MOVABLE QUARTZ CRUSHER

Southern Oregon Invention Works Revolution in Mining

The new quartz crusher, a late invention of two Grants Pass men, W. B. Sherman and W. R. Whipple, says the Grants Pass Courier, has been given a thorough test by the inventors during the past week and gave results which far exceeded their best expectation. The results of the test fully justify the expectation that the new machine will create a revolution in the mining industry. The inventors themselves were thoroughly surprised at the work of the machine which showed an efficiency four fold greater than they had expected.

This machine arrived last week from the iron works. It is circular in shape, 30 inches wide and six inches high, weighing 1100 pounds. It consists of three parts: a base, a disc and a hood. The disc revolves above the base and below the hood at the rate of 1000 revolutions to the minute. The hood being convex forms a V shaped opening between it and the disc which makes its wonderful-crushing capacity and its possibilities are something marvelous.

On Friday a test was made with different varieties of hard rock and with porphyry. It devoured them all with the same avidity and was ready for more. It exhibited a most amazing appetite for quartz. During the test the machine crushed 50 pounds per minute to the fineness of 75 or 80 mesh. No difference was seen in rapidity of crushing quartz or porphyry. It took care of the ore as fast as it could be shoveled in by one man. The pulp is all of the same degree of fineness and no screens are needed. The inventors expected the machine to do the work of a five stamp mill. In the test run it devoured ore at a 20 stamp rate.

One of the advantages of the machine is its durability. No wear is noticeable except on the disc which may be re-shod from time to time. Another advantage is its mobility. The heaviest piece weighs less than 400 pounds and the machine may be easily transported by pack animals over any trail. Another way is to turn the machine on its edge, fit an axle, frame and handles, hitch one, or two horses tandem, and wheel it over a trail.

This invention makes it possible for a miner to take a mill equal to 20 stamps anywhere he can take a grub stake. The machine requires about 1 horse power for its operation and with a Pelton wheel this can be easily obtained from any mountain stream. The initial cost of the machine is about a hundredth of the cost of a stamp mill of equal efficiency and the cost of operation is about one-fourth. The work is far superior to that of any machine manufactured. It is unequalled for handling rusty gold, as it has a scouring surface that travels at the rate of a mile a minute.

The new machine is a wonder and its operation will be watched with keen interest.

Schoenfeld-Drake Wedding.

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Schoenfeldt, of this city, last evening, when their daughter, Miss Eleanor M. Schoenfeldt, became the wife of Mr. June Drake, of Silverton.

The home was beautifully decorated with large palms and cut flowers. The ceremony was performed under a large palm. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ervina, while Mr. Emery Drake acted as best man for the groom. Only the relatives and most intimate friends of the contracting parties were present. A wedding dinner was served in the dining room, which was decorated with ferns and carnations.

The couple left on last night's overland for the south, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will return to Silverton, where they will make their future home.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Schoenfeldt, of this city, and is a charming and accomplished young lady. Mr. Drake is a resident of Silverton, where he conducts a photograph gallery.

BRAVE YOUNG OFFICERS

The two reform school boys who recently escaped from that institution and were eagerly sought by all the officers along the line of the Southern Pacific, have been captured. They were seen near Jefferson yesterday by a couple of small boys who were out with a toy gun playing in the woods. The lads, on seeing the escapes from the reform school, at once decided upon a bold plan to capture the two and receive the reward of $10 each paid by the state for the capture of escapes, and, with their toy rifle aimed at the runaways, the two lads boldly ordered the reform school boys to march ahead of them into town. Thus the runaways were taken to Jefferson, where the youthful captors turned their prizes over to the authorities.
