GOOD ROADS LEAGUE

Liberty Is in the Lead, and Well Satisfied With the Past Year's Work

The first regular meeting of the Liberty Good Roads League was held Saturday evening and was well and enthusiastically attended. Bruce Cunningham was elected to succeed President J. H. Daniel, resigned. Action was taken looking to the holding of a convention of the Marion county leagues at an early date. It is hoped to secure the attendance of delegates from all parts of the county and thus secure concerted action by all the leagues in the matter of permanent road work. The people of Liberty are well pleased with the results of last season's work, and are anxious that the benefits of good roads may be extended to other sections. If a convention is held in Salem, the members will be enabled to see for themselves the results of work at Liberty which will doubtless do much to arouse interest and action in other districts. The Liberty league has taken up the systematic study of the laws and work of other and older states. This will in time no doubt, result in the enactment of better laws on road improvement and the adoption of modern and more successful methods.

RICH MEN ARE NOT ALL HAPPY

Croesus, King of Lydia, Had Troubles of His Own, and There Are Others.

Croesus, the John D. Rockefeller of the kingdom of Lydia, was very well-to-do in worldly goods and chattels. "As rich as Croesus" is a saying about 2,600 years old. He had troubles, however, and some of them were full grown. He was taken captive once by Cyrus and only saved himself from being burned alive by quoting a saying of Solon, the Sage. He finally had to flee his kingdom for parts unknown.

Many of the rich man's troubles today come from high living and could be avoided. They are brought on by eating all kinds of rich, heavy foods at irregular times, lack of proper exercise, undue mental strain, unnatural stimulants, etc., and are commonly known as indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach. They are serious troubles all right, but not only can they be avoided but can also be cured, and that without loss of time or proper food and nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the certain relief of dyspepsia, rich and poor alike. There is no such thing as stopping their onward progress now. A great nation has placed its stamp of approval upon their noble work.

The thousands and thousands of cures they have effected and the happiness resulting therefrom have made their name a household word throughout the land.

The story of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be told in a word. They actually do the work that the weak and wasted stomach is unable to do and allow it to recuperate and regain its strength. They contain all the essential properties that the gastric juice and other digestive fluids do, and they digest the food just as a sound and well stomach would. They relieve the stomach just as one rested and refreshed workman relieves the one on duty that is tired and worn, and Nature does her work of restoration. It is a simple, natural process that a child can understand. You can eat all you want without fear of results. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. Druggists all know better than to try to get along without them, as the demand for them is great and universal.

General Longstreet was a sufferer from cancer of one eye, but his general health had been good until Wednesday, when he was seized with a sudden cold, developing later into pneumonia of violent nature. He was 84 years old. He is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter. He will be buried at Gainesville, which has been his home since the Civil War.

YAQUINA A GOOD HARBOR

Has Plenty of Water and Is the Most Convenient
Harbor in the State

(Toledo Leader.)

The Oregonian of December 28 under head of Washington news says: "Yaquina bay is still viewed with disfavor by the army engineers," but fail to substantiate this assertion by facts, but quotes "the recent report made by Major Langhitt shows that a total expenditure of $710,000 has been made at Yaquina and that this expenditure has provided a channel depth of from 18 to 19 feet on the bar. This depth, especially in view of the fact that there is a range of tide of nearly six feet a day, is, in the opinion of the engineers, all that is required by the commerce of Yaquina bay." The engineers does approve of an appropriation for repairs and keeping the jetty in order, and they nowhere say that a greater depth is impossible or is viewed with disfavor. There has never been a like amount of $710,000 spent with better results, as now there is by this report from 24 to 25 feet of water on the bar each day; the bar is short and only four miles from railroad terminus, instead of 120 miles of tortuous river that has exhausted the resources of a rich and powerful city to keep the sand bars dredged; Yaquina is only sixty-three miles by rail, with very easy grade, to the center of the great Willamette Valley. And this expenditure made on Yaquina bay has saved millions of dollars to Oregon, and Yaquina with her 25 feet of water and easy access, even if the great commercial forces at present choose not to use the Yaquina, the fact of this safe harbor, its 25 feet of water and its railroad facilities makes Yaquina bay at the present a great factor in keeping down freight on other transportation lines, thus saving thousands of dollars to the producers and shippers of Oregon, hence the government investment at Yaquina has more than paid for itself, and we are glad the engineers, knowing these facts, are unanimous in keeping the jetties in repair and continuing the blasting of rocks in the channel.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Memory of Charles W. Gleason.
The group at the fireside is lonely.
For Charlie, their dear one's not there,
And sad are their hearts and bleeding,
As they gaze at his now vacant chair.

His form at the table is missing.
His voice, as in days gone before,
With peals of its bright boyish laughter,
We'll hear their sweet echoes no more.

The children will wait for his coming.
No more, as the daylight fast fades;
His school mate will long for his presence
When rainclouds cast o'er their dark shades.

Yes, Charlie has gone on before us,
And left us to weep all in vain;
His sweet, gentle spirit has vanished
From a world of great sorrow and pain.

In daydreams we picture our Charlie
In beautiful mansions above
Surrounded by bands of bright angels
And safe in a dear Savior's love.

There, waiting for father and mother
So happy beyond the blue sky,
Where loved ones will all be united
And dwell in God's presence on high.
