FIRES INTO CROWD

Crazy Man Kills Four and Injures at Least Twenty.

Uses Double Barreled Shotgun, but is Finally Killed by a Handy Policeman.

Winfield, Kans., Aug. 14.—At 9 o'clock last night while Carmen's band was playing its weekly concert on Main street to a crowd of 5000 people, Gilbert Twigg, a crazy man, 30 years of age, opened fire on the crowd with a double-barreled shotgun loaded with heavy bullets.

The known injured are: Mrs. John Ballard, shot in the neck; James Clarkson, shot in back and arm; R. E. Oliver, shot in shoulder and back; Clyde Reed, shot in hip; J. B. Storey, shot in chest and knee; Charles Thomas, shot in knee; Charles Baird, shot in arm; Port Smith, shot in head; Elmer Farnsworth, shot in bowels; Otis Carter, shot in head; Arthur Hansford, William Connehan, Wm. Moore, Arley Bourdette, Elmer Davis, Claude Wagoner, Samuel Compton, Ben Ridgeway, also badly injured.

Takes Deliberate Aim. The band had just finished playing a waltz, when Twigg stepped out from an alley a half block distant, and deliberately taking aim at the bandstand, fired two shots. Oliver, the bandman, fell at the first shot, but the crowd, not realizing what had happened, rushed toward the killer, believing there had been an accidental shooting of some kind. As the crowd closed in, the crazy man discharged two more shots at them, causing a scattering in every direction.

With the crowd fleeing, the man stood in a demagogical attitude, firing at random in every direction. Men and women howled and shrieked and ran, but no one seemed able to stop the frightful carnage until Officer George Nicholson confronted him, and fired a bullet into his head. But before life was extinct the demented man drew a revolver from his pocket and fired a shot into his own body.

Dead and Dying All Over the Street. The dead and dying by this time were scattered all over the street, and the frightened people, not knowing where the shooting was coming from sought safety in every quarter. It was fully half an hour before they realized what had happened, and recovered sufficiently to take care of the injured.

Twigg was a miller by trade. The boys around town commonly referred to him as "crazy Twigg," but no one thought he was dangerous. A few years ago he went to New Mexico, returning in time to enlist as a soldier for the Philippines.

Was Close to Convicts. Carson, Nev., Aug. 14.—Officer C. E. Ferrell, of Reno, who has been on the trail of the escaped Folsom convicts with bloodhounds, has arrived here. Ferrell says he knows the present location of the convicts, and was within 40 minutes of them yesterday. If California posse had not abandoned the chase Ferrell thinks the convicts could have been captured. They are now in a small valley between Round Top and Hope Valley, he says, the roughest country in the Sierras, but one with a hundred escapes open to the convicts.

Ferrell stated that the men are well armed, and are now in a land where sheep camps and cattle camps are to be found on every hand. The convicts are Theron, Woods, Murphy, Fahy and Eldridge.

A Murderous Cook. Seattle, Aug. 14.—Robert Howard, first assistant engineer of the steamer Arrow, which recently came to Seattle from Portland, was almost murdered Thursday morning by Ed. Dodge, the head cook of the boat. Dodge threw a large cleaver at Howard. The cleaver struck Howard in the side and cut a deep hole, penetrating the intestines. Dodge was arrested.

One of the men on the boat wanted his breakfast later than usual. Dodge refused to give it to him. The matter was reported to Engineer Howard, who ordered Dodge to get the breakfast at once. A short time afterward Howard passed the galley door, when Dodge threw the cleaver at him.

The largest black bass ever caught in the Willamette river at Salem was on display at Steiner's fish market this morning. The fish tipped the beam at five pounds and one ounce, and was one of a number caught by a gentleman this morning and brought to the market.

The scenery, painted and built especially for Ringling Brothers' magnificent and inspiring spectacular production of "Jerusalem and the Crusades," depicts churches and palaces, and the sumptuous inner courts of the fabulously rich Emirs of Egypt.

ROBBED BAKER SALOON

Had the Nerve to Try to Hold Up Bela Kadish.

Forty Men Stood by and Saw the Robbers Help Themselves, but White Showed Fight.

Baker City, Or., Aug. 14.—Three masked men entered the Miners' Cabin saloon last evening at 9 o'clock and robbed the three gaming tables in the back room, and the cash register in the front room of $380. The robbers entered the gambling room through the rear door. Two of the men went through the gaming tables, and the other one went into the front room and robbed the cash register of $80.

As the leader of the gang entered the front room through the swinging screen doors, J. T. Donnelly, cashier of the First National bank, and Bela Kadish, a mining operator, who were having a lunch in the rear part of the room, near the partition, observed the masked man as he pushed through the door. Donnelly and Kadish made a dash for the front door, with the robber in hot pursuit. He covered Donnelly with his gun, and tried to prevent him from leaving the building. Donnelly refused to halt, and the robber did not fire at him. Kadish dodged behind two large slot machines, but Donnelly succeeded in getting out.

