NEW YORK FASHION LETTER

New Designs in Bodices Coats and Jackets

New Red Colors Coming to the Front and Especially the Novel Lobster Shade

New York, Oct. 1.—Fashion's tide if taken at its flood leads to bankruptcy unless one has an unlimited dress allowance. The stores are brilliant with displays of fashionable autumn gowns whose price tags cause one to stand in openeyed amazement. At first it would seem impossible for the woman whose small savings must supply the entire winter outfit to be smartly gowned this season, but there comes the stereotyped old consolation of reproducing the exclusive designs in less expensive materials.

Red has developed into a very popular shade and "lobster" which has hitherto been a term of approbrium has emerged from the limbo of ridicule to the name of a particularly pleasing color for street dresses and automobile coats.

A design that has attracted much attention for its originality of design is carried out in lobster red satin cloth with gored skirt. The fullness about the hips is disposed of in four narrow tucks on either side and one broad box-plait at the back. Around the bottom there are four circular flounces gradually widening from the front until they extend half way up the skirt at the back. Finishing the flounces is a silk embroidered red and black braid stitched on with a piping of black satin.

The jacket is an Eton effect with several applied tucks of the cloth draped down the back in a sharply pointed surplice effect. Only black stitching is used to fininsh the tucks, but there is a collar of rich cream colored lace embroideried with black and red and this extends down the front below the waist line and is set off with large black silk buttons on either side of the jacket.

A flat hat abruptly dented at the back and trimmend with elegant velvet roses completes the costume.

Exclusive ladies' tailors express the fear that long coats are likely to be overdone this season and for this reason they are taxing their ingenuity to find something that will offset the great demand for an already inadequate supply of the coats. A model which might prove a happy compromise suggests both Russian blouse and Eton jacket. It is close fitting and has a buttoned Eton that falls over a supported girdle of velvet. Below the girdle the inevitable hip flounce appears, but instead of being plain at the top with ripples lower down, all of the fullness is taken up in a wide plait at the back, with two narrow plaits on either side. Depending from the belt are ends of the velvet finished with silk fringe. This design is seen in several smart autumn costumes and it is hard to find anything that combines novelty and beauty more effectively.

Hip-yokes of lace continue a fashionable feature of fall dresses, especially those intended for at-home wear. A chic putty color French frock has the skirt made with a yoke of lace over the hips, the lace extending down the front with narrow tuckings below running straight down to a deep gathered flounce The whole falls very full and long over the feet with a sweeping train at the back.

The bodice is also tucked and has the lace around the neck and across the sleeves, which are gathered full around the top, flowing below the elbow. There are cuffs of lace and a crushed white silk sash encircling the waist and hanging in long ends over the skirt at the back. While the general outline of smart sleeves continues full, there is unlimited variety in cuffs, which really make or mar a gown, one might say. There is no particular design which one can recommend as being more comme il faut than another; all seem to combine the ideas and all the different eras in the history of dress and are indeed glowing tributes to the ingenuity of the sartorial artist.

Many of the new street dresses show a trimming that is novel and—something one does not often see—useful. It is an ample pocket stitched a few inches below the waistline just about where a hand-bag would depend from its fastening at the belt. In fact the pocket obviates the necessity of wearing the bag to which so many women object. The pocket is oftentimes made of leather to match the color of the gown and has a little contrivance inside into which valuables may be dropped and carried with aobsolute safety. Buttons that fasten with a patent snap come for the purpose of making the pocket secure. The gown which shows this new pocket is designed of a peculiar shade of ladies cloth that is neither light nor dark. The skirt is circular, stitched with folds of the same materials and trimmed with buttons of the same shade. The surplice blouse waist opens over a point of de paris lace yoke and there are full bishop sleeves with cuffs of silk and lace.

For evening gowns the shops are offering luxurious combinations of silk and velvet and a delicious new variety of panne known as panne lousine. Extremists say that it was designed especially for the latest American duchess-to-be; whether this be true or not, it is certain that a richer material would be hard to find. The fabric is so exquisite and decorative that it can carry little in the way of embellishment. It lends itself admirably to princesse outlines and the addition of a few folds of rich lace around the decollete corsage are all that is required in the way of trimming.

