The Wife not Only Forgave but Secured His Release

Missouri Congressman is Arrested for Stealing a Watch From a Blonde Female

Kansas City, Sept. 12.—Former Congressman Hubbard, of Versailles, Mo., was held at the instigation of Nora Myers, a handsome blonde, with whom Hubbard passed part of the night, she claimed he robbed her of her watch. The officers placed him under arrest near the union depot, where his wife was awaiting him. Hubbard took the detective and companion up the railway track a short distance and dug up the watch from a pile of sand. He claimed it slipped into his pocket in a manner unknown. He tried to find the woman and return it, but could not, so he buried it. Mrs. Hubbard secured her husband's release by appealing to personal friends here.

The ex-congressman's release was effected by Circuit Judge Gibson, an old friend of the family, who, finding a telephone message to the captain of the police station, brought no result, drove with Mrs. Hubbard, in a carriage, to the house of the chief of police, who promptly ordered the ex-congressman liberated.

Theater Like a Huge Tube

Boston, Sept. 12.—The latest addition to the list of Boston playhouses, Messrs. Weber and Field's new Globe Theater, is to be formally opened tonight with James K. Hackett in his new play "John Ermine, of the Yellowstone."

The new theater is pronounced by experts to be one of the most complete as well as one of the handsomest in the entire country. Many novelties intended for the convenience and safety of both players and public have been introduced in its construction. Particularly novel is the shape of the auditorium, which promises great things in the way of proper acoustics. From the proscenium arch back to the line of the balcony the house is like a huge tube; from the balcony line it flanges back to a curved rear wall. The form is not unlike the old-time speaking trumpets and it is said that a whisper on the stage can be distinctly heard in the back of the house.

To Study Our School System

London, Sept. 12.—Alfred Moseley, the energetic young economist and philanthropist of Bristol who took a party of British workmen to the United States at his own expense last year to study the industrial conditions there with a view to learning how to better things at home, sailed today for New York on a similar mission. He goes this time to prepare the way for the visit next month of what he calls his educational commission. He has arranged for a tour through the United States of thirty educational authorities of England. They will visit various educational institutions in the republic, acquainting themselves with the courses of study and the practical methods employed and on their return to England will publish the result of their observations with the view of adopting the good points of the American educational system on this side of the water.

Preacher's Daughter Brings the Young Lothario up Standing at the Fodder Rack

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Edwin Moores, a wealthy young Californian, has been released from jail, after having been three months in custody, under a suit for divorce an alimony, brought by his wife, who was formerly Miss Dorothy Bowman, daughter of a Los Angeles Divine. Moores' release was effected by J. C. Robinson, who came here from Los Angeles, and deposited $10,000 with a trust company, as a guarantee that any claims won by his wife would be paid. Moores was arrested when he started to sail for Europe June 17th. He first gained notoriety when a student at Cornell. He was found starting for New York with a college professor's wife. He was expelled, and the professor obtained a divorce. He married Miss Bowman in March, 1900. The honeymoon at San Francisco had hardly begun to wane, when he brought a young woman into his apartments. The bride, it is said, attempted to use a knife, and was later dragged senseless from morphine from the bath tub. Moores is known over the entire Pacific coast, where his extravagance has attracted attention.

Pullman Men Want Salaries

Portland, Sept. 12.—The Pullman porters here representing the porters all over the United States, have placed in the hands of their attorney a petition to increase wages all over the country. It sets forth they cannot live on tips any more, as return runs are empty, and excursionists do not tip. The system is un-American, tending to lower the standard of their business. They want an increased and regular salary. The movement for this purpose will be national.

Just Like Jesse James

Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 12.—The Minnehaha County Bank, at Valley Springs, 15 miles east of here, was held up in Jesse James style early this morning by a band of desperadoes. The citizens were aroused by a series of explosions said to be nine in number. When they hastened into the streets to ascertain the cause, they found the town picketed with eight heavily armed men, who threatened death to all who didn't return to their houses. The thieves looted the outer vault, securing $800. They failed to open the inner vault, and seized a handcar and escaped.

