

MACHEN SAVED MONEY

Some Financial Manipulations in the Morgan Class

Saved Nearly One Hundred Thousand in Four Years From a $3,500 Salary

Washington, Feb. 11.—Cross-examination of Machen was continued this morning. Attorney Conrad elicited the information that, although he owed $30,000 when he arrived in Washington in 1891, he, nevertheless, from 1899 until he was removed from office, deposited in the Westminster, Maryland bank $77,000. His salary during that period was $35,000 per year.

No Alarm is Felt.

San Francisco, Feb. 11.—Alarm for the safety of the Japanese liner America Maru, which sailed from San Francisco for Yokohama January 25th, is not felt by local officials of the line; despite the dispatch to the contrary printed in Eastern papers today. At no time was it feared the vessel, which has on board many Americans, would fall into the hands of the Russians. However, if that should be its fate, the passengers would not be seriously discommoded, because Russia is bound by international laws of war to safely convey them to the nearest neutral port, which is Cheo Foo. The American Maru, running on schedule time, would arrive at Yokohama Saturday, but, as she departed with orders to make the journey at top speed, she may arrive tomorrow.

Climatic Cures.

The influence of climatic conditions in the cure of consumption is very much overdrawn. The poor patient, and the rich patient, too, can do much better at home by proper attention to food digestion, and a regular course of German Syrup. Free expectoration in the morning is made certain by German Syrup, so is a good night's rest and the absence of that weakening cough and debilitating night sweat. Restless nights and the exhaustion due to coughing, the greatest danger and dread of the consumptive, can be prevented or stopped by taking German Syrup liberally and regularly. Should you be able to go to a warmer clime you will find that of the thousands of consumptives there, the few who are benefited and regain strength are those who use German Syrup. Trial bottle, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists. At Dr. Stone's drug stores.

here yesterday, lasting for more than two hours. The first clap of thunder came at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and thunder and lightning occurred at intervals until 4:30. While little damage was done, electrical appliances all over the city were interfered with, and many persons received slight shocks.

The storm struck North Head at 10 a. m., but did not reach Astoria for four hours. At North Head last night fully two inches of rain fell, but there was scarcely any precipitation in this city. The electric storm had a singular effect on the government barometer in the local weather office, the record of which during the prevalence of the storm was of a zig-zag character.

Where Doctors Agree.

When a patient is under the doctor's care for some months, with constantly varying symptoms, but ever increasing weakness from the loss of flesh and strength by the ravages of disease, all doctors will agree that the first gain of flesh indicates a change for the better. Weak, thin, fleshless people, know they feel better as soon as they gain flesh. The best flesh and blood maker is Dr. Gunn's Blood & Nerve Tonic. For pimply, pale and sickly people, both old and young, a better medicine was never made. It turns the food you eat into strong, red blood making solid flesh and muscle at the rate of 1 to 3 lbs. per week. It is sold by all druggists for 75c per box, or 3 boxes for $2. To overcome the effect of over-indulgence or dissipation use this medicine.

Spaniels.

Spaniels, of which there are many breeds, are supposed to have first come from Spain, from which circumstance is derived their distinctive name. Charles I. was an ardent admirer of a small variety of this animal, and from that arose the designation of his pets, known the world over as King Charles, Blenheim or Marlborough spaniels, which greatly resemble the latter in form and general appearance, get their English name from Blenheim palace in Oxfordshire, where the breed has been preserved since the beginning of the eighteenth century.

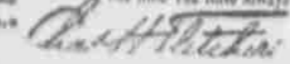

Stamina Needed.

The one indispensable quality of success in these days of tremendous competition is stamina. The young man who lacks that will never get far. He will soon be forced out of the race and sidetracked. Those who have possessed it have conquered innumerable difficulties.—Success.

Incurable.

We hear of six newspaper editors who recently inherited fortunes. Trouble is, when such things happen, they generally enlarge the paper and get poorer and happy again six months after.—Atlanta Constitution.

Germans Win a Victory.

London, Feb. 11.—A Central News telegram from Capetown says that government advisers state that the rebels in Gorman West Africa have been defeated by the Germans in a battle in the mountains.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Horse Collars.

