Clearance Sale And Sale of White

The most substantial of all foundations for a great mercantile institution is constructed of fair and honest dealing with the public. We are proud of the patronage accorded us during the short time our new enterprise has been in existence—proud of the enormous following our store owns today.

This good old homestead store has been the favorite shopping place ever since Salem was a town. But never in all its history has there been such remarkable money saving opportunities as we offer today, and all because we bought over $50,000 worth of goods at a great sacrifice.

THE UNKNOWN NUMBER FORMED

BY A COMMITTEE OF SALEM GENTLEMEN WHO SIGN A CERTIFICATE

Large Number of Guesses May Bring the Contest to a Close Sooner Than Was Planned at the Start

"It's the real thing. It's a fair way of awarding it." These and similar comments were made by the crowds in front of the C. H. Hinges jewelry store show window when The Journal $100 diamond Tiffany gold ring was put on exhibition Saturday, and it is an unmistakable fact that it is a diamond of the purest water, and a dazzling white stone of the kind now most fashionable, that sells at retail in the best jewelry stores at $150, and all who see it will say so. The setting will be completed in a few days, and then you can go in and put it on your lady's finger, and tell her you have made the guess of your life in her behalf, and, this being leap year, she may say the words that will make you happy.

Many Guesses Saturday. There was a constant stream of subscribers Saturday taking the numbered receipts, and writing their guesses on them and depositing them in the soldered tin box at the Journal office. There were ladies and gentlemen, state and city officials, business men and some of the sporting sort who were taken by the opportunity to participate in a "perfectly harmless and amusing guessing contest," but all lured on by the free gift to guess a $150 diamond ring onto their finger. Hon. D. H. Looney, of Jefferson, ex-president of the state board of agriculture, paid a year in advance and got four guesses, and says Mrs. Looney may as well prepare to wear the diamond ring, as he was a long time figuring out the number most likely to get the diamond.

If the guesses keep coming in personally and by mail as fast as they have the 975 receipts will be exposted before the month is up. But as soon as taken the diamond will be awarded.

The Unknown Number. We, the undersigned, were present at The Journal office January 11th, and assisted in the forming of the unknown number, according to the plan published to be used in the Capital Journal Diamond Guessing Contest. Under the rules of forming the number, it is impossible for anyone, not even the members of this committee, the publishers of The Journal, nor the jeweler who furnished the ring, to know what the number is. (Signed).

- N. J. JUDAH,
- J. G. GRAHAM,
- GEO. C. WILLE,
- HAL D. PATTON,
- CHAS. H. HINGES,
- FRANK C. FERGUSON.

The above named gentlemen were the committee. Constable John H. Lewis and J. M. Lawrence were on the committee, but arrived too late to participate.
