Memorial Exercises.

In response to an invitation from the Christian church, the ladies of the G. A. R. and comrades, headed by two little boys and two little girls, carrying flags, marched from their hall to the church, where they listened to a most excellent address from Rev. Errett, which was very much appreciated.

Again in the evening they marched to the church, where the Circle gave a very interesting entertainment. A flag salute by six little girls, recitations by little Stewart Walker and Gladys Hutchins. The original story of the war by Mrs. R. E. Wands, was given in a manner which brought tears to the eyes of many, who had passed through just such scenes.

The Circle takes this opportunity to thank the Christian church for courtesies extended.

Ladies of the G. A. R. decorated the graves at the Lee Mission cemetery yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

ALBANY WIN THE SERIES

Took Both Games Yesterday—Salem Maintains the Lead in the League

Table with 5 columns: Club, P, W, L, PC. Rows for Salem, Eugene, Albany, Roseburg.

Monday Afternoon Games.

At Salem—Albany 6, Salem 2. At Eugene—Eugene 3, Roseburg 1. The largest crowd that has turned out in Salem to a baseball game this season witnessed the last of the Albany-Salem series at the baseball park yesterday afternoon.

The game was hard fought and well played, and both teams were at it every minute. Albany, contrary to their usual custom of failing to do anything in the first inning, started off with fireworks. Donovan, the first man up, got first on balls, Raymond followed with a little pop fly to Califf, Lewis hit safe to left garden, and Johnson followed with a two-bagger, which scored Donovan, Lewis got home on an error of Williams, Lee went to first on a fielder's choice, Sullivan was hit and made first, Johnson made home on an error of the pitcher. Harper got a single, but Lee was put out trying to steal third, and Sullivan went out at second, leaving Harper on first when the side was retired.

Salem, as usual, started well, Fay getting a long drive into right field, but it was caught by Lee, Wilkins followed with a three-bagger, Loughheed put one in left, which was caught by Harper, Davis put a safe one into right, which scored Wilkins, Williams hit safe, but Davis was caught at third, which retired the side.

First inning, Albany 3, Salem 1. In the second inning Gregory singled, Donovan sacrificed him to second, but the side failed to score. Downie drew a two-bagger and made third on a wild pitch, but Gregory redeemed himself by fanning the next two men, and the third went out on a foul fly. The second ended with score unchanged.

In the third Albany again refused to score. But the Raglans thought it was time to do something. Loughheed being a good water got first on called balls. Davis and the ball mixed, and he took first, Williams trotted down on an error of the third baseman, while Loughheed came in. Downie rapped out a one-timer, which scored Davis, but was left on first, for the next two men failed to make good.

Third inning Albany 3, Salem 3. The score remained a tie until the seventh, when Donovan hammered out a one-bagger, and moved to second when Raymond was put out at first, and came home on a safe hit by Lewis. Albany scored again in the ninth, Lewis getting a hit, Johnson sacrificing him to second, Sullivan moving him to third with a hit, and G. Wilkins sending him home by an error.

The Raglans didn't score after the third, but, nevertheless, put up a fine game of ball. The Albanyites, noted for stealing bases, failed to get a steal credited to them yesterday, owing to the fast work of Joe Wilkins.

The score was as follows:

Notes of the Game.

McInnis made a wonderful one-hand running catch of a long fly in left field yesterday afternoon that brought down the grand stand and bleachers. It was one of those kind that we hear about, and not often get to see. "Mc" distinguished himself in both games yesterday, batting a home run in the morning, and following it up in the afternoon with fast fielding. But then we always knew that he was all wool and a yard wide.

Gregory and Califf are certainly good pitchers, and get out of some pretty bad holes. Yesterday afternoon they both had the bases full, and, by good, heady tossing, managed to stop the run-getting.

Loughheed and "Slats" Taylor had the experience in the morning. They started in to play a seven-inning game and the score tied up in a double-bow knot, forcing them to pitch nine innings. "Slats" says that he has turned his horseshoe the other side up, and now expects to set a new pace.

The rooters named Raymond, the Albany shortstop, "Biscuits," and it froze to him like a Greenland icicle. Echoes from the Salem fans: Rotterdam games Monday.

Remarks by the Albany crowd: That's the kind of ball for a team to play.

