June White Days In Salem

Our special sale man was the inaugurator of the "White Days Sales" in Salem.

Many years ago he inaugurated the idea of selling white goods at reduced prices during the month of June. And today he is more enthusiastic than ever over his special sales. John Wanamaker was the originator of "June White Sales," and now every first-class store in America has adopted the scheme.

Our White Sale is creating much interest among the Salem people, because they know when we offer our goods at reduced prices they are sure to get value received, "and then some."

MILES MIGHT MAKE IT

Would Be Nominated by the Prohibitionists If He Would Make a Statement

Chicago, June 1.—Chairman Stewart, of the national Prohibition committee, in a statement today concerning General Miles' position, says that Miles would undoubtedly be nominated by the Prohibitionists for the presidency, if it were known that he was really identified with the party, and should he openly state the fact, but since he is not willing to make such a statement, the Prohibitionists must look elsewhere for a candidate.

COASTER-BRAKE BICYCLE FREE.

Everybody is interested in the census that is now being taken, and in order to promote the greatest possible publicity for this most important event in the recent history of our city, The Capital Journal has decided to give a fine new bicycle to the person guessing nearest to the number of people in our city, as revealed by the new official census. It will take several weeks to close the enumeration and compilation, and during this time The Journal will give reports from day to day of the progress of the work, and the probable results. From these the reader can draw conclusions, and make a close guess. See ad. elsewhere.

The Horse and the Woman.
A horse with a bridle and and reined up tight, Is like a woman with her suffrage right. If she has the money, to carry you through That is a plenty for her to do.

Except to wash and cook and churn And keep plenty of wood for the fire to burn. And look after the children and mend the clothes And do the work while the girls have beaux.

And gather eggs, and feed the chicks And clear the yard of leaves and sticks. And milk the cow, and feed the pigs, And brush the robes for both the rigs.

And starch your shirts to beat the Jews, And brush your hat and black your shoes. And comb your hair and fix your tie, And kiss you then, and say goodbye.

And then at home she must stay, And pass away the lonesome day. And you come back, all times of night, And in the win low see a light.

And then you yell as oft before And gently and quietly she opens the door. And then you say "Is feed in for Joe and Jim?" And give her a look so terrible grim.

And cashing and splashing you drive away. And that woman has a bridle on we say. And then to grumble and growl you begin, And this shows you have too much gin.

THE MOCKING-BIRD.

Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, in Leslie's Monthly for June. In mirth he mocks the other birds at noon, Catching the lit of every easy tune; But in the night he sings his own wild song— Love, only love! beneath the listening moon.