The new shade of green known as mignonette goes very prettily with the season's laces and embroideries. It probably shows to best advantage in voile, then etamine next. A design exhibited at one of the fall openings has a box plaited skirt and between the plaits are tiny crosswise tucks, these being placed in groups not very close together, over the hips and in the knee flounce.

The blouse opens in front over a tucked white silk muslin vest, banded with narrow Valenciennes lace. A black and green silk fancy braid outlines the opening and a black silk fringe trims the collarless short cape, which finishes the bodice at the neck. The entire blouse is box plaited and tucked to match the skirt and there is a high black silk girdle. The sleeves, which are especially pretty are plaited in bell shape to the elbow where they are met by white silk muslin like the vest. The deep cuffs are also of the muslin.

Many of the new fashions revert to early century ideas, but they are hardly suited to practical wear; only the woman who can indulge in the vagaries of fashion shows a disposition to effect them. There is an attempt to revive the empire style coats; whether it will be successful remains to be seen.

Some very original effects, however, are shown in rain coats this season. These have been elevated from the just-any-thing-will-do stage to very modish garments, many being made of rubber-lined silk. Of course they are expensive, but among the less costly designs are blue, gren, green and red cravenettes. Pretty coverts are ornately adorned with white satin facings, collars and cuffs. After all the elaborate rain coat is not an extravagance if one goes out much to evening affairs, for fequently the girl of economic turn makes her raincoat do extra service as an evening wrap.

Umbrellas of cravenette match these coats in color and not infrequently there is a lining to match the trimming of the coat.

Entire accordion plaited dresses of chiffon and soft crepe are extremely smart for house wear. They are made without trimming and the bodices show the new St. Ceceline neck which is cut round and just low enough to show the outline of the throat.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get this reliable remedy at Dr. Soule's drug stores. Price 25c and 75c.

Railroads Have Trouble

New York, Sept. 30.—Representatives of a number of Southern and Southwestern railroads met here today for a consultation with their general counsel and to consider conditions arising as a result of the Elkins anti-rebate and other laws relating to interstate commerce. Among the lines represented at the conference were the Illinois Central, the Louisville & Nashville Southern, and Atlantic Coast line.

Many families now have the family Osteopath who examine the anatomies of the children periodically just as the dentist looks after their teeth. What a wise custom! It will save many invalids in later life by correcting small disabilities such as those of the spine as soon as they develop. Drs. Schoettle, Barr & Barr, Osteopaths, Grand Opera House, Salem, Or.

Democrats Get Glad

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 30.—The Democrats of Pennsylvania fire the opening gun of their state campaign here tonight. The occasion is the formal notification of the candidates on the state ticket. Congressman Marcus Kline of this city will preside and the speakers will include besides the four candidates on the state ticket, Chairman Hall of the state committee and Col. J. M. Cutler.

Roosevelt Turned Down.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 30.—By a unanimous vote the Iron workers denounced President Roosevelt as unfriendly to union labor in his action in the Miller case. It also censured the governors of Colorado and Idaho. In the Roosevelt resolution, after detailing the case, it says: "We believe not only that it is essential, but imperative to the welfare and ultimate success of the trades union movement that the 'closed shop' policy should be maintained. There can be no affinity of interests between the unionists and their opponents. There was none between the patriots and Benedict Arnold; none between the Apostles and Judas Iscariot." Copies were ordered sent to Roosevelt. Buchanan's suggestion for a conference of the representative union men throughout the America, to oppose government by injunction, was adopted. Funds are to be raised to make a fight by the central body, so the rights of the trades unionists will be definitely ascertained.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Bishop Gets There.

New York, Sept. 30.—Dr. John Huston Finley, for years in the chair of politics at Princeton, was today installed as president of the College of New York, in Carnegie Hall. Representatives of 64 of the leading universities were present. Among the distinguished guests was Cleveland, Chaffee, Lowe, Depew, O'Dell, General Young, Carlisle, Lamont, Presidents Hadley, of Yale; Butler, of Columbus; Schurman, of Cornell, and Remsden, of John Hopkins.

Rockefeller is In It.

It is stated in legal circles here that John Rockefeller, operating through his brother, William, is responsible for the settlement of the litigation between the Keene-Harriman interests. It is freely prophesied that the dismissal of the case is only an incident as compared to the condition which will mean the betterment of the entire stock market.

