

Perfect Digestion Means Health.

A Good Stomach Keeps Every Part of the Body in Perfect Condition and Disease Cannot Break In.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR BAD STOMACHS.

You Can Also Enjoy Mince Pie If You Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

If your stomach is all right, you are all right. Why are growing boys nearly always healthy? Because they have not abused their stomachs by excessive eating and drinking and weakened or destroyed the functions of that organ. Because they eat what Nature demands of good wholesome food and then take plenty of exercise and run and romp and help out in the process of digestion and keep their stomachs strong and well. The same is true of men who lead active outdoor lives and engage in physical activity. Their digestion is perfect, the food nutriment is properly assimilated, the blood is pure and healthy and you seldom hear of them being afflicted with headache, backache, kidney trouble, liver trouble, constipation or any other of the common ills that always afflict those with bad stomachs.

If there is anything wrong with you, be sure your stomach is right. If it is not right, get it right and do it in the right way—that is the natural way.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a natural remedy for all stomach disorders and weakness. They possess exactly the same properties that the gastric juices and other digestive fluids of the stomach possess and they actually do the digestive work of the stomach and enable that organ to rest and recuperate and become sound and well.

A prominent Detroit physician says: "I prescribe Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for all cases of stomach trouble. I have tried many prescriptions, including a number of my own, but find nothing that gives such universal relief as this remedy. They are natural, harmless and thoroughly effective in their work, and while I have a natural antipathy to patent medicines, I do not hesitate to prescribe and recommend Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on all occasions."

The above is no exception. The best physicians are prescribing them all over the land. They can be had of any druggist for 50 cents a box, and if your own doctor is real honest with you, he will tell you frankly that there is nothing on earth so good for dyspepsia as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

ELBERT HUBBARD AND HIS AFFINITY

Head of the Roycrofters Shunned by His Fellowtownsmen of East Aurora, New York, Since His Legal Separation From His First Wife

Elbert Hubbard's mode of life at his home in East Aurora, a suburban village seventeen miles south of Buffalo is attracting much attention. His case seems to be the most remarkable in the literary firmament today, and many persons are wondering what may be looked for in his direction to make the situation more perplexing. Save for the gossip of literary people Elbert Hubbard, or Fra Elbertus, as he is popularly known, has his own way about everything.

In his community establishment at East Aurora his word is final, emphatic and often despotic. He cannot stop gossip and his person gets "gone over" thoroughly every day by the townsfolk. The new wife, Mrs. Alice Moore Hubbard, whom he brought to East Aurora immediately following the decree of absolute divorce granted by the New York state courts to Mrs. Bertha Crawford Hubbard, and who was named his correspondent in the divorce scandal, has not been accepted in the high social circles of the place in which the first Mrs. Hubbard figured conspicuously.

Mrs. Hubbard No. 1 was accomplished. She was a skilled musician and talented in other ways. Her paintings adorn the walls of many wealthy homes in Buffalo and other places. Mrs. Hubbard, who now holds forth among the Roycrofters, while treated with respectful submission, does not mingle with the inhabitants. When seen away from home she usually is accompanied by either Fra Elbertus or the little child born to them at Higham, Mass., eight years ago.

His Affinity at Home

Mrs. Hubbard has had a few callers, but they mainly are persons interested in one way or another in the woman who was then Miss Alice L. Moor. Now the newcomer across Hubbard's threshold finds herself in a peculiarly unfortunate situation. Aside from the matrimonial disturbances of the past year she finds that the original Mrs. Hubbard was extremely popular and moved in the best society.

This society has not invited or shown any inclinations to invite her into its folds. It is doubtful if it ever will, for all the old friends made upon her appearance as an educator at East Aurora are living elsewhere. The first Mrs. Hubbard, who lives with her divorced husband's married sister, frequently visits her old friends but steers away from the Hubbard sanctum, allowing her children to visit her at Buffalo.

Fra Elbertus, popular though he is abroad, is not strong with the townspeople. Away from home people travel great distances to hear him speak. And yet Hubbard lectures often at the Roycroft chapel at East Aurora but not one out of fifty of the inhabitants of that village seek to hear him, nor do many of them read his literary productions. The strained relations of the man and the people living near him are not due to any unbecomingly disposition on his part or on the part of others. Prior to the divorce proceedings Hubbard was actually adored by many.

Villagers boasted of producing a man of marked ability and delighted to tell their friends of his charming qualities, but when they learned of the dual life he had been leading and read in the newspapers of the details of the affair, like all other villagers, they decided to take a stand in the matter and they stood for Mrs. Hubbard and it is her side of the case they favor today. The subsequent marriage of Elbert Hubbard to Miss Moore caused another stir among the community and still more of his followers fell away from him. Now Hubbard's life as a literary light hangs in the balance and his future may depend on his conduct.

