A GREAT LAUGH CREATOR

"Are You a Mason?" Full of Complicated Situations

A Concatenation of Cackinatory Corrigenda Comically Combined

Mrs. Amos Bloodgood, one of the leading characters in "Are You a Mason?" is an ardent supporter of masonic principals. Not only does she require her husband to join, which, however, he only pretends to do; but thoroughly imbued with the fraternal spirit she carries it very much into private life, and when her eldest daughter, Eva wants to marry Frank Perry, she consents only on condition that her prospective son-in-law emulates her husband's example, and therein lies the difficulty for he, too, promises; but never joined. Both men are in consequence obliged to resort to all manners of subterfuge in order to conceal the deception. Around this thread are woven many intricate situations, and the ordeal through which the pretenders pass in trying to keep the secret is nerve-racking, and has each on the verge of nervous prostration.

Matters come to a climax however, when a bona-fide mason seeks to enter the portals of the Bloodgood's home through marriage with another daughter. Being somewhat of a gallant, he takes all the ladies to a real lodge function, where a series of complications lead to the undoing of Bloodgood and Perry. The hoax is, of course, discovered, the plot adjusts itself naturally and Mrs. Bloodgood's wrath is finally appeased by subsequent real touchers of masonic orders. "Are You a Mason?" will be presented here on Thursday, 14 at the Grand Opera House. The San Francisco Chronicle says of it:

"It is some time since we have had such a clever and amusing farce as "Are You a Mason?" which was received with great hilarity last night at the Columbia Theatre. It is a German piece originally by Laufs and Kratz, and Leo Ditrichstein has made a very merry adaptation of it. Like all good farces the plot is very simple, but the complications are hard to describe. It all turns on the escapades of Amos Bloodgood and Frank Perry, his son-in-law and the trouble they get into through trying to bluff it through that they are masons when they aren't. One of the best features in it is the young man who plays the modiste's girl and poses as a long lost daughter of the old man, the scheme being to get the money the old man has promised the son-in-law, which he is not likely to get. There is a constant laugh, very often becoming uproarious, all through the farce."

Climatic Cures.

The influence of climatic conditions in the cure of consumption is very much overdrawn. The poor patient, and the rich patient, too, can do much better at home by proper attention to food digestion, and a regular course of German Syrup. Free expectoration in the morning is made certain by German Syrup, so is a good night's rest and the absence of that weakening cough and debilitating night sweat. Restless nights and the exhaustion due to coughing, the greatest danger and dread of the consumptive, can be prevented or stopped by taking German Syrup liberally and regularly. Should you be able to go to a warmer clime you will find that of the thousands of consumptives there, the few who are benefited and regain strength are those who use German Syrup. Trial bottle, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists. At Dr. Stone's drug stores.

"Portland and Return Only $2.20." The Southern Pacific is now selling round trip tickets to Portland from Salem for $2.30, good going Saturday or Sunday, returning Sunday and Monday, giving all day Sunday and Monday in Portland. The same arrangement applies from Portland, giving all Portland people a chance to visit valley points at greatly reduced rates. W. E. COMAN, G. P. A.

Gold Dredging on Footh Creek. The gold dredge being built by Champlin & Co. at the mouth of Footh creek, is nearly ready to launch, and when launched the work of installing the machinery will be commenced. It is expected that the work will be completed and the dredger ready for operations about March 1st. The Grants Pass Courier says Champlin &

Co. became interested in Footh creek last spring, and bought the Lane property, paying $35,000 for 700 acres. They have also purchased about 500 acres besides, which makes them the exclusive owners along both sides of Footh creek from its mouth to the Ruble mine. The company commenced its operations by the building of a dam across the lower end of the natural basin. This dam is 20x300, and is intended to form a reservoir to float the dredge when it is completed.

The dredge itself is 112½ feet long and 36 feet wide, and will be equipped with two boilers each weighing 112 tons, engines and other necessary machinery. The elevator will be equipped with 40 buckets—each bucket and link weighing one ton, and with a capacity of eight cubic feet. With this elevator they will be able to dig to a depth of 85 feet, although the estimated depth necessary to go is 50 feet. The engines will be powerful enough to dig up the bedrock itself, which is a blue porphyry.—Ashland Tidings.

FIFTY CENTS A MONTH

A small bottle of Scott's Emulsion costing fifty cents will last a baby a month—a few drops in its bottle each time it is fed. That's a small outlay for so large a return of health and comfort.

Babies that are given Scott's Emulsion quickly respond to its helpful action. It seems to contain just the elements of nourishment a baby needs most.

Ordinary food frequently lacks this nourishment; Scott's Emulsion always supplies it.

We'll send you a sample free upon request. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl Street, New York.