Buda Pesth, Hungary, Sept. 30.—The striking carmen had a riot today. The police fired into the crowd, and several rioters were wounded, but they renewed the attack fiercely. Hand to hand encounters followed, in which 60 were wounded. Quiet was not restored until the troops were called out.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—The meeting of the executive committee of the National Republican League is announced today to be held here this week, to discuss affairs, to perfect that organization for the coming campaign.

Smyrna, Syria, Sept. 30.—The new regiments of Rediffs is being mobilized here, as it is feared that the Mohammedans contemplate a second outbreak against the Christians.

Augusta Sports In Session

Augusta, Me., Oct. 1.—The open season for deer began in Maine today and the guides, camp owners and others interested in the sport are getting ready for active operations. Reports from the woods are very encouraging, and indicate that the big game suffered very little, if any, from the forest fires last summer. Some guides go so far as to say that the supply of game appears to be even better than in 1902, which was the record year for deer in Maine.

Ohio Golf Association

Agron, O Oct. 1.—The annual tournament of the Northern Ohio Golf association opened here today under the auspices of the Portage Golf club. The contestants include well known players of Cleveland, Toledo, Youngstown and other cities. The play will continue through the remainder of the week.

Canada Rates are Advanced

Montreal, Oct. 1.—The advance recently agreed upon by the Canadian railroads in regard to freight rates on wood pulp to United States points went into effect today. No reason is given for the increase, which amounts to one-half cent per 100 pounds.

Boston Greets Ancient Foes

Boston, Oct. 1.—The members of the Ancient and Honourable Artillery Company of London who are due to arrive in Boston tomorrow on a fraternal visit to their name-sake organization of this city are assured of such a welcome as never before was accorded British soldiers in "the cradle of the Revolution." They will be met on their arrival by representatives of the state and city, delegations of patriotic and other societies and the entire Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston. The period of their stay in Boston will be marked by a continuous round of banquets, receptions and other forms of entertainment. The steamship Mayflower, on which the Ancients are passengers, will be greeted on its arrival in the harbor by salutes from the United States cruiser Chicago and the British cruiser Retribution.

Massachusetts Democrats Meet

Boston, Oct. 1.—The Democratic state convention, which assembled in Tremont Temple this afternoon with Charles T. Martlett presiding, contained upwards of 1800 delegates. The convention will name candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and the other state officers to be chosen this fall. Considerable interest centers in the platform as it is reported that among the resolutions will be one endorsing Richard Olney for president.

Winnipeg Clergy in Session

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 1.—Clergy and lay members to a total of several hundred were present today at the opening of the synodical meeting of the Church of England diocese of Rupert's Land. More than usual interest attaches to the present meeting of the synod for the reason that the rapidly increasing population of the territory covered by the synod has increased the needs of the church in like proportion. To provide for these needs the meeting will elect a coadjutor bishop for Rupert's land and a bishop for the diocese of Saskatchewan, which heretofore has been presided over by Bishop Pinkham of Calgary. The work in the territories has now grown to such an extent that it is necessary to divide the two districts.

To Say I Have Gained in Weight and Am Well After Years of Heart Trouble.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

"For three years I suffered much from heart trouble and at times I thought I would drop dead. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart; smothering and choking spells, and I could not sleep on my left side. At times I was so depressed that I could hardly walk. I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure and am happy to say that I no longer have that worn-out look. I have gained in weight and feel perfectly well. I will never be without your Nervine and Heart Cure. My son, now eighteen, suffered exceedingly from nervousness. I gave him Nervine with the best of results. His health has been good ever since. I gladly recommend your remedies."
—MRS. ANNA BROWN, Red Lodge, Montana.

A person who is suffering from heart disease is in just as much danger as the foolhardy lad who ventures on thin ice at the first appearance of freezing weather. Heart disease is the most common cause of sudden death. Statistics show that one person in every four have a weak heart, that weak hearts are as common as a weakness of any other organ. When the heart is weak the pulse is irregular, the blood is thin and poor, the circulation sluggish, causing cold extremities. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is a great heart and blood tonic, it regulates the heart's action, improves the circulation and sends a stream of pure, red blood through every vein and artery, renewing health and strength.