Joe Fay stopped a hot grounder that seemed to have found a happy home out in the center field corner. He cut off at least two bases by a hard effort.

Harper made a fine running catch of a foul in left field, and it earned him a hearty cheer from the Salem crowd. We just mention this to show that the local enthusiasts are not hide bound.

Virgil Taylor, commonly known as

"Slats," was having a wild dream last night, at the corner of Commercial and State streets, about getting $105 for pitching one game of ball last season. It would be advisable for friend "Slats" to change his "brand," or tell those stories in Albany. They might believe them there.

The Albany team goes to Portland from here, playing two weeks in that city, the first week with the Roseburg Shamrocks, and the second week with the Raglans, of this city.

It was the North Salem Juniors against the South Salems on Memorial day in the forenoon and at the end of the eighth inning the score stood 14 to 5 in favor of the fifth warders, the third game won between the same clubs. Blaco pitched for the Norths, and Keeton for the Seventh warders. Peason of the Norths made the only home run. The fifth and seventh wards are full of good baseball material.

Anxious for Salem Berries.

Secretary J. M. Kyle, of the Salem Fruit Growers' Union, is spending a few days in the surrounding towns in the interest of the strawberry crop, and finds the local dealers very anxious to get Salem berries at a good price. The Salem dealers last year gained a good reputation, and dealers in the nearby towns prefer to handle this product, to any shipped in from outside. This is good news for the local growers, and Mr. Kyle's efforts in their behalf will no doubt be appreciated. It is his opinion that growers could get a better price for their fruit by pooling it, and supplying the valley trade, than by hauling it about locally. This year 1904 should be the banner one for strawberries, and fully establish the claims of the Salem Fruit Growers Union to a permanent business.

Wm. Riley, son of Peter Riley, the prominent horseman of Albany, is in the city with a band of fine horses, and will go to Dallas with them in the morning.

Miss Rose Hennessy, well known as a poetess and elocutionist, of Lexington, Ky., tells how she was cured of uterine inflammation and ovaritis by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For years I enjoyed the best of health and thought that I would always do so. I attended parties and receptions thinly clad, and would be suddenly chilled, but I did not think of the results. I caught a bad cold eighteen months ago while menstruating, and this caused inflammation of the womb and congested ovaries. I suffered excruciating pains and kept getting worse. My attention was called to your Vegetable Compound and the wonderful cures it had performed, and I made up my mind to try it for two months and see what it would do for me. Within one month I felt much better, and at the close of the second I was entirely well.

"I have advised a number of my lady friends to use it, and all express themselves as well satisfied with the results as I was."—Miss Rose Hennessy, 410 S. Broadway, Lexington, Ky. — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

WHAT REPUBLICAN-ISM STANDS FOR

The Republican party is the party of progress. It moves ever forward; it never stands still. It does not hang onto old worn out tissues after their usefulness has departed. It is ever seeking the greatest good for the greatest number of the American people, and the confidence placed by the people in the wisdom of its actions is proof that it has been successful.

Every great achievement of the American nation for the past forty years, either in arms or diplomacy, has been wrought under the direction of Republicans.

Republicans believe in building up, not in tearing down. They have built up a nation of prosperous, happy people in the United States. They have started a new, free nation upon the blood-stained soil of Cuba, from the ruins of a despotic and aristocratic government. They have extended the territory of these United States to the Orient and the Arctic.

They have commenced the construction of a highway for the commerce of the world from the Atlantic to the Pacific across the Isthmus of Panama. Republicanism has built up the American navy until now the stars and stripes float in every clime, over ships the equal of those of any nation on the globe.

Republicanism stands for progress, prosperity and patriotism. Under the administration of the Republican party every man is secure in those "certain inalienable rights" with which the immortal Declaration of Independence says every man is endowed. Mistakes have been made, it is true, for the human organization is fallible. But it is the record of the Republican party that its leaders have never made the same mistake twice, nor have they attempted to right one wrong by the commission of another.

It is the man of progressive ideas, of patriotic feeling that should be placed in office. The true Republican cannot help being imbued with both, for they are the cardinal principles of Republicanism. Bear these things in mind when you cast your ballot in June, and vote to elect the representatives of the party, through; the carrying out the policies of which the American nation has become what it is today—great, powerful, prosperous and happy. Vote the Republican ticket from congressman to constable.
