ENGLISH OF THE BIBLE.

The failure of our educational institutions to produce successful literary men and women is probably due to decadence in the study of the Bible. The greatest orators, poets, statesmen and lawyers have all been noted for their familiarity with the Scriptures.

There is not a book of the Bible that is not full of the finest phrases and most powerful expressions.

Single verses are gems. What can be more beautiful than the ninth verse of the 36th Psalm:

"For with thee is the fountain of life; in thy light shall we see light."

Take the first chapters in the book of Genesis; they contain inspiration to revive our degenerated schools of rhetoric and grammar.

One of the first moral promises and injunctions is unto the human race to be fruitful and multiply, to bring forth abundantly.

We are told that the first human beings knew not evil—that they were naked and not ashamed. Such moral altitude is incomprehensible now.

What power of language is contained in the excuse of Mother Eve—per fruit mortal that she was: "The serpent beguiled me and I did eat."

Study the meaning of that word beguiled. She does not say deceived, or persuaded, or argued—or beguiled. It has no synonym.

There is a splendid estimate of manhood in the description of Noah, as "a just man and perfect in his generation."

There is a fine resonance in the verse where we are told of the "mighty men of old, Men of Renown!" It was not an age of pigmy intellects.

Taken together, the description of the flood and the preparations for it, is an unequalled piece of good reporting.

There is not a salaried story writer in the world today can equal it from a literary or journalistic standpoint.

The story is complete and there is nothing lacking, even to the fluttering dove that was sent out and returned, finding no rest.

The conclusion of that story of building the ark, putting in the animals and the people, is one of the gems of dramatic literature.

After all were in place, the hatches down and the whole craft made shipshape for the forty days' flood, the account of the meteorological forecast concludes with this climax—"the fountains of the great deep were broken up and the windows of heaven were opened." AND IT RAINED.

JOURNAL X-RAYS.

King Edward will have a hot time in old Ireland.

What about that quarter of a million endowment?

Sarah Bernhardt is next to appear in France in an open-air theater.

The Williams "moral wave" administration is not being much spoken of.

Marconi is improving his wireless telegraphy so that tall masts are no longer needed in transatlantic.

Binger Hermann is an active all-around congressman although he will not take his seat until next November.

What has been done with the prune industry and the strawberry industry can be done at Salem with the flax industry.

Prof. L. H. Baker, principal of the Lincoln school, of Salem, is one of the instructors of the Tillamook county institute.

The town of Stayton is not getting rich out of the Trotter litigation and it is doubtful if the lawyers are making fortunes.

Eugene sports invested $2000 in their baseball team and are going to try to have that much fun with the rest of the state.

Why shouldn't the United States senate be called the mother of the states? The senators are nearly all the children of them.

The illustrious College of Cardinals can hardly be expected to choose as a man as Leo XIII has come to be acknowledged to be.

Why shouldn't the government pay more for its cash registers than any one else? What business has it taking care of its cash at all!

A Salem furniture dealer makes enough money selling his neighbors automatic refrigerators to spend the summer season at Newport.

At a great Y. M. C. A. banquet in San Francisco one of the speakers said that the need of the times was strong Christian men. The women are all right.

Chief of Police Hunt's position is not made any better by the statement that Jack Matthews "worked" Mayor Williams to have him appointed to office.

The Pope was officially declared to have died of dynamic pleurisy and hemorrhagic pneumonia. He could hardly have been expected to live under the circumstances.

Our country is to be favored with a visit from a real prince and princess. At least President Roosevelt has invited Mr. and Mrs. Wales of England over for a stay at the White House.

The closing game of the season at C. A. A. C. park, tomorrow afternoon, between the Salem Raglans and the Eugene Nobles. Don't miss it, as it will be the best seen here this year.

An East Portland tonsorial artist has this unique sign: "Practical Barber." He wishes it understood that he is not a theoretical blood-letter or hair-splitter, but cuts them right square off.

From all accounts of the enormous dividends declared by the steel and oil trusts, it is not lack of material expansion that our country is suffering from, but we have not a surplus of character, and growth on spiritual lines would not be entirely out of place.

