

TRONG YOUNG REPUBLIC.

J. G. Graham, A Sterling Business Man

Will Make a Grand Race for Representative Next Month

J. G. Graham, candidate on the Republican ticket for representative, born in New York state 37 years ago and came to Oregon in 1889. Mr. Graham has always been a Republican and cast his first vote for ex-President Harrison in 1888. Since coming to Salem Mr. Graham has taken an active part in the city and county affairs, and has worked hard for the interests of both. He was one of the charter members of the Salem Young Men's Republican Club, and now a member of the executive committee from the third ward. Mr. Graham is also a charter member of the Greater Salem Commercial Club, one of its hardest workers. At last annual meeting of the club was honored with the position of secretary, an office that carries with it a great deal of work and responsibility. This club has been constant in its work for Salem's betterment, and Mr. Graham has much to do for the club's activity. As a Republican he has given a great deal of his time for the success of his party, having served as secretary of the city central committee during the last campaign, and worked hard for the success of his party at that time. Mr. Graham is opposed to the registration law, in its present form, and desires that it either be repealed or amended so as to avoid annual or biennial registration, and if elected his favor legislation to this effect. He is also in hearty sympathy with the platform adopted by the last convention. Mr. Graham is a young man whose character is above reproach and whose integrity is unquestioned. He is one of the younger business men of the county, and will make a record in the next legislature that will be a credit to the county and himself. Mr. Graham has done business in the county for the past 12 years, and during the last four years he has been dealing directly with the farmers and has always looked after their interests the same as if they were his own. The Republicans of this county will see no mistake in casting their vote for Mr. Graham for representative.

Unitarians to Meet.

Boston, Mass., May 21.—The advance guard of delegates and visitors is arriving for the anniversary meeting here next week of the American Unitarian association. All parts of the country will be represented. Many interesting meetings have been arranged for the week, including addresses by prominent men and among the social features will be a reception Monday evening at Hotel Somerset and a Unitarian festival Friday evening in Tremont Temple.

Among the prominent persons who will take part in the various meetings are President Elliot, of Harvard; Rev. Florence Buck, of Kenosha, Wis.; President, Franklin C. Southworth, of Meddville Theological school; Rev. Minot J. Savage, General William F. Draper and Lieut. Gov. Curtis, Jr.

Address upon aspects of the Unitarian church work will be presented by Rev. George W. Stone, field secretary for the Pacific Coast; Rev. W. M. Backus, secretary of the Western conference; Rev. Thomas J. Elliot, commissioner to Japan, and Rev. Henry W. Foote, of New Orleans.

Co-Operation in England.

London, May 21.—Nowhere else in the world do co-operative societies flourish as they do in England. If anyone were inclined to doubt this statement he would have been convinced of its entire truth had he been present today at Stratford, where 2000 delegates were assembled at the opening of the annual Co-Operative congress. The delegates came from every nook and corner of England and represented no less than 7,000,000 of the population. The aggregate capital of these societies reaches fabulous figures and the profit to the members is very great. In Stratford alone the societies have a membership of 12,000, among whom more than $125,000 was distributed during the last year.

The congress will continue one week and will be devoted to discussions of the co-operative movement in all its phases. The delegates will also inspect the great industrial institutions in the neighborhood, including the Great Eastern railroad shops, the Woolwich arsenal, and the Alberta and Victoria docks.

Lecture on Human Nature.

Frank Abraham Powell is delivering a course of Sunday night lectures on "Human Nature," at the Unitarian church. The second lecture of the course will be given tomorrow (Sunday) night, at 8 p. m. Subject: "Signs of Character." All invited.