Athens Greece, Sept. 12.—The papers today state that Roumania has agreed diplomatically to support Greece in her efforts to suppress the Macedonian insurrection. In diplomatic circles it is disbelieved.

By proclamation of the governor and the mayor it is a legal holiday in the state and city, all banks, exchanges, and other public institutions being closed. Commercial business was partially suspended and various patriotic celebrations took place in the public parks.

Snow Will Settle Range War.

Red Lodge, Mont., Sept. 12.—A heavy storm swept over Southern Montana last night and today, and tonight everything is covered with a layer of snow about eight inches deep. A storm was expected about this time, but this one is unusually heavy. The snow is damp and weights down trees, and many branches are broken off here.

Considerable grain is still standing, and it is probably ruined. The storm covered a wide area. It was reported that two feet of snow fell tonight near Prior Mountain.

This will probably settle the Sage Creek range war better than anything else as it will drive sheep down to lower levels.

Great Gale in England

London, Sept. 12.—While the details of the havoc wrought by the great storm which waged over the British Isles yesterday are necessary incomplete, reports come in from all parts of the United Kingdom showing that the devastation was general, and it is feared the loss of life was much greater than at first supposed.

Lloyds already report over 50 serious casualties to shipping. All sorts of vessels were caught in the gale, and many foundered, several with their entire crews. Many minor craft are believed to be lost, and the bodies washing ashore continue to swell the terrible list of fatalities.

The gale sprang up with sudden fury from the southwest, and the wind blew with a velocity at times reaching 70 miles an hour, and this continued several hours.

All the coast towns suffered more or less, and the agricultural sections in the interior report incalculable damage, owing to the late harvest. The beautiful hop gardens at Kent have been ruined, and in many places the valley of the Thames and Severn are submerged, a large number of sheep and cattle being drowned.

For some time telegraphic communication was completely stopped, and the land lines are still in terrible shape. The telegraph companies report that the wires and poles are down everywhere. Great numbers of fine trees in the parks of London and other cities were torn up by the roots or stripped of their branches and the list of minor damages and casualties is amazing. In addition to the deaths from drowning reports from inland give many fatalities resulting from various causes incident to the storm. The tents of the First Army Corps, which was under canvas, preparatory to taking part in the maneuvers, were almost blown to pieces. It is possible that the whole force may be recalled from Aldershot.

The breakwater of the new harbor, in course of construction at Dover, has been entirely swept away, involving a loss of many thousands of pounds sterling. The channel steamers from France arrived this afternoon, after perilously riding out the storm of six or seven hours. Many lifeboat rescues were made, and several fatalities and accidents were recorded.

A dispatch from Cowes, Isle of Wight, reports that the American steam yacht Enchantress was badly damaged in the English channel. A South Sea lifeboat went out to a distressed bark off Weymouth. There were no signs of life on the vessel, and it is supposed that her crew were drowned.

Dispatches from France and Germany indicate that widespread damage has been caused by the storm on sea and land.

TUGBOAT SINKS AT WHARF

The Crew of Five are all Supposed to be Drowned

Went Down so Easily That People on the Wharf did Not Know She Was Sinking

New York, Sept. 12.—The tugboat Heath, without a moment's warning, went to the bottom at the pier of the Savannah Steamship Company, at 6 o'clock this morning. It is believed all on board were drowned. The boat was pulling at the line in the tide, with no signs of life aboard, and the crew were supposed to be asleep. When tied up last night, five men were aboard of her, all of whom, later, retired. She sank so suddenly that the men standing on the pier didn't notice that she was in trouble, until the water, rushing into the fire, in the engine room, attracted their attention. The boat was then going down like a rock. None could possibly escape. It is supposed she sprung a leak in the night.

Divers this afternoon discovered there was no one drowned. The absence of the crew is unexplained.