It is an awkward, unpleasant thing to do to put a horse collar on by thrusting it over his head, giving it a turn and then moving it down to place. All horses do not take to this operation kindly and make their displeasure known when the groom is crowding the collar over the widest part of the head at the point of the eyes. I have seen horses, when the nose was just entered into the opening of the collar, thrust their heads through with a rush, as if to get through with the unpleasant operation as soon as possible. In the time the one who places a collar on a horse is very apt to get bounced about by the horse suddenly moving his head to one side to fight an annoying fly. There is hardly a person that handles horses much but has been jerked off his feet or balance many times. To avoid such troubles a few have their horse collars made to open at the top, and when placed on the ends are fastened together with buckle and strap, but this is very inconvenient for a short person to do, as he cannot see what he is about and has to be guided by the sense of feeling. A German has obviated all these difficulties. He has his collars made to open at the bottom. He puts one end over the horse's neck, slides it down to place and fastens it at the bottom with strap and buckle. What objection can there be to this method? None. What benefit? All that it is possible to be.—Dr. Galen Wilson in Practical Farmer.

Restricting Production.

That the agricultural production of this country is, as a whole, increasing there is little doubt. The consumption is growing yearly, and it must be so or we should face a serious shortage in more than one line of agricultural production. At the same time there is an obstacle to the rapid increase of production that promises to keep it within bounds of safety for some time to come, though of course some things will now and then be produced in excess of requirements. We refer to the scarcity of labor, which in spite of the general use of labor saving machinery is restricting the production of agricultural staples, or what amounts to the same thing, making their cost to the producer too great to allow of reckless production. Machinery has solved a part of this problem, but it does not extend to one of the vital factors, the household. It is hard enough to get help in the field, but it is harder still to get it in the home, and many a farmer must choose between restricting his crop area and overworking his family. The lack of help at home is affecting the volume of production to a far greater extent than is generally supposed.—Stockman and Farmer.

Use of Commercial Fertilizers.

The farmers of the six states, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, use annually $30,000,000 worth of commercial fertilizers. These six states have an average of $34,000,000 worth of live stock. Texas has $200,000,000 worth of live stock and uses $127,000,000 worth of commercial fertilizers. These figures do not really mean what they seem to indicate, for much of the Texas live stock is not kept on farms. Nevertheless, the best way to save large outlays for commercial fertilizers, which in the six states names amount to 10 per cent of the crops grown, is to keep more live stock and grow more feed.—Farm and Ranch.

Raising Sweet Potatoes.

Sweet potatoes should have a low bed in a deeply plowed soil and then shallow cultivation until the vines stop the plowing, after which grass and weeds should be removed with hoes. Unless the land is poor, stiff and clayey it will need no fertilizing for eating potatoes. Otherwise when large crops for stock feed are wanted, barnyard manure or any nitrogenous fertilizer, with some phosphate added, drilled in the furrows and well mixed with the soil before bedding. On deep, loose, sandy land free from weeds and grass the no plowing plan will do reasonably well.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

MARRIED.

WRIGHT—ELLIS.—At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Garbo, Aumsville, Or., Sunday, February 7, 1904, Mrs. Matilda A. Ellis to Harvey L. Wright, both of Aumsville, Lewis Bleakney, justice of the peace, officiating. The bride is a highly respected woman of that section, where she has lived all her life. The groom is station agent at Aumsville, and is well known in Salem, having, for a time, filled the place of baggage master at the local station. The couple will reside in Aumsville.

The Invention of the Piano.

The honor of inventing the piano is claimed by the English, the French and the Germans. Father Wood, an English monk at Rome, is said to have been the real inventor in 1711 and to have manufactured one, which he sold to Samuel Crispi, the author of "Virginia," from whom it was purchased by Falke Greville, though Count Caril claims the credit for Bartholomew Christoforic of Padua during his stay in Florence some three years later (1714). The French attribute the invention to a Parisian named Marius, who, they alleged, produced in 1716 a harpsichord in which hammers had been substituted for the old plectrums or quills. The Germans are the last in the field with J. C. Schroder of Dresden, who claimed (1717), when eighteen years of age, to have "constructed after much consideration the model of a new clavichord with hammers, upon which he could play loudly or softly."
