

THE SALEM STORES Stockton & Co.

Successors to T. HOLVERSON & CO.

There are two vital reasons why our sales have become so popular. One is the matter of quality; the other is the matter of price. The low prices are possible and yet profitable to us because we bought the Holverson store at such a sacrifice.

MODEL BURGLAR ALARM.

Wonderful Safeguard Devised for Homes and Stores.

At Barr's jewelry store there is now on exhibition and in practical test use a novel device in the way of a burglar alarm. It is about the size of a bicycle bell, and can be attached to a door or window instantaneously, as no screws, nails or wires are needed to fasten it up. When set it will give a continuous alarm of 20 seconds' duration if the door or window to which it is attached is opened.

MULES ONCE HENS NOW

Missouri Hen the Bird With the Sweetest Lay

Fifty Three Million Dozen Eggs For Export—Imagine 536,000,000 Separate Cackles

The Missouri hen promises to become as famous as the Missouri mule. Already the value of the surplus products of the Missouri hen amounts annually to more than $2,000,000 more than the value of the mules sold out of the state. In 1902 over 53,000,000 dozen eggs were shipped out of the state while thousands of dozens found their way to the breakfast tables of Missourians.

No other farm products gives so much cash to the Missouri farmer as the hen. Missouri is third in poultry raising, Illinois first, and Iowa second. This rating was given by the last United States census, but by a persistent effort Missouri is expected to climb to second or perhaps first place.

The poultry counties of Missouri are contiguous to Kansas City, which is one of the largest, if not the largest poultry market in the United States. The annual production of eggs of some Missouri counties is as follows:

What Some Hens Have Done.
Greene, 3,861,860 dozen; Boone, 2,595,850 dozen; Pettis, 2,541,630 doz.; Gasconade, 1,724,370 dozen; Franklin, 1,118,623 dozen; Daviess, 1,870,890 dozen; Dade, 1,049,310 dozen; Crawford, 1,603,340 dozen; Macon, 1,790,430 dozen; Marion, 1,202,990 dozen; Sullivan, 1,209,946 dozen.

In one year a hen eats food equal to sixteen times her weight and lays eggs equal to six times her weight. Her food costs about 1 cent per pound, while her eggs bring 16 cents per pound. The yearly egg product will sell for six times the cost of food. These statistics are given by T. E. Orr of Beaver, Pa., secretary of the holds the chair of poultry in Missouri university.

"An average hen," said Mr. Orr, "should produce 240 eggs a year. Her food for the year will cost 80 cents. The eggs will sell for 2 cents each, bringing $4.80."

The Cost of Feeding a Hen.

It costs from 47 cents to 83 cents a year to feed a farm hen, where they are allowed to run at large. Many farmers who raise poultry pay nothing for food, but give chickens the waste from their kitchen and table. A very important part of the laying hen's diet is water. Two-thirds of the egg is water, the other one-third consisting of solid foods. Here many small poultry raisers make a mistake by not providing a suitable supply of clear water.

First Year the Most Profitable.

The first year is the most profitable age for hens. Two pens of Leghorns averaged 175 eggs per fowl during the first year; the second year the same fowls averaged 132, and during the third 116. The per cent of profit was 188 the first year, 118 the second and 97 1/2 the third.

The result of the experiment is against the popular belief that hens should be fed grain in gravel and made to scratch for it. One pen with all grain fed in a box averaged 147 eggs per year for three years. Another pen having grain fed in straw averaged 132 eggs. It was found that hens without exercise consumed as much food as those with it.

Electrocuted at Columbus.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 21.—With his brother confined in a cell a few yards away awaiting a similar fate, Ben Wade goes to the electric chair in the penitentiary annex today to pay the penalty for one of the foulest crimes committed in Ohio in recent years. Wade has been under sentence of death for more than a year and he entertained hopes to the last that he might escape the chair. Those hopes were finally dashed to pieces last week when the circuit court refused to grant a stay of execution.