Fra Elbertus' Garb.

About their home Elbert Hubbard and his "affinity" are busy people. They are never idle. If Fra Elbertus is not writing or looking about the Roycroft he can be found hoeing the garden. At times he is absent for six weeks on a lecturing tour. Hubbard never dresses fashionably; usually his favorite garb consists of a slouch hat, blue flannel shirt, corduroy trousers and leggings, or in place of the last named, a pair of high boots. It is commonly stated that Mrs. Hubbard passes more time with her pen than with her husband. Her ability in this direction has been held responsible for their attachment.

In every way the breaking up of the Hubbard family has decidedly hurt Fra Elbertus. It has not helped him away from home. A prominent author has been quoted as saying: "Hubbard is the saddest dog extant today in the literary firmament." Fra hasn't decided how to take the author's comment.

When Mrs. Bertha Crawford Hubbard, the mother of his family, left his East Aurora mansion, she took with her the two younger children, a boy and a girl, leaving the two older boys to live with their father. This, however, they do not do. The eldest son, Elbert Hubbard II, disapproves his father's treatment of his mother and of his marriage to Miss Moore. In this, as will be understood he has gained many friends which his parent lost. The young man, who has only voted twice, resembles his father to a stature. He is not bent in the literary line like his father.

New Yorkers Pay More for Bread.

New York, March 7.—The average Gothamite is a patient creature and as a rule he voices only feeble protest against paying more for his living than any one else on the face of the globe, but when it comes to paying so very much more for his daily bread, in a literal sense—well, that's another matter. This winter the price of beef has gone up by leaps and bounds until it has become almost a luxury. The cost of vegetables and nearly all staple groceries has increased proportionately. Tenants throughout the city have received notices that beginning May 1 their rents will be increased, in some cases as much

Botanical Plants Hold the Secret of Life and Death.

Recent experiments conducted by most eminent scientists, prove that light is a great remedial agent; it is essentially Nature's agent. It may be either sunlight or electric light, but it has a decided effect in helping nature to banish disease and restore health. Other scientific men have proved that oxygen electrifies the heart and can prolong life.

The people on this earth are susceptible to some laws which govern plant life. A plant cannot be successfully grown in the dark. A man is seldom healthy and strong who lives in the dark or in sunless rooms. After all, Nature's ways are found to be the best. Nature's remedies are always best for eradicating disease, and by this we mean a medicine made of roots and herbs. They are assimilated in the stomach and taken up by the blood and are, therefore, the most potent means which can be employed for the regaining of lost health.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., in many years of extensive practice, found that he could pin his faith to an alternative extract of certain plants and roots for the cure of all blood diseases. This he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Containing no alcohol nor narcotics, entirely vegetable, it makes rich red blood and is a powerful tissue-builder, giving the tired business man or woman renewed strength and health. Rapidly growing school-boys and boys often show impoverished blood by the pimples or boils which appear on the face or neck. To eradicate the poisons from the blood, and feed the heart, lungs and stomach on pure blood, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Don't allow the dealer to insult your intelligence by offering his own blood remedy to you instead of this well-known preparation of Dr. Pierce's Tea chances to cure will substitute a cheap compound having a large percentage of alcohol in it. Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the best for the bowels. Use them with the "Discovery," as fifty per cent. The coal man has charged the limit on his products this winter and the ice man promises to do the same next summer.

All of this has been more or less without complaint, but today mutterings of discontent were heard from the Battery to the Harlem river and a flood of wrath promises to break loose at any moment and hurl to destruction the baker man who has followed in the footsteps of the landlord, the butcher, the grocer and the coal dealer in increasing the price of his wares.

When the housewife went to the door this morning and relieved from the baker boy the breakfast rolls and buns she found upon opening the bag that it contained but six instead of the customary seven or eight. The same startling discovery was made from one limit of the metropolis to the other. A call at the bakery brought to light the fact that the master bakers throughout the city has made an iron-clad agreement to advance prices and that the increase became effective today. The increase affects not only bread and rolls, but all other bakers' products of which wheat flour forms the basis.

The high price of flour is the plea offered by bakers for the advance in prices, but they are careful to add that the new schedule will be maintained no matter how flour quotations go. They declare that not only has the price of flour greatly increased, but that rents have gone up fifteen to twenty-five per cent., the cost of labor has increased twenty-five per cent. in two years, while hours of work have been reduced. It would be impossible, they say, to make money at the old prices.

A Ministers Mistake.

A city minister was recently handed a notice to be read from his pulpit. Accompanying it was a clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the matter. The clergyman started to read the extract and found that it began: "Take Kemp's Balsam, the best Cough Cure." This was hardly what he had expected, and, after a moment's hesitation, he turned it over and found on the other side the matter intended for reading.
