

Trusty Timekeepers

Is your watch always to be trusted? Can you turn to it any minute of the day and be sure that it will tell you no falsehood? When a friend asks the time do you apologetically say, "well, my watch isn't very accurate and I don't want to mislead you, but according to my time, it's twenty minutes past three." If you own such a watch, trade it off or sell it and come to the Barr Store for a new timepiece. Every watch we sell is guaranteed to be a trusty, accurate timekeeper. Every movement is carefully tested before being put in stock. We carry in stock, Standard, Elgin, Waltham, Springfield, Columbus and Howard movements. It is an impossibility for you to buy a poor watch here for obvious reasons.

Mrs. E. A. Pearce has gone to Portland to visit friends for a few days.

Wm. Armstrong, Sr., has been alling for a few days, but is on the mend from a severe attack of heart disease. He is one of those genial, industrious souls, who keeps pegging away at his shoe shop, rain or shine, and all will regret to learn that he has been under the weather.

South Salem Personals.

Mrs. J. F. Beggs is spending a few days in Turner, visiting friends.

Robert Langdon, of Portland, returned home yesterday, after a brief visit with South Salem friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harding and Mr. and Mrs. Will J. Glover, of Portland, were in the city Tuesday, to attend the funeral of the late W. S. Jacobs, and they returned home yesterday.

Will Be Re-Elected.

Henry Allen, the ex-convict, who was arrested in Portland Tuesday, on a warrant charging him with forgery, was this morning taken to Stayton by Sheriff Colbath, and he will, this afternoon, have his preliminary hearing there. Allen forged several checks there, and secured money on them, and, as the evidence is conclusive, it is expected that he will be held to the circuit court to answer the accusation. He has already served a 10-year sentence in the penitentiary—in four years and three months—and it is likely that he will get a severe sentence this time, and there is little likelihood of his again being made a trusty with double time.

Phenomenal Hens.

S. F. Dow's chickens are bound to keep before the public. Some time ago, one of them got in the habit of laying six eggs a day. At least six eggs were found in her nest every evening, until the fact was mentioned in the Coast Mail, and the neighbors commenced shutting their chickens up.

Removal to South Marshfield seems to have stimulated the biddies again, and a few days ago the children came rushing to their mother with the startling information that one of the hens had laid four kittens, and they proved it by the fact that the kittens were still cozily stowed in the nest.—Coast Mail.

Your grocer is willing enough to sell good goods—Schilling's Best proves that—the difficulty is to get them. Moneyback.

STREET CLEANING CAMPAIGN

Twelfth Street Coming In For Some Attention

Several Dirty Corners That Have Been Renovated By Commissioner Griswold

After completing the cement sidewalks on Twelfth street, Commissioner Griswold is giving that street a good cleaning up. The carts have been hauling off loose rock, dirt, rubbish and old planks.

The street alongside of the Southern Pacific track, leading up to the passenger depot, is in terrible condition, and should be cleaned off and covered with some finer gravel. The promise of the S. P. Co. to lower their tracks on Twelfth street has not been made good, and hence the improvement of that street has not been made.

The streets and sidewalks of the city are in better condition than ever before at this time of the year, and the credit is largely due to the painstaking labors of Street Commissioner Griswold.

City Recorder Judah and Chief Gibson have also been helping the crusade for cleaner streets, by having all the premises around the city hall cleaned up thoroughly, and the efforts of those officials is very much appreciated by those interested in the appearance of the city.

Poll Tax in Suburbs.

Mr. Griswold says most of the poll taxes in the new wards of the city have been collected by the county road supervisors, as they became due March 1st. It will probably be held that a receipt of such a supervisor will entitle the holder to vote, or, if he has not paid, he can get to vote by paying the city street commissioner.

Cleaning the Corners.

The Journal's agitation for cleaner streets has borne good fruit in securing the cleaning up of the corner of Center and Commercial streets, by R. R. Ryan, who is agent for the property. One of the corners of Liberty and Center street is still an eyesore to all lovers of a cleanly city, and should be looked after. The street commissioner has been doing excellent work, and deserves the co-operation of the private property owner.

Fell Under the Engine

Fred Ellsworth, a brakeman on the Corvallis & Eastern railroad, fell beneath an engine while it was switching at Mill City yesterday afternoon, and sustained injuries which caused his death a few hours later. As soon as the accident occurred he was brought to Albany with all possible haste, and given the best medical attention to be obtained, but he died in the Neelands hospital at 7:30 o'clock.

While the Detroit-Albany train, on its way to this city, was switching at Mill City, about 2:14 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Ellsworth was riding on the tender of the engine, engaged in coupling cars, when he slipped and fell to the track. The engine was backing up, so ran over him, cutting off his right leg at the hip, and splitting his left foot open.

