RECALLS EARLY MURDER

Death of Noah Newman, or Delaney In the Asylum

His Parents Came Here as Slaves of Daniel Delaney, Who Was Killed for His Money

Noah Newman, the negro, who was committed to the asylum on Thursday, under the name of Noah Delaney, died at that institution yesterday, within 24 hours after being received there, of exhaustion, aged 57 years. The funeral will be held from A. M. Clough's undertaking establishment tomorrow at 2 p. m. Rev. Cole, of the Seventh Day Adventist church will officiate.

Newman was well-known in Salem, where for years he made a living as a laborer. He was born in this country of negro parents, who came here in the early 40s from Tennessee, as slaves of Daniel Delaney, Sr., one of the wealthiest of the early settlers of Marion county.

Mr. Delaney, the master of the negro family, came from Tennessee in 1842, bringing considerable wealth with him, and he secured a large tract of land in Mill creek bottom, adjoining Turner. He located there, on an estate containing several thousand acres of the richest land in that section, where he erected a fine house, still standing there, within a half mile of Turner. Mr. Delaney's sons all married and settled on the princely estate of their father, but moved away in later years, and four of them are still alive. They are George, at Walla Walla; Daniel, at Toucanon, Wash.; David, at Farmington, Wash.; and James, in Montana.

Daniel Delaney, head of the house, when he came from Tennessee, brought fine Durham cattle and other blooded stock, as well as a number of negro slaves, and among the latter were the parents of the negro who died at the asylum yesterday.

In 1865 Mr. Delaney was murdered by Beal and Baker for his money. The old man, on the evening of January 24, 1865, was called out of his house, near Turner, and was shot by Beal, whom Baker, an adopted son of Delaney, had induced to participate in the crime. The two men secured about $4500 in coin, supposed to have been found by them under the hearth in the Delaney home. They were afterward arrested, tried and convicted, and were publicly executed in this city. About $2000 of the money secured by them was found where they had hidden it.

The name of the husband of Rachel, the mother of Noah, was Newman, and later she married a negro named Brooks. She still lives in this city.

For years after Mr. Delaney was murdered, negroes who were formerly his slaves, made pilgrimages to the old Delaney homestead, and there dug for gold, supposed to have been buried near the old mansion. This was kept up to within the past few years, the negroes believing that large sums of money, in gold and silver, had been buried by the old man Delaney on the hillside near his home for safe-keeping. But no buried treasure was ever found, and, like that of Captain Kidd, the hidden treasure trove lives as only a romance of the past, and from the sum of $100,000, at which it was fixed by the early stories, it has grown to three or four times that amount, and will probably continue to grow as time goes on.

Coal Strike May be Ended

Louisville, Colo., Nov. 14.—A satisfactory agreement between the miners and operators of the Northern coal field was reached this morning, which will be referred to a referendum vote of the various unions. The men will undoubtedly return to work Monday. The operators granted the 8-hour day, the miners agreeing to return to the former hours of work, if the Southern field miners failed to secure eight hours.

Say He is Insane

New York, Nov. 14.—The police believe Williams, who yesterday murdered Philanthropist Green, is insane. None of the stories told have any foundation. Flags on the public buildings and schools are at half-mast today.

COLOMBIA WILL FIGHT

Government Declares Panama Must Be Subdued

Citizens are Furious In Their Denunciations of Both Revolutionists and Americans

New York, Nov. 14.—Cabling from Panama, the correspondent of the Herald says direct communication has been established with Bogota, capital of Colombia. He forwarded the following dispatch, sent from that city, under date of November 10th:

Acting President Jorge Holguin said today that Colombia will never recognize the independence of Panama. "My government will exhaust its last drop of blood and its last cent in putting down the rebellion," he said. "I wish to make the announcement to the world that we will not submit to isthmian independence."

General Rafael Reyes, who has been appointed generalissimo-in-chief of Colombia's fighting forces, and who left today for the coast, has a large and well-equipped army. He announced that he had left behind a force of 100,000 men, ready for any emergency.

All departments and parties have promised unconditional support and financial aid to the government. The people are furious over the revolution. Bogota continues in a state of siege, but the United States legation is well protected.

It is asserted in Bogota that the isthmian movement is not unanimous. The government declares that it has assurances from the interior provinces of Panama that they are not in sympathy with the rebellion, and can be relied upon to assist in putting down the rebellion.