A cow in the Corvallis dairy belonging to C. H. Veary undertook to scratch her ear with her hind foot the other day, and, catching the hoof on the point of the horn, died before the accident was discovered. The moral to this is, that it is not always best to make ends meet.

The author of "When Knighthood was in Flower," Chas. H. Major, gallantly burned his hands and arms trying to extinguish the flames that were consuming his wife's hair, set on fire by a curling iron igniting a celluloid comb. His next book may be called "When Knighthood Was in Flames."

Having bunked the reform elements of the state into accepting a bogus Direct Legislation movement at their hands, it is quite natural the Portland gang should now want the supreme court of the state to nullify the amendment to the constitution on technicalities. The Journal washes its hands of the whole corrupt deal to which leading Populists of this state were parties.

The Pope's battle against death was magnificent. One of his last requests was that he be allowed to get up, that it was wrong to keep a man who had no fever in bed. But Lapponi was obdurate. He had decided that the Pope could not recover, and was prepared to embalm his body. There are too many Lapponi's in the medical profession, who insist long in advance that a patient cannot recover, and hold tenaciously to the thought of death.

Cotton Crop May be Good

Washington, July 25.—In spite of predictions from the South that cotton cultivation in the South is diminishing and that ravages of the Mexican cotton-boll weevil and the lack of necessary labor will prevent the cotton output from ever again reaching its former figures, information gathered at the department of agriculture shows that the officials of the department whose work it is to study cotton conditions, are of the opinion that cotton growing has not yet reached its zenith. In speaking of the future prospects of the cotton crop, John Hyde, statistician of the department, says:

If the ravages of the cotton-boll weevil can be prevented, I do not believe that the time is far distant when this country will produce 20,000,000 bales of cotton annually. At present the boll weevil undoubtedly constitutes a serious menace to it. It is not only the actual damage that this insect does that operates against the increase of the production of cotton in certain districts, but its moral effect in discouraging planters from setting out large crops, is also very serious.

Regatta News.

A visitor to Astoria would wonder what had struck the town. Every old street and sidewalk is being torn up and new ones being put down. By regatta time Astoria will be dressed in new clothes. The railroad company is rebuilding the docks, where the grandstand usually sets, and the construction of the grandstand will soon commence.

The regatta committee can promise a better lot of races this year than ever before.

Portland San Francisco and Vancouver, B. C. will send their best men in 4-car barnes, 4-car shells, outrigger shells, single shells and canoes, to battle for the Pacific coast championship. The yachts from up the river got the Spells, Palpitation, and Heart Pains.

To Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I Owe My Life.

Heart pains, palpitation, smothering spells, shortness of breath, weak and hungry spells and general debility, indicate a weak heart. The longer these symptoms exist the more serious they become. They represent conditions of heart weakness which must receive aid from the outside. A weak heart cannot cure itself, no matter how slight the affection. Unless speedily treated it will grow worse, slowly but surely. A perfect cure has been found in Dr. Miles' Heart Cure which removes the cause so that the disagreeable symptoms soon disappear.

It gives me great pleasure to add my testimonial to the hundreds of others who have testified to the merits of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, as it may be the means of helping another sufferer to try it. I am sure that I owe my life and health to Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I had suffered for six years with palpitation and pain in my heart, I could not lie on my left side, I was very weak, and slept very little because of smothering spells. I tried every thing I could think of but got no relief until I began the use of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I am now well and able to do my work and although it is three years since I first used the remedy I have no sign of heart trouble. I took in all six bottles of Heart Cure and think it the grandest medicine in the world, and it gives me pleasure at all times to recommend it.—Mrs. H. HOLLINGSWORTH, Medford, Oregon.

best of the Shoalwater bay boats last regatta and this year the oyster kings are coming over in force with blood in their eye.

The giant Chinese dragon, the largest ever brought to this country is on its way and will soon arrive in the city. It will be used in the regatta parade.

We have been informed by the secretary of the navy that if nothing unusual happens to delay the Pacific squadron now on a cruise in Alaska waters it will return in time to permit several of the vessels to take part in the regatta.