The train was left at Mill City, and one coach brought the injured man to Albany, running the 38 miles in 45 minutes. Ellsworth was immediately taken to the Neelands hospital. It being decided that an operation was necessary to save his life, Drs. Davis and Wallace were called and did everything they could for the injured man, but he died about 7:30 while the operation was in progress.

Ellsworth was a well-known young man, and universally popular with the railroad men. He was 23 years of age, and a son of Ben Ellsworth, of Philomath. He began his work for the C. & E. with the bridge carpenter's gang, and continued with the work until three months ago, when he became a student brakeman. Ellsworth was a member of the Knights of the Macca-boes.—Albany Herald.

Inspecting the Schools.

County Supt. Moores is on a tour inspecting the public schools in the county, and during the present favorable weather conditions, and with good roads, he is making the most of his time in visiting the schools situated at a distance from this city, leaving those nearer Salem for a later date, when long-distance travel is disagreeable, and at times almost imposable. He will visit the Salem schools during the winter months, and probably those in the other towns on the railroad will be made when travel over country roads is impossible.

Not Afraid of Water.

A new comer in the city is Ralph Stump Hamilton, who arrived last night at Florence Sanatorium, weight eight pounds, and he hopes to stay, whether Salem water meets with approval at Portland or not. He will make his home with the happy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hamilton.

Danger in Raw Salads.

"It has generally been conceded," says the Sanitary Inspector, "that there is quite an element of danger in the consumption of raw salad plants which have been grown upon soil that is possibly infected with disease germs which may be present as the result of the application of stable manure to the soil. All such salad plants should be carefully washed with an abundance of water. A writer in Polliclinico, an Italian Journal, concludes as the result of his experiments that such salad plants may be effectually sterilized, so far as disease germs are concerned, by immersing them a half an hour in a 3 per cent solution of tartaric acid."

Wherein Snakes Excel.

Sir Richard Owen said: "It is true the serpent has no limbs, yet it can outclimb the monkey, outswim the fish, outleap the jorob, and, suddenly loosing the close coils of its crouching spiral, it can spring into the air and seize the bird upon the wing; thus all these creatures fall its prey. The serpent has neither hands nor talons, yet it can outwrestle the athlete and crush the tiger in the embrace of its powerful overlapping folds. Far from licking up its food as it glides along, the serpent lifts up its crushed prey and presents it, grasped in the death coil as in a hand, to the gaping, slitte drop-plug mouth."

Collar Is Good to Eat.

"Collar" is the unusual name applied in England to a preparation of meat that is only slightly different from one often served here. Equal parts of cold cooked ham and tongue are put through the meat chopper and afterward pounded to a paste, a little dry mustard added and the whole heated. When warm, press down in a bowl, put on a weight and let stand to get cold and pack into form. Slice thin and serve at luncheon or supper.—Harper's Bazar.

Reform Blocked.

"Look here," said the reforming husband, "we must have things arranged in this house so that we shall know just where everything is kept."
"With all my heart," sweetly answered his wife, "and let us begin with your late hours, my love. I should dearly like to know where they are kept."
He let things run on as usual.

Good Reason.

Blobs—Why was the engagement broken off between Harduppe and Miss Bjones?
Bjones—I believe they came to the conclusion that her income wasn't large enough to support them both.—Philadelphia Record.

Dr. Parkhurst Gets Jealous

Dr. Parkhurst, the famous reform preacher, of New York, has addressed a letter to "Elijah" Dowie. Among other things he says:

"I went to hear you preach the gospel. You preached Dowie, Zion City and 'stink pot.'"

"Your performance was a long way below the standard even of the circus, I have witnessed at the same garden."

"You cannot bully people into Zionism, nor blackguard them into the kingdom of heaven."

"I was ashamed of you, and almost ashamed to be in your audience."

Thought He Was Bad.

A man, armed with a six-shooter and Bowie knife, swaggered up and down the streets yesterday, apparently bent on striking terror to the hearts of the public. As Chief of Police Gibson came along, the fellow expressed his contempt for the authorities, and threatened to "take the town and marshal, too," but he suddenly found himself helpless as a child in the officer's hands, and, after being disarmed by the marshal, heeded the latter's warning to leave town. He left promptly, driving out of the city at a rapid rate, thoroughly cowed.

Heard in Chambers.

The case of J. W. Prall, plaintiff, vs. The Campbell Building Co., defendants, came up before Judge Burnett in chambers yesterday afternoon, and the court made an order requiring the garnishee, the Capital National Bank, to appear November 31st, and answer concerning the personal property of defendant in the garnishee's possession. The suit was brought by Mr. Prall for $2150, and interest, alleged to be due for material furnished for the construction of the local postoffice building.
