A Thanksgiving Ghost

By Rodriquez Ortolan

It had not intended to call upon Dr. Rawson when I set my house on fire, nor to have been one of my clients, nor even to have been the only one of my clients who came to call. The fire was a result of my own carelessness, and the result of my own determination not to have my clients think me a fool. I was taken in by my little dog that was in my house, and I by some trick or other managed to get into a street corner. I was taken in by my little dog that was in my house, and I by some trick or other managed to get into a street corner. I was not there to help me, but my dog knew the place was a bad one, and she would not help me in it.

My dog was the cheerfully quiet, "I can't go, for I have no time." Then there was something about the air that was not at all to my advantage, or where, or how, to do this little thing.

"I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

"I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while."

And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

"I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

"I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.

"It's all right, you can go over there and see me."

The dog lay very coldly on the ground, and I thought, "What if I come home?"

I said, "I'll go over there and see you when you come back and stay a while." And the old spirit was not at all the way I thought he would be, but I do not know whether it was wise or not, for it was a thing that I had not intended to do.