WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH COLORADO?

They have had martial law in some of the counties of Colorado for nearly a year.

The governor, backed by the national guard, has been in forcible conflict with the miners and the courts.

Property and life are insecure, industries are paralyzed, capital is terrified and labor is insecure.

Labor organizations are in a state of siege for their existence and their leaders are under arrest and deported.

The national labor organizations are conferring with the president seeking to find a remedy.

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH COLORADO?

Some blame politics, some blame the Socialists, some blame labor organizations.

There must be an underlying cause. Why strike at the surface effects? WHY NOT GET AT THE REAL INFLUENCES BACK OF ALL THE DISTURBANCE?

Read the following telegram from the seat of war in the fair state of Colorado:

Telluride, Colo., May 10.—Judge Theron Stevens today adjourned the May term of the district court, as this county, San Miguel, is under martial law. No action was taken on the application to make permanent the injunction granted by the court at Ouray, restraining the Citizens' Alliance and mineowners from interfering with the return of the deported miners to their homes in Telluride.

In announcing his decision, Judge Stevens referred to the fact that when he came into town last evening he was forced to walk through files of soldiers who had been stationed at the depot with orders to arrest deported union men, who it was falsely reported, were returning with the judge.

"The demonstration at the depot upon the arrival of the train," said Judge Stevens, "could only have been planned and executed for the purpose of showing the contempt of the military, and a certain portion of this community, for the civil authority of the state and their authority over this district. I had always been led to suppose, from such research as I had been able to make, that in a republic like ours, the people were supreme; that the people had expressed their will in a constitution which was enacted for the government of all authority in this state. That constitution provides that the military shall always be in strict subordination to the civil authorities. It is doubtless construed differently, however, by the executive, who has declared this county to be in a state of insurrection, and has declared martial law within its limits.

"I can only believe from the indications, from the demonstrations that have been made, from the conditions which seem to exist here, that the executive and the military and a portion of the people of this county are willing that this court should be opened and such business transacted as meets the approval of the people; that such orders of the court as meet the approval of the military commander and a portion of the people of the county may be executed, but that such portion of the orders of this court or the decrees of this court as do not meet with the approval of the military and the people of this county may not be executed. Under such circumstances, the court would not be in a position to enforce its lawful orders, or what it conceives to be its lawful orders. Such being the case, it would simply be a farce to attempt to enforce civil law in this county."

Isn't the real fault in the hysterical, emotional character of the people of Colorado?

Hasn't that state too large an element of wishy-washy, sentimental, bombastic, flag-flying, sky-scraping, cut-throat politics?

Haven't they got woman suffrage, and initiative and referendum and eight-hour laws, and balloon-inflated jim-jam governmental hysterics in general?

Hasn't Colorado overdone the labor-union act? Isn't there such thing as labor organizations overdoing the thing, and too much taking charge of everything, and killing the goose that lays the golden ducats?

Labor organizations when they pass the deadline and put the kibosh on the situation and tell the capitalists to dig up or get out, inaugurate revolutionary tactics.

Labor-unions that become political organizations, and a mere tail to the kite of Socialism or any other ism that seeks to take charge of the government, such as they have become in Colorado—read Maclure's magazine for May—simply raise h—l with a commonwealth.

IN THE MEANTIME WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH COLORADO?

OUR GIRLS NEED CARE.

Young girls can well read the appeal of Miss Varina Starkweather, of New York, who fell from the pinnacle of chastity and virtue to the depths of debauchery and shame. The girl is 20 years of age, and belongs to a well-to-do family, but several years ago, while yet in her teens, commenced to lead a fast life. The same old story, a woman's love a man's passion and then, disgrace. Varina was finally induced to enter a Magdalen Home, where, under the helpful influence of the surroundings, she repented, and sends a note of warning to others.

She writes a pathetic appeal to her girl friends, and it is worth the while of every girl to read it. Varina says: "I write this, not for sympathy, not for justice, but to try in my own small way to teach a lesson to girls—young, pretty girls—girls whose characters, whose habits and ideas are being formed, whose whole life and happiness may depend upon just such small, seemingly insignificant things as mine did.

