

Storing Up Christmas Surprises

Don't imagine it's one bit too early to make Christmas selections now. On the contrary, the advantage of early selection is so well understood by many discreet buyers that we already have a number of packages tucked away in our safe, "to be called for the day before Christmas." Isn't that a hint you might profit by? You can choose now without the haste and flurry of later on; you can select from the full, complete new Christmas stock, before many others have had a chance at it; and we will lay your purchase aside and keep it for you till the week before Christmas, when you can call and pay for it and carry it home. Think this over please. The Barr Christmas display is all ready and waiting for you.

YOUNG REPUB. IS PROUD

Of the Committee Positions of C. W. Fulton

Recalls Series of Articles Made Prominent in the Journal on Young Republicans

Editor Journal: It is with pardonable pride that I call attention to the recent placing of Hon. Charles W. Fulton, senator from Oregon, on the most prominent committees of the United States senate, and on more representative committees than any man from the entire West. Mr. Fulton is one of the "young men" recently elected from Oregon, and he has carried out the argument in behalf of the ability and promise of young men in politics, and has even gone beyond the hopes of the young Republicans as a representative of what the young man can do in this hitherto forbidden field. In the recent series of articles from Young Republican many claims were made for the young man, and when Mr. Fulton was elected senator, it was taken as a recognition of the young man, and as a victory in a small way. Now that our representative is on the field of action, we find him the foremost man of them all. The "old timers" are gradually giving way to younger intellect and energy. And why not, since the young man is always brighter, quicker and more energetic than the old "wheel horses," which we sometimes call them. Let the young man be proud of the record thus far established, and not be afraid to take a bold stand for our rights. The young man enters politics with a clean hand, not burdened with obligations and promises, not skilled in the art of packing and "buying" and maneuvering, but fresh from his studies of political economy with the moral inclination always found in the young, and he is espe-

ANTI SALOON LEAGUE

Good Citizens Who Will Labor to Enforce the Laws

Organization Perfected and Program for Taking Full Part in the Municipal Campaign

The Anti-Saloon League was perfected last evening, and officers elected to serve during the first year of the organization. The purpose of the league is the enforcement of temperance laws and the purification of social conditions. The membership of the organization consists of the members of any institution in the city favoring temperance, and the business of the league is conducted by a council consisting of three members from each institution represented in the league. Among these are the different churches, educational institutions and lodge organizations having for their object the enforcement of temperance laws. The election of officers held last evening resulted in the selection of the following named gentlemen, who will look after the welfare for the first year of the league's existence:

President—H. S. Gile.
First vice-president—John Fechter, Jr., who is also chairman of the committee on Agitation.
Second vice-president—Joseph H. Albert, chairman of the committee on Legislation.
Third vice-president—John Byrne, chairman of the committee on the Enforcement of Laws.
Secretary—Prof. W. P. Drew, chairman of the committee on Press.
Treasurer—Thomas B. Kay, chairman of the committee on Finance.

The league will hold a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms tomorrow night, when an effort will be made to determine the stand to be taken in the present campaign, and it will probably

Will Soon Be Here

None Too Soon for Christmas

Just try for once giving plain, practical presents. They're much more sensible and useful than a lot of knick-knacks that lose their novelty in a few hours. Nothing can be more appropriate for father or husband than a good overcoat or a new suit or hat, and for mother or wife, a pair of our fine woolen blankets. What young man would not appreciate a pair of gloves, an umbrella, a necktie or some other of the many essentials to a young man's wardrobe, and then if you would get something a little more out of the ordinary, how about one of our fine

The board of trustees of the reform school was in session this morning, for the regular monthly meeting. Superintendent Bickers was in attendance, and bills against the school, presented by the superintendent, were audited and allowed. Mr. Bickers also presented the names of a number of boys who, by good behavior and the earning of the necessary merit marks, had become entitled to being paroled from the school. The board ordered that these boys be paroled during good conduct, and the following charges of the school will, therefore, be allowed to return to their homes: Jesse Wilson, Thomas Welch, Claud Root, Guy Hammitte, G. Double Golden Wedding.

On November 21, 1853, in Umpqua county, Oregon, at the home of Mr. John Scott, occurred a double wedding. His two oldest daughters were married to Mr. J. M. Merrick and Mr. G. H. Bartges. On the 21st of November, 1903, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Bartges, Dayton, Wash., the two couples celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding day.

This very unusual occurrence was celebrated in a quiet way, only a few of the relatives being present. Besides the two couples were Mr. J. H. Scott, wife and daughter, Miss Cora, of Shedd. Mr. Scott is a brother of the Mrs. Merck and Mrs. Bartges, and Mrs. Ibbey Ryerson, a sister, and her husband, of Dayton, Wash., and Miss Loree Bartges, also of Dayton. A sumptuous repast was spread.

The celebration of the golden wedding does not occur often, and occasion where two sisters are married on the same day, and they and their husbands all live to see the 50th anniversary of their wedding is indeed rare. The old couples are in fairly good health, and can tell of many incidents which took place in the pioneer days of Oregon. They all lived in Albany, and many of the citizens of this place will remember them.

Both couples have raised large families, of whom all that are living reside in Washington, but W. H. Bartges, who for a long time, was conductor on the C. & E. railroad, who now lives in Ashland.

Mr. Merrick and Mr. Bartges were veterans of the Indian wars of 1855-6, and have lately received pensions from the government for the services rendered so long ago.—Albany Herald

Two Men Arrested.

The police last night arrested and are holding for disposition two men who will probably be ordered out of the city. One is R. A. Miller, arrested for vagrancy. The other is Arthur Bryan, charged with keeping late hours. Bryan came to Salem some time ago from Saginaw, near Eugene, to attend Willamette University. He claims that he had a disagreement with one of the professors at the University, and left the school. Since that time he has been loafing about the city, and has been frequenting the streets at all hours of the night, and this morning, after 4:15 o'clock, he was arrested for keeping unseemly hours. The police are looking up the matter before the case of the young man will be called in court for disposition.
