

WARD LIMITS DEFINED

Ordinance Committee Met With the New Representatives

The Lines Were Allowed to Stand as the Council Drew Them and Will So Report

Judge Hubbard presided, and stated that this meeting was to consider the boundaries of the three new wards, to be named and numbered North Salem No. 5, East Salem No. 6, South Salem No. 7. He would like to hear from representatives of the new wards present.

Mr. Rateliff, of Yew Park, said that all his neighbors were in favor of coming into the city. He stated that the people over in Yew Park wanted the South Salem ward divided into two wards. They had not been notified of the meeting.

Mr. Jory thought it was all right, and favored leaving the wards as the council had framed it. It was a natural division, and should be adhered to.

Mr. Fairbank said that he was well satisfied with the proposed boundary of North Salem. The people of North Salem were enthusiastic over coming into the city.

L. D. Henry wanted to know how many people there would be in his ward? East Salem would be a long and slim ward. He thought the ward was too big.

Glendon Stolz said the council was seeking only the greatest good to the greatest number. The newer parts of the city would find their interests identical with the older part. The welfare of the city required street improvements in the newer parts of the city. Let us all work for the welfare of the whole city. Mr. Stolz said the money paid in for streets and taxes would have to be spent on streets for a newer section.

Mr. Smith, from the sixth ward, asked if the new wards would each have the same number of aldermen as the old wards. He was assured in the affirmative.

Mr. Sutton said his property was just two blocks south of the city line. He had lived many years on the edge of the city, enjoyed all its benefits and paid no taxes. He thought it was time he came in and paid his share.

Judge Hubbard said the main objection to the suburbs coming into the city was that the suburbs would have to pay the city debt. There was no debt but for the building of the big steel bridge and the city hall. They would get as much benefit from those improvements as anyone.

Mr. Jory said he had objected to coming into the city, but after it was all done he withdrew all objection, and now favored making it a beautiful city, and would cheerfully pay his share of taxes.

After a number of speeches by representatives of various parts of the city, a motion was made that the ward boundaries be adopted as described.

On motion, the committee adjourned.

TEACHING DRAWING AT SALEM.

An exhibit to be given soon for benefit of Public Schools.

This year City Superintendent Traver planned to start a good public school library in each one of the schools. A fine piano was also raked up by securing co-operation of the parents and teachers. This year all the schools are to be supplied with good books.

Some great critic has said that learning became a second nature with children if they began to learn young.

enough. The young Oregonians take naturally to drawing, cartooning and sculpture. Last year drawing was introduced in certain grades of our public schools. The teachers were also benefited, as all who had to teach had to go and learn to draw if they did not already possess that art. This year the work is to be advanced another step.

Miss Anna E. Knox, superintendent of drawing in the Portland public schools, spent Saturday in Salem, giving the teachers of our schools a lesson in drawing. The teachers of the Salem schools have made arrangements to have Miss Knox with them several times during the coming year. Miss Knox was well pleased with the drawing work done in the Salem schools last year. She is very successful in Portland, and will be of great benefit to the Salem teachers.

A Fine Art Exhibit.

Superintendent L. R. Traver has completed arrangements with the A. W. Elson company, of Boston, to exhibit their collection of famous masterpieces in Salem. This collection consists of 180 splendid reproductions in large carbon photographs, engravings and photogravures of old and modern masterpieces from the galleries of the old world, with some of the best works from private galleries. Nearly every gallery in a country in the world would have to be visited to see the originals of the pictures which are to be brought here in one collection. The pictures are framed suitably for school and home decoration, and are to be exhibited here with the purpose of arousing interest in favor of such decoration. The collection is loaned to the schools for one week beginning October 19, on consideration that the proceeds of the exhibition be invested with the Elson company for pictures. The schools will take charge of the pictures and exhibit them to the public, charging a small admission fee. The teachers and principals are arranging to give the exhibit in connection with a program of the best local talent of Salem. This plan of raising money for school decoration is not new, having been used by the best schools of the country for the past two years.

It is certain that the teachers and pupils of the public schools will enter into the plan with their customary energy, and they invite the patrons and friends of the schools to assist in supplying the different buildings with some good pictures.

Further notice of the place of giving the exhibit will be given to the public during the week.

IN OLD KENTUCKY THURSDAY

One of the Finest Plays Ever Presented in Salem

Only by Arranging for the Company to Leave at 10.30, Could it be Secured

"In Old Kentucky," that phenomenally successful American play, now in its eleventh season of uninterrupted prosperity, and ever as fresh and breezy as the blue grass meadows of the romantic state from which it takes its name, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera house Thursday, October 15.

