The Dairy Farm at the Grand Opera Wednesday

A Wholesome Story of Life in a Country Town Forty Years Ago

"The Dairy Farm," which will be seen for the first time in this city next Wednesday, September 23, at the Grand opera house has been called the "cream of all rural comedies." The scenes are laid in upper New York state, in the stirring political days when the slavery question was the paramount issue of the times. Touches of realism are given by the use of live chickens, growing trees and foliage, real horses and cattle, farming implements and utensils. The first act shows the dairy farm in full operation, the second the Christmas eve party at Squire Hurley's home. In act three the settings represent a street in Old Hurley town, on the day before the presidential election of 1856. The concluding act shows another room at Squire Hurley's. Every scene and property is carried by the company, which numbers more than twenty people, comprising members of the original cast who have played their respective parts more than 1000 times in the Eastern production, besides some of the great favorites of the Alcazar theater stock company, among them being dainty Oza Waldrop who impersonates "Minty" the country tomboy. The play is a wholesome story of life in a country town and is filled with beautiful lines and thoughts.

The San Francisco Evening Post of August 22, commenting upon the production of "The Dairy Farm," said: "The Alcazar has turned away great crowds of people all the week, who were unable to secure seats to see 'The Dairy Farm.' No rustic play ever given in San Francisco has caught the public fancies so swiftly. It has all the elements of popularity—sweet, wholesome sentiment, dramatic episodes and abundant comedy to refresh the theater-goer and send him home happy."

 The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood as a mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J.
