

THE DAILY JOURNAL

Scripts News Association Telegrams.
3 and 5 O'clock Editions.

BY HOFER BROTHERS.

Daily One Year, $4.00 in Advance.
Daily Three Months, $1.00 in Advance.
Daily by Carrier, 50 Cents Per Month.
Weekly One Year, $1.00 in Advance.

JOURNAL SPECIAL DELIVERY.
One Week $ 10
One Month 25
Three Months 1.00
At Journal office.
At Dues's Grocery, South Salem.
At Bowersox Grocery, Yew Park.
Asylum Avenue Grocery Store.
Electric Grocery, East State St.

The Weather.

Tonight and Tuesday, partly cloudy.

LEGEND OF LAUGHTER.

(Chicago Tribune.)
It is a legend, such, in sooth,
As pagans tell within the booth
Where there is any ware but truth;

That when the world was but begun
The firstlings of all things were there—

The first rose smiling as the sun
And lending glory to the air;
The first dove soaring on its wing,
The first man walking on the ground
'Twas then the Maker of all things
Disposed of every sweet sound.

That He within the garden sate
And made division of them all;
The song of one bird to its mate
The rhythm of the trumpet call;
The diapason of the sea;
The singing of ones who reap;
The rustle of the leafy tree
And whispers through the grasses creep.

That He from out His hands let fall
The music of the straining sail,
And melodies that men entrall—
The lyric of the nightingale;
The untraced murmurs of the night
That dreamily sigh from the West—
All sounds He gave to give delight,
And one was sweeter than the rest.

That those who stood about and heard
The throbbing of the thrilling drum
And joyous caroling of bird
And honey bee's contented hum
Were curious and marveling,
And wondered if there could be found

A beast or bird or anything
That should receive the sweetest sound.

That then the Maker of them all
Said: 'Lo, this fairest sound shall go,
Not to the thrilling trumpet call,
Nor to the love song soft and low,
Nor to the ever-singing sea,
But it shall be"—the Maker smiled—
"The richest of all melody
Shall be the laughter of a child."

It is a legend, pagan, too—
That out of pagan dreamings grew—
Yet, haply, it might well be true.

GAINERS BY FAILURE OF SPECIAL SESSION.

Who will be the greatest gainers if the governor refuses to call a special session?

The largest taxpayers, of course, as they will be relieved of paying taxes on the assessment of 1903.

The same class will be the largest gainers because they will get most of the $100,000 interest that is estimated will be paid on all kinds of warrants, if there be no special session.

But it is argued that the big corporations, bankers and big land owners will have to pay these taxes in the future. Not necessarily. Counties, cities and school districts will be plunged in debt, and remain in debt for many years.

The Southern Pacific, for instance, would next year pay taxes on the assessment of 1904, and enough more would be levied to collect its share of the $100,000 interest, but not enough to collect its taxes for 1903.

If collection of taxes in the valuation of 1903 lapse for want of special legislation, the first attempt to levy enough to make up for that loss would be restricted by litigation on the part of the large property owners.

Valuations, assessments, levies and the whole process of taxation is predicated on yearly estimates, and levies could not be made on 1904 assessment for the current expenses that were to be met out of the 1903 taxes. Taxes are for the expenditures incurred yearly.

So, as it seems to us, the big taxpayers would be doubly the gainers by failure to hold a special session. The money-lending class would reap a harvest, not for one, but for many years, which the poorer taxpayers must pay.

Would not the state officials be required to apportion to each county its share of state revenues, under the Booth act, which is not repealed by the Phelps law?

If that be true, and the counties could make no levy without a special session, would not each county be compelled to borrow its quota of state taxes?

In that event the money-lenders would reap another immense profit on these loans to the counties about three-fourths of a million dollars.

ALL IN A NAME.

What's in a name? Well, that depends much on the name. A short time ago a young lady named Anderson, of New York City, was wooed and also won, by a man calling himself J. Ogden Goelet. The lady in this case is said to be a stately blonde, and beautiful as a creation of Titian. That she had many suitors is a fair presumption, in the premises, but that they sued in vain is evidenced by the fact that she was heart-whole and fancy free when the man supposed by her to be J. Ogden Goelet, and worth a trifle of $20,000,000, or so, flashed over the social sky of her set, and sent the dawn-light of love in a golden flood to illuminate the higher pinacles of her untroubled heart. He said as loved her, and it didn't take any lengthy communication with her heart to tell her that she adored him. He was the only pebble on the beach for her, the one beautiful Prince Charming for whom her soul had longed.