"No need of going back to my early life. Enough that I was always given my own way, petted, caressed, loved and therefore spoiled. That word 'spoiled' in childhood so often changes to disgrace in later years. "Girls, can you not see that, even though father and mother seem harsh not lenient enough to suit your ideas, it is just because they want you to be all you should be for your own sake, and because you are their own child? I know it seems hard to realize this at times—used to be hard for me—and it was not until I had passed through great trials that I knew they were right. Had I only listened to them, I would not now be publicly disgraced.

"If I could only make you understand what a dreadful thing it is for a girl—young girl who is just at the age when life should mean most—when she should be respected—what it means to know she is disgraced, has lost the confidence of all.

"Sermons can be preached, lectures delivered, books written on the cause of sin. I know by bitter experience, by bitter repentance, what it all—in some manner or other—comes from. It is derived from drink.

"Had I never tasted that first cocktail would never have been the cause of trouble to my family. "Remember it is not always the girl without a home. It is to often the girl who has a home, father, mother, friends—all she wishes to make a happy home and contented life. She feels that whatever she does will be all right, that no harm will ever come, and even though it should, it would be covered up. But sin cannot be covered up.

"I am today in this Magdalen Home when it is 'too late' to see the nothingness of the gay drinking times—the deceiving of father and mother. I must go without the little comforts, the luxuries I had at home, and rise in the morning to my bread and molasses, while the ones I loved and trusted, who I thought were my friends live in their old way. Oh, if I could only have realized what home meant before! I must conform rules that are sometimes bitterly hard; yet, girls, this is nothing compared to the mental agony and torture!"

Some people say, "well, she is to blame; it was her own waywardness that led to her downfall," but the fact remains that hundreds of girls are going to damnation every day, and really not through their own fault. Parents are sometimes blame, but the downfall of their daughters but a casual inquiry will show that four-fifths of the inmates of houses of ill-fame are daughters of respectable people. Lowness and crime do not breed suitable characters for such places, but they are drafted from the houses of people who are refined and educated.

The social problem needs more attention. Empty palaver about foreign countries and strange people might be made to accomplish much if directed to questions of this character at home. Let us save the American girl before we turn our attention to other lands.

$200,000 LABEL SUIT.

Dr. R. V. Pierce's company, The World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., has brought a suit for libel against the publishers of The Ladies' Home Journal, of Philadelphia, for $200,000 damages. The sworn complaint has been filed in the clerk's office at Buffalo, N. Y. It appears from this that The Ladies' Home Journal in a recent number published an attack on patent medicines. This article charged that the well-known remedy, called "Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription," contained seventeen per cent, of alcohol, also certain drugs and that these ingredients made the medicine harmful and dangerous. The sworn complaint shows that the above statement is wholly and absolutely false in every particular, and that the medicine contains no deleterious ingredients whatever, and none of the ingredients stated in the article so published being made of certain extracts of medicinal plants and roots—harmless to the most delicate constitution.

When called upon, Dr. V. Mott Pierce, an officer of the company said: "In a recent article, The Ladies' Home Journal made this wholly unfounded attack upon our remedy. The charges made against our medicine are absolutely false, as the complaint in our suit shows. We find it hard to understand how a reputable magazine of the high standing and enormous circulation of The Ladies' Home Journal should make such a damaging statement without taking pains to ascertain the facts. The remedy, 'Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription' is so well and favorably known, and has such a wide sale, that we could not afford to allow such a charge to pass unanswered. The fact is the 'Favorite Prescription' is composed of extracts of medicinal plants, roots and herbs, which would not harm the most delicate system. It is a false and unfounded attack upon the good name and repute of our company."

A BICYCLE SCRAP BOOK.

"The Quest for Health" is the title of a very original and unique booklet filled with bright and brief sayings of leading men and women in enthusiastic favor of bicycling for health, pleasure and business. Among the contributors are: President Eliot, of Harvard; Dean Hitchcock, of Amherst; George W. Cable, the author; President Wheeler, of the university of California; Dr. George H. Fox, of New York; Drs. F. Savary Pearce and George M. Gould of Philadelphia; Dr. Daniel S. Lamb of Washington; Dr. Frank Billings, of Chicago; "Sorosis" President Charlotte B. Wilbour; Charles Francis Adams of Boston; President Hall, of Clark university; Palmer Cox; and a couple of hundred of other great lights of business and profession. By a very original combination of ink and paper, each article or scrib appears to be pasted into the book in close imitation to a genuine scrap-book. The work is one of the most interesting ever published. A copy will be sent, free, postage paid to anyone who will drop postal card to the Oakwood Publishing Co., 29 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

NEW LAW AIDS THE SOUND.

