papal bulls, and is the outward sign of authority of the Pope.

When the cardinal camerlengo certifies to the death of a Pope, he takes the ring of the fisherman from the chamberlain of his holiness. It is then destroyed in the presence of all cardinals, at the first meeting of the sacred college after the Pope's death. But when Cardinal Oreglia, the present camerlengo, had certified to the death of Leo XIII, Monsignore Bisletti was a prey to the deepest despair, and had to admit that the ring had disappeared. Cardinal Oreglia, who had, as is the custom, brought his declaration of having received the ring from the papal chamberlain, all written out, had to put it back in his pocket.

Monsignore Bisletti can have no indication as to the robber. The theft must have taken place between the death of the Pope and the morning of the following day, when Cardinal Oreglia officially certified to his death. During this time a large number of persons entered the death chamber. The disappearance of the ring has caused a tremendous sensation at the Vatican, where it is the sole subject of conversation. In the meantime in the certificate of death of Pope Leo XIII all allusion to receiving the ring has been suppressed.

Friends of Monsignore Bisletti hope that when the seals are removed from the cabinet of the late Pope the ring will be found in one of them, but very little confidence is felt. The ring should never have left the Pope's hand.

General Davis Retires

Washington, July 25.—Major General George W. Davis, commanding the division of the Philippines, will be placed on the retired list tomorrow by operation of the age limit. Several important changes and promotions among high army officers follow as a consequence of his retirement and the eventual result will be to place Brigadier General Wood in command of the Philippines in a short time. The retirement of Gen. Davis places Major General James F. Wade in command of the Philippines and promotes Brigadier General Samuel S. Sumner to the vacancy in the grade of major general. Major General Wade is now second in command in the archipelago and Sumner is next to Wade. Both these veteran officers have been in the Philippines for nearly three years, Sumner having had service in China under Chaffee before going to the islands. In recognition of their long service Wade is to be brought home and assigned to the command of a department. The same course will be followed in the case of Sumner, thus leaving General Wood the senior military officer and in supreme command.

Paris, July 25.—The Sofia correspondent of Patrie wires an interview had with the president of the Bulgarian chamber, in which he is quoted as saying that owing to the general discontent in the country, the crown would be in imminent danger after the next election. A revolution will be proclaimed, unless the Liberals are victorious. In Ferdinand's departure is read the signs of the times. He was badly frightened by numerous anonymous threats, although no actual plot exists.

LAST DAYS OF LEO

Remains are Already Prepared for Interment

Decomposition Taking place so Rapidly That Remains are Barely Recognizable

Rome, July 25.—Today is the last that the public will be permitted to view the Pope's remains. The doors were opened at 6 o'clock, as in the last two days, but were closed at noon to permit preparations for the interment. Although the crowd was smaller than yesterday, there was a continuous stream. The remains present anything but a pleasant appearance, as they are now scarcely recognizable. It is considered lamentable that the exhibition was permitted to continue today. The people had barely a fleeting glance, as they were not allowed to pass as near the catafalque as before. The reception of the diplomatic corps to the Vatican, by the College of Cardinals, was held at 11 o'clock, in the hall of the consistory. Anteus Portugal, dean of the corps, made a short speech, conveying the condolences of the powers and the whole civilized world. Oreglia thanked him for the sympathy so generously given.

Oreglia eulogized the late pontiff, and prayed for inspiration in the choice of his successor. The reception ended without the presentation of any note on the subject of power, or mention of any political subject. The unique feature was, that as all the cardinals were of equal power, the diplomatists kissed the hand of each, bending low, whereas, they formerly kissed the hand of the Pope only.

Rome, July 25.—The remains of Leo were temporarily placed in St. Peter's at 7 o'clock this evening, the cardinals and prelates conducting the ceremonies, which were very impressive. First came the monks of St. Peter's chanting the miserere. The cardinals met the monks, raised the coffin to their shoulders, and the procession advanced all chanting and winding through the church, and passing before Peter's tomb and chapel. Here there was a moment of silence, when the chant was suddenly changed into the psalm, a few drops of water were sprinkled on the remains, and the last absolution was pronounced. The pontifical ornaments, all medals given the Pope, also a scroll, telling the principal events of his pontificate, were placed in the coffin. The face and hands were covered with a veil, and then, amid the recitation of the final benediction, the coffin was placed within one of lead, and sealed by the major domo. This was appropriately inscribed, and the whole placed within an outer wooden box of elm wood, which was sealed and inscribed and enveloped in scarlet cloth. The body was then placed in an oblong niche over the door. This will be its resting place for a year, when it will be removed to the final tomb in the Church St. John of Lateran.

Says President Roosevelt Might Make The Trip

This Would Depend Somewhat on the Result of the National Election