The Wade brothers were convicted of the murder of Kate Sullivan, who lived in a lonely house near Toledo. She and her sister, Johanna Sullivan, were alone in the house on the evening of April 14, 1900, when masked men entered for the purpose of robbery. Before they left, however, Kate Sullivan was clubbed to death and her sister badly injured. Not long after a man named Landon was sent to the penitentiary for some offense, and upon his release he became talkative and gave information which led to the belief that he and the Wade brothers were guilty of the Sullivan murder. All were arrested and all were found guilty of murder in the first degree, but with Landon's verdict there was a recommendation for mercy, and he was sent to prison for life. He was the main witness in the prosecution of the brothers. The date set for Albert Wade's execution was set for last June, but a motion for a new trial acted as a stay of execution.

Funeral of Homer B. Holland.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Homer B. Holland, of this city, were conducted at the late home of the deceased, at 10 a. m. Rev. Kantner, of the Congregational church, conducting the same. The music consisted of vocal renditions by Z. M. Parvin, Jacob Wenger, Mrs. Hinges and Mrs. Wm. Babcock. Mrs. Hinges also gave the solo "Ever Remembered." The pallbearers were ex-Governor Moody, Geo. P. Litchfield, Geo. F. Mason, John Savage, Jr., Jacob Mitchell and John Kirn. Beautiful floral decorations covered the casket, and a large number of the friends of the dead man were present. Homer B. Holland was one of the best loved men in the city. The fraternal orders to which he belonged, the Oregon lodge of Masons, of Oregon City and Valley lodge, A. O. U. W., of Salem, were represented at the services by a large attendance. There was a short service and prayer at the interment at City View cemetery, where rest the mortal remains of one who was widely and favorably known in Oregon.

KINDERGARTEN STARTED.

Work of the Salem Association Under Good Headway.

A business meeting of the Salem Public Kindergarten Association was called by the president at the First Presbyterian church Thursday, at 4 p. m. At this meeting the organization was perfected by the adoption of a constitution and by-laws, and the election of additional officers.

Mrs. E. Cooke Patton was elected vice-president, and Mrs. Charles Weller treasurer. Mrs. A. McGill, Mrs. J. B. T. Tutbill and Mrs. C. A. Park were elected as a board of directors.

The kindergarten supplies will arrive this week, and all arrangements have been completed for the opening of the school in the Sunday school rooms of the First Presbyterian church, Monday, October 26th. Much interest is being manifested in the kindergarten work, and the patrons and members of the association are greatly encouraged over the prospects of its ultimate success.

Ladies who wish to send children to the kindergarten are asked to communicate with Mrs. Frank C. Smith, secretary of the Salem Public Kindergarten Union, or Mrs. Wiggins, who will probably be chosen as the first teacher.

Evidently Like Oregon.

Masselli Florinta, Milano Ernesto and Eustochio Pinto, members of the Italian band, yesterday afternoon appeared at the court house, and declared their intentions to become citizens of the United States, renouncing all allegiance to the King of Italy. A number of the members of the band have already taken out citizenship papers and others will do so soon.

THE GREAT SALE AT 149 STATE STREET

Has been a grand success. The people know that when they can get a good thing they should take it, and so they have. There is quite a number of articles left.

There are several fine overcoats. A fine line of coats for children; children's suits, and the prices on them will compel the customers to take them.

A few pairs of boys' and ladies' rubber boots left for 50 cents, which are worth $1.50. The long-leg gum boots, which were sold at $2.50, now go at $1.50 per pair.

Bicycle caps, only a few left. Our clothing stock is going down rapidly. You save 40 per cent by buying them now.

The ladies have found out where to buy their pastmentary and jet trimming. Only about 75 of our corsets and corset waists left to sell at 15 cents each, which are worth from $1 to $2 each.

While we are closing out these lines mentioned at sacrifice prices, we also carry a side line of our own in gents' furnishing goods, notions, stationery, cutlery, etc., that defies competition.

This sale will continue until all the lines mentioned above are disposed of. Remember the place.