Not only was her lover adorable, but his sister, who had a mortgage on an English duke, was about to foreclose, and the wife of J. Ogden Goelet would also be, sister-in-law to a duke and duchess. It was a lovely dream, and as sweetly seductive as the humming of a senatorial been in some Crengonian's bonnet, or, to be exactly correct, hat. But there came a change.

J. Ogden Goelet turned out to be only a jay. Likewise the vision of a $20,000,000 bank account faded like a rainbow; also the possible sister-in-law to nobility.

The man did not change, only his name was said to be Aber. But the change of name was fatal to the young woman's affection. It may be that Aber was too suggestive of plebeian tastes in the line of drinkables; it might be possible that its beauty and power on the southeast quarter section of a bank check would not look so well; it might, indeed be many things—but whatever else it was, it proved conclusively that the love of woman, may, for one thing, be in a name.

THE LIFE SPIRITUAL.

"Ah," says one, "but this special outpouring of the Spirit upon the early Christians at their baptism was for the purpose of empowering them to work miracles, and the age of miracles is past. When those twelve poorly instructed men in Ephesus received the Spirit, after they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus, they spoke with tongues and prophesied. And we read of gifts of healings, working of miracles, discerning of spirits, divers kinds of tongues and interpretations of tongues, as being granted the Corinthian Christians. These gifts are unknown and not needed in the modern church."

Well, friend, if they are unknown, it is certainly not because they are not needed; but some of these special gifts of the Spirit bestowed upon the early Christians at their baptism are greatly needed in our churches today. . . . We may well believe that such useful gifts as these were designed to remain in the Christian church to the end of the age, that they are found in the church today, and that, if they are looked for and prayed for in faith, they may be received in baptism today as fully as they were granted in baptism to the early Christians.—Rev. A. S. Coats, D. D., in The Watchman.

"He that covereth his sins shall not prosper." Most men try to cover their sins. They shall not prosper in the effort to hide them. They shall not prosper in their prayers. The man with a secret sin, coming to the mercy-seat comes in vain. Men may find no trace of his sin. He may persuade himself that it was not sin. But the power of prayer is gone. He shall not prosper in his attempts to serve God. He may hope to make amends by diligence in the vineyard of the Lord, but his service is not acceptable. There is a secret evil that neutralizes all his good deeds. He shall not prosper in his own soul. His efforts to find happiness is vain. A drop of bitterness mingles with every draught. He does not grow in grace. His hope is in vain. He is a stranger to peace. The hideous thing which he has hidden haunts him.—The Christian Life.

Mrs. Kennedy to Be Tried Again.
Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 16.—The case of Mrs. Lulu Prince Kennedy, charged with the murder of her husband, was called in court today and it is expected that the second trial of the famous case will begin shortly. Believing that he would not be able to be impartial in the trial, Judge John W. Wofford, who presided at the first hearing of the case, has sworn himself off the bench and named Judge Joshua W. Alexander, of Gallatin, to try the case.

Mrs. Kennedy shot and killed her husband, Philip H. Kennedy, contracting agent of the Merchants' Dispatch company, in this city, January 10, 1901. The shooting was the culmination of a sensational wedding, which Kennedy had brought suit to have set aside, asserting it had been forced. The couple had been married the preceding month, on which occasion the father and brother accompanied the bride, and Kennedy's actions indicated he was not a willing party to the contract. In his suit to have the marriage set aside Kennedy asserted that his life had been threatened if he refused to marry the woman. After the wedding he refused to live with his wife and the result was that Mrs. Kennedy visited him at his office and after a heated argument shot and killed him at his desk. The father and brothers of the girl were indicted as accomplices in the murder. At her first trial Mrs. Kennedy was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary.

THE FEAR OF HUMBUG

Prevents Many People From Trying a Good Medicine.

Stomach troubles are so common and in most cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acuteness in never being humbugged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbugged can be carried too far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure asptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common sense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles, because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package.

Memorial Session.

Herald, Nov. 16th: A special session of the circuit court will be held Monday, November 16th, at 1:30 p. m., to take suitable action and hear a report of a committee from the Albany Bar Association relating to the loss sustained in the death of the late Attorney-General Blackburn, Captain N. B. Humphrey and Hon. O. H. Irvine, who were esteemed members of that association. Both judges will be present, Hon. R. P. Boise and Hon. Geo. R. Burnett, and the members of the supreme bench have been invited to be present.

The exercises will be held in the circuit court room, and will be public.

Have You

Tried our cakes. Our line of fruit cakes can't be beat. Also a fine line of mince pies. California Bakery, or Court street.

