MACCABEE GOAT WELL GROOMED

Over One Hundred Were Initiated Last Night

The Meeting a Splendid Success-- Hundreds at the Banquet Board--Good Night's Work

The Maccabees held a monster initiation in Salem last night, when the tents from the surrounding towns met with the Salem tent, bringing together 500 Maccabees for a night of festivity and work, such as that organization has never before seen in Salem, or in any other town in Oregon. The meeting and initiation was arranged for two months ago, when it became known that Supreme Commander D. P. Markey, of Port Huron, Mich., would be in Portland this week to attend the state convention of the order, and which began in that city today. It was ascertained that Mr. Markey would come through here Monday afternoon, and the monster meeting was scheduled for that night, so that Mr. Markey could be present. It was arranged that all the nearby tents should join with the Salem members and give the distinguished visitors a grand reception, and at the same time a campaign for new members was commenced, that resulted in the initiation of 136 neophytes last night.

Mr. Markey did not arrive, for the reason that his train, due here from San Francisco at 4:34 last evening, did not reach Salem until 11 o'clock this morning, and Mr. Markey, therefore, went on through to Portland.

But, in spite of the absence of the head of the order, the meeting last night was a great success. The candidates for initiation were divided into squads, and the two teams of the Salem and Pratum tents conferred the beautiful work on the class, earning the unstinted praise of the visitors for the excellence of the work.

Following the initiation the banquet tables were spread, and the hosts of Maccabees were regaled, the Salem tent having prepared a fine repast, and feasting continued until an early hour this morning, when, tired but happy with the knowledge of the good work done, the lodge adjourned.

On this morning's Albany local train a number of them went to Portland, to attend the state convention, among them being 60 of the members of the Salem tent, and the following, representing tents at Jefferson, Lincoln, Pratum, Independence, Dallas and Falls City: J. C. Reed, W. M. Stanton, G. Goff, Fred D. Walter, John Simpkins, E. C. Miller, C. E. Short, W. A. Short, C. W. Stage, C. O. Rice, T. B. Windsor, A. A. Roy, A. Simpkins, W. Gholson, H. O. Stanton, Will Road, A. Sanders, W. L. Sharp, Emile Graber, Ed. Trandrich, J. W. Spong, Edward Demcor, Jesse Simpkins, A. T. Moffitt.

SHERIFF STOREY IS MAD

Discharged Seventeen Clerks From His Office

Bounced Mathews, and Says He Will Fight Stott and the Crowd to a Finish

Sheriff Storey let loose a cyclone of his own in the court house yesterday. The storm which annihilated his boom in last Saturday's convention was as a summer breeze by comparison. Mr. Storey demonstrated that he will be on earth as sheriff several months yet, and, while he continues to draw breath as guardian of the county's peace, he will be his own boss. And the two score clerks and deputies under his sway, some of whom got their jobs by the grace of his now unmasked enemies, felt their hair stand on end.

The Titanic sheriff went to work with the sun, and was clearing away wreckage all day. The following is a brief resume of his achievements:

Discharged 17 clerks in the tax collecting department; forced W. F. Mathews, who is United States marshal, and boss of the Republican organization, to beat a retreat from his office; discharged a volley of maledictions after the fleeing marshal in words that proved a redundant vocabulary; declared that he could show the Mathews-Carey people how to clean out gambling in the next three months; announced that he would fight to the death James M. Stott, Republican nominee for sheriff, and made known that an independent candidate for the office, either himself or somebody else, would run against Stott.

All day long the mighty sheriff wielded his arm and was so busy that he hardly sat down on his long coat-tails, before he bounced up to another strenuous deed.

Blod in Storey's Eye. Clerks and deputies saw blood in the sheriff's eye when he arrived on the scene in the morning, and they quaked in their boots. Towards those who had been "traitors" he was stern.

Salem Woolen Mill Store

C. P. Bishop, Proprietor

and vindictive. Towards his friends he was soft and gentle.

"I won't have a traitor in the office," he proclaimed. "But the 17 men were not discharged for political reasons. Oh, no. I'm just cutting down expenses, taxes were mostly collected and their services were no longer needed."

But the list of martyrs includes the name of T. C. Powell, who worked to defeat Storey in the convention, and who is related by marriage to Stott; also the name of A. F. Bidwell, brother-in-law of Judge Carey. But Storey admitted last night that among the discharged were several traitors.

"Before I get done with this fight," he cried, "they will know I'm in it," and was very vehement indeed.

Storey avers that Mathews, Carey, Powell and Charles Burckhardt plighted him their most solemn word that their would be no "state" in the convention. Relying on that pledge, he gave freely to their campaign fund, ran himself into debt to help carry the primaries, worked hard, and permitted them to levy an assessment on his employees for the campaign fund.

New Suits Filed.
 The California Powder Works, plaintiff, vs. Gold Creek Mining Co., defendant, is the title of an attachment suit filed in the circuit court. The plaintiff asks for judgment for $460 and interest at 6 per cent from February 5, 1904, to secure payment for goods alleged to have been sold defendant between November 1st, and December 5, 1903. The mining property of the defendant corporation was attached.

Arthur Farrow, plaintiff, vs. Winnie D. Watto, et al., is another suit filed in the second department. The action is brought to quiet title to a certain tract of land claimed by plaintiff and in which defendants are said to claim rights and interests.
