

Turning Gray? Why not have the early, dark, rich color restored? It's easily done with Ayer's Hair Vigor. Ask your own friends. Probably they know how it always restores color.

Young Baptists to Rally. Detroit, Mich., July 5.—The annual international convention of the Baptist Young People's Union for America will be called to order here tomorrow, and already the hotels, boarding houses and private residences are crowded with delegates and visitors.

Why? Pay high rates for insurance on unexposed dwellings. The old line companies charge you $3 for $500 of insurance, while for 75 cents yearly you get the same amount by becoming a member of the Oregon Fire Relief Association of McMinnville, Ore.

4,000,000 scattered throughout the United States and Canada, Great Britain, Australia and other foreign lands, is to promote a special spirit of loyalty and earnestness toward the Baptist denomination, to the end that, as the old supports of the church are gathered to their fathers, the ranks may be kept even and the Baptist army increased from the junior organization.

Representative Baptist workers from the eastern coast to the Pacific slope are here in force today. Among them are the international president, John H. Chapman, of Chicago; Revs. Drs. A. C. Dixon, of Boston; Lathan A. Crandall, of Minneapolis; John McNeill, of Winnipeg; who will deliver the convention sermon; Walter Calley, general secretary of the Baptist Young People's union of America; H. Francis Perry, of Toronto, and Josiah William Bailey, editor of the Biblical Recorder, Raleigh, N. C.

INDIA SHOWS WONDERS

Exhibit at St. Louis Fair far Greater Than Expected

St. Louis, July 5.—To study India at the St. Louis exposition the visitor should depart first of all to the Hall of Congresses in one of those halls are installed the Jubilee presents of Queen Victoria. Not all of these came from Britain's eastern empire, yet a large proportion represents the gifts that were laid at the feet of "the great white queen" by maharajahs and rajahs as a tribute of their veneration and loyalty.

Descending from Administration Hill, the sightseer's eye, directed to the right, will catch the gleam of a snow-white mosque, with minarets at each of the four corners, their copper domes weathered to a dull green hue. This is the Indian pavilion proper. Its architectural features will well repay careful examination, for we have here an exact reproduction of one of India's most famous shrines—the mosque of Itmad-ul-Dawlah at Agra.

When the visitor enters the cool and balcony-shaded court of this Mohammedan mosque, he is presented with another striking picture. On the center of the floor-space stands a hindu temple, once more an exact replica, except for the material used, of a celebrated religious shrine. This is the Temple of Mahadeo, the Hindu god to which it is dedicated, at Palitana, in the central provinces of India.

Now all this work has been carved by hand, and in this very fact comes a lesson from the East to the West. Only in India, or China or Japan, could any masterpiece of combined skill and patience have originated. The Hindu temple was carved expressly for the St. Louis world's fair, and in its production 65 men were occupied for two whole years.

Here we have precisely the one consideration that has guided the commissioners of India in making their display at St. Louis. India under British administration has marched with the times. She has vast railways, a great mercantile marine, coal mines and modern gold mines, cotton factories, jute mills and scores of other occidental industries.

St. Louis, and with which she bedecks the interior of the mosque of Itmad-ul-Dawlah. The visitor who strolls around the balconies finds himself in a veritable bazaar of Calcutta or Bombay, Cawnpore or Benares.

The advice may be given out not to rest content with merely looking at the multitude of objects displayed. Those in charge are intimately acquainted with life in the East, and will willingly explain the processes of manufacture. Some of these latter will both startle and amuse. Take this piece of dyed cotton stuff for example. It is symmetrically patterned and colored, and the second piece by its side is in all respects identical.

And now for a few words about the tea, which is one of India's greatest products and sources of wealth, and an almost as famous of her display. Amidst surroundings of Oriental luxury, cups of the choicest blends are served in the pavilion by turbaned Hindus. These handsome men in their native costume look grave, almost solemn; but a kindly word, a gracious "salaam," will bring a happy smile to their faces and the deferential bending of the head, accompanied by a sweep of the hand that is the salute so characteristic of India—deferential, and yet far from being servile.

If the visitor will pronounce the tea to be "hot achacha," which means "very good"—and this he can assuredly do with a clear conscience—he will make the black eyes of his attendant dance with delight.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured.