This season's production will be the most elaborate that has yet been made. The scenery has all been gotten up especially for this year's tour at an outlay of $20,000, and not a stitch of old scenery will be used for this year's presentation. The company has been materially strengthened and the pickaninny contingent enlarged, so that the performance promised will undoubtedly be up to the high standard of excellence that has been maintained from the beginning. "In Old Kentucky" shows no signs of waning popularity. Last season it drew larger audiences than any season in its whole history. It manifests a freshness and youth in its hold on theatergoers little short of the marvelous. Perhaps the secret of its power lies in the sweet and homely love story that goes straight from the first curtain to the last; perhaps in the exciting episodes which fill the four acts of the piece; perhaps in the delicious fun and the wild antics of the pickaninnyes and their band. Anyhow, the power to draw people again and again to see it is there. It is sufficient to know, however, that a great majority of theatergoers appear to regard it as a duty to see "In Old Kentucky" each time it is presented in their vicinity. As long as this condition obtains, "In Old Kentucky" will come along on its regular rounds from time to time. The pickaninny scene is always new and always enjoyable, no matter how many times the play has been seen. Their whirlwind of fun and frolic, of music and mirth, is contagious, and they have a way of going through their work in this play that makes the spectator forget that it is simply a fine piece of stage management and not the real thing.

Don't forget that the curtain goes up promptly at 8:45. If you are not on time you will miss part of a splendid play.

Meeting of Passenger Men.

New Orleans, Oct. 13.—Representatives of nearly every important railroad system of America, members of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents, assembled in annual convention today at the St. Charles hotel to consider a number of matters that concern that branch of railroad work with which the members are connected. The scalper and ways of preventing him from plying his vocation forms one of the chief topics to be considered. The rough handling of baggage, or, in more common vernacular, "baggage smashing" is to be discussed and it is possible that the association may devise some method for abolishing the smasher. Technical questions concerning the issuance of various forms of tickets will be considered as usual. Elaborate entertainment has been provided by the local railroad officials for the visitors during their stay in the Crescent City.

International Plague Conference.

Paris, Oct. 12.—The international sanitary plague conference opened in Paris Saturday, and will be in session during the coming week. The conference is held under the auspices of the French government. The particular object is to revise and formulate into one text the findings of the two previous conferences, both of which was held at Venice.

Italy, Austria, Spain, Germany and nearly all the other countries of Europe have sent delegates to the congress. The United States is officially represented by Assistant Surgeon General H. D. Geddings, of the public health and marine hospital service. Taunted with taking a striking workman's place, a young Italian became so enraged here that he fired three shots into the crowd, wounding as many men, but none seriously.

The general health of a woman is inseparably related to the local womanly health. When the delicate womanly organism is diseased, the body loses plumpness, the cheeks lose their roses, and a nervous and fretful condition becomes habitual.

Thousands of sick women who have been cured of diseases peculiar to the sex by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have testified to the restoration of the general health when the local disease was cured.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I used four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Elmer D. Shearer, of Mount Hope, Lancaster Co., Pa. "and can say that I am cured of that dreaded disease, uterine trouble. Am in better health than ever before. Everyone who knows me is surprised to see me look so well. In June, when I wrote to you, I was so poor in health that at times I could not walk. You answered my letter and told me what to do. I followed your advice, and today am cured. I tell everybody that with God's help Dr. Pierce's medicines cured me. If these few words are of any use to you, you are welcome to use them. They might help some other poor suffering woman."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1208 large pages, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps, to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Hall and Records Burned.

The old ramshackle building, which has been the seat of municipal government in this city for the past 30 years, will never be used as a meeting place for councilmen any more.

Last night, shortly after 9 o'clock, Mayor R. D. Carter, who had just closed his place of business on Front street, and was on his way home, while approaching the old city hall, saw flames burst from the hall door, fronting on Auburn avenue.

He immediately rang the fire bell, and the department quickly responded, but the entire inside of the building was in flames before they could get the water turned on.

On the lower floor the sides of the building, and all partitions were badly burned, and in the water commissioner's office all the furniture was ruined and the books, stubs and papers were completely destroyed.

The fire spread up the stairway and annihilated everything combustible on the second floor, including the base drum which belonged to the Baker City band.

Messrs. Clark and Buchanan, the experts, who were examining the city books, will no doubt not complete their work, as it is authoritatively stated that many of the books of record which they would have to consult, were destroyed, as the safe on the lower floor would not hold all of them. This fact, and the apparent careless manner in which the city records were kept, especially at a time when the experts had just reached the point of determining whether any discrepancy existed or not, created a great deal of comment on the streets last night.

As far as Mayor Carter or any of the attaches of the city hall are concerned, the origin of the fire is a mystery.—Baker City Democrat.

The books contain COUPONS of the denominations of 5, 10, 25 and 50 pounds, and are good for 200, 300, 500, 1000 and 2000 pounds.