The Colombian government and the people are satisfied that patriotic sentiment will prevail, and before long "the isthmus will realize the error of its course, and will return to the mother country, before Colombian blood shall flow in torrents."

From reports received here the government is counting on the sincere sympathy of all the South and Central American republics.

Panama, Nov. 14.—The new government has no fears of an invasion of Panama by the Colombians.

FOUND JESUS' SAYINGS

London, Nov. 14.—Many hitherto unknown sayings of Jesus have been discovered by archaeologists, who have dug up papyri buried since the second century, a hundred miles south of Cairo. Dr. Oranfeld, who has been excavating since 1894, at a general meeting of the Egyptian exploration fund, here gave the details. He says, in company with Dr. Hunt, he discovered the roll, apparently all the sayings addressed to St. Thomas. One of the most reliable and hitherto unknown, is "Let him that seeketh cease from his search until he find, and when he finds he shall wonder, wondering he shall reach the kingdom of heaven, and he who reaches the kingdom of heaven shall have rest." Grenfell, in his lecture, said enormous interest will be aroused on account of the variations disclosed from the accepted text, one variation of the mystical saying of St. Luke: "The kingdom of God is within you," was of great value as the saying is in the papyrus.

It appears in quite different surroundings from those attributed to it by the evangelist, and is extended far into another region. According to Grenfell the sayings formed a new gospel, which is traditionally associated with Thomas. Another fragment contains a discourse of Christ with his disciples, which is closely related to the sermon on the mount, in which he answers the question as to when the kingdom will be realized, saying when we die we return to the state of innocence existing before the fall. Much new light is thrown on the history of the world and the hitherto lost classical literature of Egypt, also business methods in the second century.

QUEER IDEAS OF LAW

Indiana Coroner White-washes Big Four Officials

Excuses the Engineer For Violating the Law Rather Than Violate the Orders of the Company

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—The coroner's verdict was handed in at noon in the celebrated Perdu football wreck, which exonerates all the Big Four officials, except Chief Dispatcher Byers. He is held to blame because he failed to notify the yard master of the incoming train. The special engineer is held guiltless, even though he exceeded the city-limit speed, because his orders were such he could not avoid it.

Britain Will Wait a While.

London, Nov. 14.—From inquiries made by a representative of the Associated Press, it is believed that President Roosevelt's reception of M. Philippe Bona-Varilla, as minister of the republic of Panama, will not affect the attitude of Great Britain toward Panama.

ma. While the British government is quite willing to leave the arrangement of affairs at the isthmus to the United States, it does not desire to commit itself to recognize Panama's independence, until assured that it has been established.

A special dispatch from Washington, saying that surprise is expressed in administration circles there at the fact that Great Britain has not yet recognized the independence of Panama, was shown to the foreign office, and elicited a statement as follows:

"Great Britain has taken similar action to France. This does not imply the recognition of Panama's independence, but merely recognizes its temporary government."

Builders Strike in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Nov. 14.—Ten thousand union builders went on a strike this morning. Every craft, except masons, carpenters and painters is affected, and building is at a standstill.

Ship Went Ashore.

London, Nov. 14.—The British ship Arranmore, from Astoria, Oregon, went ashore and is wrecked in Algon bay. The cargo had been discharged.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—The emperor today talked audibly, for the first time since the operation.

Hard on Stock.

Cool, rainy weather continues, and is generally considered beneficial, as warm rains would produce floods. This weather is hard on stock that has no shelter, and cows and horses should be given the benefit of sheds and barns. It is reported that considerable snow has fallen in the hills.

STRIKE GROWS LARGER

Firemen and Teamsters Have All Gone

Linemen Will go Out Next and All Others Connected With the System Will Follow

Chicago, Nov. 14.—A thousand policemen are running the Wentworth street car line this morning. The strike of the firemen last night had little effect, their places being filled, and the cables are turning this morning. Orders were issued today to arrest any

Young Men

The Hart, Schaffner, & Marx "Varsity" suit, which has been so long a favorite among young men, fellows who want "snappy" clothes, is as usual a popular style this fall.

It is so good a style that the tendency is to make all the sack suits like the Varsity model. There's a difference, though; you'll see it at a glance if you will.