JOURNAL X-RAYS

Mrs. Sarah Rorer, of Chicago, very charmingly cuts in on the germ and microbe discoveries by asserting that American women eat too many eggs. The egg diet makes them lazy, they lose their brightness of eyes, and the end of the egg habit is the divorce courts. Eggs, says Mrs. Rorer, are bad.

Now comes the question whether a canal treaty can be negotiated with Panama, without congress authorizing it. Panama, like Barkis, is willing, but congress has already directed negotiations with Nicaragua, if the treaty with Colombia could not be made, and now Colombia can't treat—she hasn't the price.

It is claimed that the selling of goods, to be paid for on the installment plan, is of great value to families. Now that the matter is suggested, it strikes us that all families are acquired under that system.

The Eugene Register will have a newspaper bargain day on December 1st, and the Salem Journal announces one for November 26th. Oregon Daily Journal methods are popular.—Portland Journal.

The above sounds well from the Portland sheet, but the Capital Journal had special bargain days before the Portland Journal was born.

A New York jury has awarded Miss Frances Petit $3000, which one Tiltmore, a former suitor, will have to pay. The evidence showed that he kissed her 1236 times, and it took him 14 years to deliver the goods. The thrifty girl kept tab, entering up the receipts of the evening after each meeting. It amounted to $2.37 a kiss, and if he had been at all industrious he would have been broke the first week.

A Few Pointers.

The recent statistics of the number of deaths show that the large majority die with consumption. This disease may commence with an apparently harmless cough which can be cured instantly by Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs, which is guaranteed to cure and relieve all cases. Price 25c and 50 cents. For sale by all druggists.

OLD VS. NEW.

Salem Women to Be Given a Demonstration.

Times have changed—the world moves. The trend of modern improvement has been along the lines of economy of time, labor and money.

The open fireplace and spit gave way to coal, and the more practical cook stove. Then modern ingenuity, and the spirit of progress, gave us the gas range, and turned kitchen drudgery into comfort and convenience.

Cooking by gas is the most perfect, economical, and satisfactory method of preparing palatable foods. The gas range has proven a boon to the housewife, who, from preference or necessity, is mistress of her own kitchen. To the servant it is the tie that binds, a balm which soothes the restless, roving spirit, and thus goes far toward solving the servant question. Mrs. Rorer, in the Ladies' Home Journal, writes as follows:

"Gas is the cheapest and most easily managed of all fuels, provided care is given to its use. A good gas stove, well managed, will, counting in the time for care and lack of dust, cost one-third less than coal."

Would you like more time for rest, for recreation, for calling, for the enjoyment of your home, or to give your servant more time to do other work? A gas range would put an end to kitchen drudgery, would save a whole lot of time, which you could, with pleasure and profit, devote to other things. Wouldn't it be an object to cut fifty per cent of the time now spent in cooking, and at the same time produce better results?

The Citizens' Light & Traction Co. has arranged a series of lectures by Mrs. L. Virginia DeWolf, an expert gas range operator. The building formerly occupied by Speer Bros., in the Klunger block, will be arranged as a demonstration parlor, and on November 19th, 20th and 21st, the ladies of Salem will be given a practical demonstration in the use of the gas range. Lunch will also be served.

A dose of the Bitters before meals will create a healthy desire for food and assist the stomach in its work of digestion. If you're not suffering from Flatulency, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, We urge a trial at once.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 72 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Here Are Bargains

Ladies Hose, fleece lined 12 1-2c pair
Satin, bright color, 25c yard. Ribbons, 3 inches wide 10c yard. Chain purses 25c each. Golf Gloves and Mittens, a good assortment to keep your hands warm
Shawls and Fascinators from 25c up.

Greenbaum's Dry Goods Store.
302 Commercial Street

E. C. CROSS

Meats and Provisions

PHONE 291

Established 1884

Signs of Renewed Activity

In the real estate world indicate increasing building operations this Spring, and prompt us to remind you that our facilities for supplying hard and soft wood, lumber, lath, shingles, and other building materials are exceptionally good. We will be pleased to furnish estimates on contracts, large or small. A car of Mill City shingles received.

GOODALE LUMBER CO.

Near E. P. Pas Depot
Phone 551.

A Condition and not a Theory

Confronts the fastidious man that has soiled linen, and don't know where he can have it laundered without injury and in an irreproachable manner. We can relieve his mind right now by assuring him that his shirts, collars and cuffs didn't look better when first purchased than they do when sent home from the Salem Steam Laundry.

COLONEL J. OLMSTED, Prop.

DORUS D. OLMSTED, Mgr.

Phone 411. 320 Liberty St.

Treat your scalp
for dandruff, not your coat! Ayer's
Hair Vigor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.