Quite a little interest is being taken in the "old time hose tournament" that will be held here. The teams that will come to take part are drilling to beat the band and the races promise to be good.

Crack shots who attend the regatta should bring their guns for there will be a shooting tournament on the second and third day. The prizes will be cash and medals. One of the medals for the regatta championship is a diamond medal.

Arrangements are being made for the entertainment of the visiting queens.

The name of the admiral and his staff will be announced in a day or so.

Will Play in England

New York, July 25.—Wylie C. Grant and Robert LeRoy, holders of the indoor and Southern lawn tennis championships in doubles, sail for England today for the purpose of competing in some of the championship tournaments in the British Isles.

They will play first in the North Scotland championship tournament, after which Grant will defend the challenge cup which he won last year, and which must be taken three times before it becomes the property of a contestant.

Following these matches they expect to go to Scarborough, England, and then to Brighton, bringing their trip to a close in Eastbourne, where competition for the South of England championship is held.

Wisconsin Catholics

Milwaukee, July 25.—Delegates representing various Catholic societies of Wisconsin are arriving in Milwaukee for the convention to be held tomorrow, when a state organization will be formed as a branch of the American Federation of Catholic Societies. District organizations have already been formed in six counties and it is hoped to extend the movement all over the state in the near future.

Tomorrow's convention will open with the celebration of pontifical high mass in St. John's cathedral, Bishop Mesmer of Green Bay being the celebrant. Aside from the completion of the state federation the convention will elect delegates to the annual meeting of the American Federation of Catholic Societies which is to be held two weeks' hence in Atlantic City.

Church News.

There is an intimation of a union between the Congregational, United Brethren and Methodist Protestant denominations, founded on the steps recently advanced along federation lines. At Pittsburg, Pa., recently a committee representing the three churches agreed on a platform of union, and arrangements leading to federation were discussed. One provision was the convening at appointed times of a general council. The committee will be made up of delegates representing every 5000 members of the respective denominations. By this regulation the Congregationalists will have 132 delegates, the United Brethren 55 and the Methodist Protestants 27. This will give the Congregationalists a clear majority.

The Congregational denomination of Butte county has moved toward a federation of church interests in that vicinity, where there are four churches. These ministers have organized a Congregational Ministers' Club and recently invited the United Brethren ministers of the locality to join them in a reunion. The result was satisfactory, and a scheme is under consideration by which the club is to be extended into a union for ministers of the various denominations. The meeting will be held at Durham on August 4th. Rev. L. Wallace is president of the union, with Rev. J. R. Shoemaker scribe.

At the last reports from the I. M. Wise Memorial Endowment fund of the Hebrew union college subscriptions to the amount of $256,112 had been secured and the amount paid up had reached $177,199, with almost $15,000 deposited in various banks of the country. The amount desired for the fund is $500,000.

Up to the present the Christian churches (Disciples) have contributed to the American Christian Missionary Society $21,987.84, which is an increase of $250.18 over the amount given during the same period of 1932. The total receipts from all sources including individual contributions, bequests and annuities, have been $76,317.76, which makes a total increase of $8738.63 for the stated time.

German Methodists in the United States rates a membership of 80,000.

The greatest outlay during the pontificate of Leo XIII, which has been noted for economy in expenditures, was for founding and assisting schools. For these the amounts contributed have been most generous. For the Benedictine college of St. Anselm has been erected on the summit of the Aventine Hill, the Vatican Seminary Villa and institutions at Carinena, his birthplace, and at Anagni have been built. Other works of the pope have been the restoring of the Church of Santa Maria Maggiore, the canopy of St. John Lateran, the Sixtine chapel and the Borgian rooms of the Vatican.

As a patron of art and admirer of the poet he contributed liberally to the fund for the erection of the Dante monument at Ravenna.

The Unitarian church of Spokane has officially been announced out of debt. The trustees have under consideration plans for modernizing the building. The Sunday school will be fitted up and a church parlor is among the near possibilities.