Just before congress adjourned last Thursday the President signed the bill permitting vessels of thirty tons register to import goods into the United States from Canada.

This bill is of importance to the owners of small vessels trading between Puget Sound ports and Canada and was introduced on the recommendation of the treasury department.

The same law has applied to importations from Canada into Maine for nearly 100 years, and conditions on the Pacific coast being now somewhat similar it was thought that the law should be extended to that section.

Fruit Growers' Union.

The members of the Salem Fruit Growers' union are requested to meet Saturday afternoon, May 14, at 3 p. m. at the office of the Pearson-Page Co., 179 Commercial street. By order of the BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

X-RADIUMS

What would be nicer than to present your wife or intended with a fine new coaster brake bicycle of the best Mitchell make? You can make this great hit, or have a chance at it, by taking a free guess at the population of Salem? See our offer.

If you have never done anything else, you can at least take a free guess at the population of Greater Salem. See our offer.

The people of Salem have never got anything out of their school board in the way of progress without fighting for it. The people forced the board to adopt the popular loan. The people forced the district to get onto a cash basis. The people will force the majority of the school board to get out of the rut of mossbackism, and put the Salem schools up to where they should be, on a par with other towns. That policy will improve the prospects of every educational institution in this city.

The Salem strawberry will yet make its mark in the world.

Who would not go to St. Louis where you can perspire freely day and night, without the slightest effort? But they have a grand fair, and a great many people seem to think it worth while.

"Passionate piety" is what they term religious fanaticism in Illinois. Out here in Oregon, where everything goes by its right name, it is known as insanity, and "pieties" are promptly sent to the asylum.

If you are good at figures you can get that Salem guessing contest free bicycle offered by this paper. Even editors of exchanges in rival cities have a chance to make a guess, by sending in a subscriber.

It seems impossible to construct a Republican ticket so that "Tip" Humphrey will support all of it.

The Woman's Club is a good thing. It affords more opportunities for comparison, and all the members go better dressed, if they have to hire their sewing done.

Of course, Joe Cannon must have it in for Binger Hermann, to have sent him on a special committee to the St. Louis fair.

What do women want to belong to women's clubs for? Can't they be content to look pretty and be interesting in place of wanting to do a lot of talking and investigating on their own hook? After a while they will be wanting to do their own thing.

These warm spring afternoons can see the world's fair without going to St. Louis.

All the Salem girls that are married in May certainly intend to go in June.

The farmers have built the Liberty broken rock road to the city limits of the south. What will the politicians of the seventh ward do now?

The Holy Rollers are all in the lull. There hasn't been any one lately. It is about time for something to be doing at Corvallis.

Some of the papers keep throwing it at us, why we don't adopt the Australian law, and that why don't we go to the ex-convict colony for everything?

If that horse on the big Salem bridge had jumped the other way, and gone over those jingling clothesline guard rails, he would have furnished a first-class newspaper item.

Have your mouth ready for the big Salem Strawberries.

Albany Democrat: "I would like to have a farmer come to town to see how one looks," remarked the First-street man today. The farmer are as busy as two young bears.

The picnic season is now due to arrive. Young ladies get those dresses ready, and gentlemen, what about those picnic pants?

Our old friend J. A. Burlingame, J. A. Jeffrey of Eastern Oregon, editing the Wallawa county journal.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff are as a rule, are sticky or irritating substances that do no earthly good. Hair, when diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far as only hair preparation that will really destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide, absolutely harmless, free from persediment, dye matter or dangerous ingredients. It always itching instantly; makes glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sell leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps sample to The Herpicide Co., Des Moines, Mich.

Free Information About the World's Fair

If you have any idea of visiting the World's Fair this year, ask me today for a copy of our World's Fair Folder.

It tells just what you want to know about railroad tickets, baggage arrangements, sleeping car berths, how to reach the Exposition grounds, what to do when you get there, how to see the Fair to the best advantage, how to get a boarding place, and answers nearly every question of this character that may be asked.

Contains maps of the Fair grounds, of the City and of the Burlington Route.

Free for the asking—A postal card will do.
