

A Rain-proof Roof for the Rainy Day

We beg to announce the arrival of a large consignment of handsome Umbrellas, whose distinction of appearance no less than their general goodness of material and make will commend them to those who seek really fine, high class Umbrellas. They include styles for both ladies and gentlemen, with cover of fine, pure dye silk and frames of the sturdiest possible construction, while the choice in handles includes wide variety of swell effects in Pearl, Silver, Gold Filled, Natural Wood and Hand Carved Ivory. The prices, $4 to $20 are exceedingly moderate for such high class Umbrellas.

SALEM GREETES THEM

Reception Tendered Rev. and Mrs. Errett by Brother Ministers and Church Members

A reception was given Tuesday evening at the First Christian church to their pastor, Mr. D. Errett, and his wife.

Mr. Errett has been in Salem since the first of October, but his wife was not able to come until last week, so the reception was deferred until she could be present.

The people began to arrive at 7:30 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock the auditorium was full, each one having passed by Mr. and Mrs. Errett, where they were introduced by Mrs. I. R. Osborn and Mr. T. B. Kay. At 8 o'clock Dr. Eppley stepped to the choir stand and announced the song "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and asked all to join in singing. And all did sing with a hearty good will. Rev. Mr. Ketchum then stepped to the rostrum and offered prayer, and again the whole audience sang "We Praise Thee, O, God," after which the following program was rendered in full, some being recalled by a vigorous encore:

Piano solo—"Last Hope," Frank Churchill.
 Recitation—"How Hez Stole the Spoons," Miss Hewett.
 Vocal duet—Messrs. Wenger and Eppley.
 Solo—Mr. Leon Martin, on his euphonium, with Miss Tarpley accompanying on the piano.
 Recitation—Mrs. Chas. Watt.
 Rev. Kautner was called to the rostrum, and, in a few well-chosen remarks, welcomed Rev. and Mrs. Errett to Salem, in the name of the ministers of Salem.
 Rev. Cliffe also made a speech of to be served with coffee, sandwiches, cake and lemonade, which all seemed to enjoy as much as they did the other program.

The program was perfect, and so was the lunch: only they forgot to serve toothpicks.

Quite a number of the ministers of the city were present, and a great many of the members of other churches. And if one could judge by being an onlooker, each one enjoyed himself to the full.

While we all enjoy a reception of this kind, yet we hope we shall not be called on to attend another for many years, but that Mr. and Mrs. Errett may become permanent factors in the church, and all other local work, for good in this community.

Miss Stout Entertains.
 Miss Mayme Stout last night entertained about 30 of her young friends at her home, corner of Center and Winter streets. Music, dancing, games and a guessing contest, in which Miss Kate Perrine won first honors, were a part of the evening's amusement. Miss Stout was assisted in serving the refreshments by Pearl and Ruby Hopf, Bernice Sims and Stella Stout, while little Miss Rosealea Stout presided at the punch-bowl. When, at a late hour, the guests took their departure, all were loud in their praises as to Miss Stout's ability as an entertainer. Those invited were Zoe Stockton, Grace Rineman, Edith Ragan, Olive Mitchell, Mercedes Sims, Bessie Eakin, Kate Perrine, Minnie Perrine, Eunice Craig, Mathilda Eckerlen, Mary Eckerlen, Lena Stahley, Ella Schultz, Bessie Schultz, Rhoda Gesner, Mayme Babcock, Pearl and Ruby Hopf, Bernice Sims, Stella Stout, Ralph Dorcas, Harry Winstanley, Will Mott, Robert McCarr, Herman Baker, Frank Rhodes, Eldon Damon, Warren Hunt, Blaine Hubbard, Philo Crawford, Clyde Laughhead, Frank Frickie, Cordes Casbere, Pearl Lock, Robert Duncan August Hucklestein, Jake Bernardi and Frank Catterlin.

City Politics.
 Political talk is warming up on the street corners, and there is a great

Oregon Climate

Western Oregon has a climate all her own. It is just as peculiar to us as our "two bits" or "four bits." Slightly disagreeable at times, but who would exchange this little discomfort for the extreme heat and cold, the cyclones, droughts, floods and uncertain crops of other climes? No! Oregon is all right, only we must dress to suit conditions. One needs, not a great fur coat with big collar, but a medium weight overcoat, cut long, so as to protect the lower part of the body, and unlined below the shoulders that convenience for walking shall not be sacrificed for unnecessary weight and warmth. When such a garment is made impervious to water without making it look like an ordinary rain coat, we have the ideal garment for Oregon. Such are the very stylish.

Cravenettes

When the sky is clear and sun shining bright, you don't feel right to walk down street with a mackintosh on. No, but the cravenette is entirely correct for the bright sunny day, and doesn't swelter you either, and what's more, you'd never know it's a water-shed coat to look at. That's the beauty of the coat. You get the acme of style and swell appearance, together with the maximum of comfort and service, all in the same coat. We carry a complete line at welcome. He thought, among other things, that Mr. Errett showed good judgment in coming to Salem, because Salem is a "pretty" place, for having been half way round the globe he had not found so "pretty" a city.

Mr. Errett himself says, in the Christian Standard, of Cincinnati, O.: "This is a splendid city, in the midst of the most beautiful valley I ever saw, and possessed of a climate which will be difficult to excel."

Mr. Errett responded in a most happy manner, and outlined the duty of a minister of the gospel.

By this time odor of coffee began to permeate the atmosphere of the room, so that all felt that there was another program about ready to be carried out. Young ladies came with baskets of cards, and distributed them, each one having a match tied on, those for the ladies tied with white ribbon and those for the gentlemen tied with blue, and such a time as was had matching, and as soon as the matches were matched, the couple marched in diversity of opinion concerning candidates, especially in the matter of mayor. No new candidates are being named, but there is some activity over those already suggested. No petitions have been filed in the matter of mayor, and it is not expected that any definite steps will be taken on this point before the first of the week.

In the first ward the only nomination so far made is F. W. Waters for councilman.

In the third ward G. Stolz has a nomination on file with the city committee.

In the fifth ward Geo. B. Jacobs, the North Salem blacksmith, has been petitioned for.

It is understood that several other nominations have been petitioned for, but that the petitions have not yet been returned to the committee.

Maybe Snowbound.

Some fear a are entertained for the safety of Henry Faulkner and wife, Frank Foster and wife, Thos. Davy and Miss Pearl York, who left this place early in the month for their home in Paulina, Crook county. They went via the McKenzie route, leaving Waterville on the 7th, and three days afterward there was a heavy fall of snow in the mountains.—Lebanon Express.