After Donnelly got out the robber ran behind the bar to the cash register, which he opened, and was taking the money out, when like White, an architect, who was standing in front of the bar, picked up a cracker bowl, which he threw at the robber, striking him on the shoulder with such force that the fellow dropped a portion of the money on the floor.

This diversion on the part of White stopped the proceedings in the front room. The robber turned and ran out the back door, where he was joined by his pals, and they made good their escape.

There were about 40 people in the saloon and gambling room at the time, but no one had a gun, or the man who entered the front door could have been captured. He was apparently about 25 years of age, and seemed to be new at the business. He did not have the nerve to shoot, or he could have killed both Donnelly and White. White is an Irishman, and is always ready for a scrap.

There was several hundred dollars more money in the safe and considerable more money in the cash register, but the robbers gave up the job and beat a hasty retreat when White struck him with the cracker bowl.

Val Bilfinger, the proprietor of the saloon, and the bartender were both behind the counter, but they dodged out of sight when they saw the robber enter.

In the gambling room the other two robbers worked swiftly but quietly. None of the men said a word. The entire transaction was over in less than three minutes. The officers have no trace of the robbers.

New Company for Salem. A. H. Schaefer, Glenn A. Schaefer and Florence J. Schaefer have incorporated the Lusterine Manufacturing Company, and will manufacture photographic cloth, solution and other photographic material, with headquarters at Salem. The company has a capital stock of $10,000, divided into shares of $100 each. Articles of incorporation were filed by the new company this morning in the office of the county clerk and in the state department.

Killed in Puget Sound Shipyard. Seattle, Wash., Aug. 14.—Duncan C. Courage, an ironworker, was instantly killed in the shipyard of the Moran Bros. Company Thursday morning. Courage was working on a scaffold inside the battleship Nebraska. He was knocked from the scaffold and fell 60 feet, crushing out his life.

Courage was working alongside another workman. The latter attempted to stop by Courage, and both of the men fell and dropped the entire distance. Courage struck the ground first, and his partner fell on top of him. Courage was smashed to death, but his partner was scarcely hurt, his life being saved only by his falling on Courage.

Affairs at the Prison. C. M. Charlton, one of the shop guards at the penitentiary has been appointed chapel guard in place of J. J. McCormick, and W. H. Fouts, outside night watchman, takes Charlton's place as shop guard.

Fouts filed that place for a time, but was made outside watchman about six weeks ago. W. H. Porter has been made outside night man, succeeding Mr. Fouts. The appointment of a warden, it is expected, will be made tomorrow. There are several applicants for the place, and the probability is that Deputy Warden Smith or Guard Curtis will be promoted to the position made vacant by Mr. McPherson's resignation.

Eighty-five cars, double the regulation railway size are required to transport Ringling Brothers' world's greatest shows; 650 horses, 375 performers, 300 dancers, 200 choristers, 50 musicians, 108 animal cages and lairs and 1000 workmen and officials are indicative of the enormous size of this distinguished American amusement enterprise, twice bigger, fully, than any other ever organized.

Farm Wagons

A farmer is foolish to buy a wagon about the strength and durability of which he has any doubt. There is no doubt about the Studebaker. The first wagon you always think of is the Studebaker, and if all wagons were exactly the same price eight men out of every ten who come to Salem for a wagon would take a Studebaker.

Take the carrying capacity of wagons as listed in the catalogs of various wagon companies (and the buyers ought to know what the wagons will carry), and you'll find the Studebaker is from 500 to 1000 pounds heavier than any other. Ask to see catalogs, and you can see for yourself. It is the axles, the spokes, the felloes, the hubs, the skains and every other vital part.

Our wagon trade is on again in full blast. The heavy harvest brings them in. Come and see them for yourself.

There'll be another good trade on gasoline engines this fall, and as usual the Fairbanks, Morse "Jack of All Trades" will be in the lead. The men who are using them are our best advertisement. When you have time drop us a card, and we'll send you descriptive circulars. Reliability is a chief requisite of gasoline engines, and when you get one that isn't reliable they'll cause you more grief than anything you ever owned. Get a Fairbanks, and you'll have no trouble. You have the advantage of local protection from the Portland branch which is worth a great deal.

Sharpless Tubular Cream Separators will have another big run this fall. Every user of the Sharpless is a loyal friend of the machine, and would use no other. Reason enough in the long, hollow bowl, the low hung supply can, the enclosed gear running in oil, the easy cleaning with no parts to get full of filth. Send for catalog or drop in to see the machines.
